Ike Silent After Soviet Blast

More Of Yalta Papers Divulged

Message Shows Stalin Intended To "Run" Poland

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — Fresh evidence came to light tonight that the World War II partnership between Russia and the United States began to fall apart even before the guns stopped booming.

This was made clear with the publication of several dozen previously secret notes and messages related to the controversial Yalta conference in early 1945.

Among those documents is a "secret and personal" message from the late Marshal Stalin of Russia to the late President Roosevelt indicating plainly that Stalin intended to have his own way about organizing a government for war-ravaged Poland which would be under Russia's thumb.

Start Of Cold War

A dispute between Russia and the Western powers—the United States and Britain—over the future of Poland was in fact probably the first major conflict of the long struggle that in the past 10 years has become to be known as the cold war.

Another message from Averell Harriman, then ambassador in Moscow, to Roosevelt, on April 2, 1945 reported growing "concern" over relations with Russia. Harriman said an "accumulation of minor incidents," beginning immediately after the Yalta conference ended, contributed to this concern. He cited Soviet resistance to a proposal for American "air teams" and a "naval team" to visit "Soviet controlled territory for appraisal of bomb damage."

China Parley Suggested

On another aspect of the foreign problems of that period, Ambassador Patrick Hurley messaged Roosevelt in February 1945 a top secret proposal that Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Churchill meet Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek at New Delhi, India, to "clarify policies and strategies" and to boost morale in the China theater of war.

Hurley was ambassador to China at that time. The suggested conference was never held.

The newly disclosed documents are contained in a 1,032-page book published by the State Department on "The Conferences at Malta and Yalta, 1945."

The vast bulk of the official papers in the huge volume were released last March in galley-proof form. It was understood at that time that all papers of substantial importance bearing on the Yalta conference were included.

Quemoy Shelled By Chinese Red Mainland Guns

TAIPEI, Formosa, Dec. 29 (AP)—Formosa Strait stirred ominously today with Red mainland guns violently shelling Quemoy and sea skirmishing around the Nationalist Matsu Islands, official accounts said.

Quemoy and Little Quemoy—120 miles across the strait from Formosa—were baptized by artillery fire for the third straight day. But the Defense Ministry said pointedly that mainland guns joined in this time.

687 Shells Hit Islands

The Red port of Amoy and nearby Tateng Island had carried the load before. All three sectors joined in pouring 687 shells on the two islands before falling silent under heavy counter fire, the ministry said.

The ministry also reported Red mainland guns threw seven rounds of artillery shells at Kaoteng. Only four miles from the Red shore, tiny Kaoteng is the most ripe for possible invasion in the Matsu group.

Off the Matsus, where the Nationalists this week increased sea and air patrols, Nationalist warships battled Red gunboats for an hour last night and drove them off, the official Central News Agency said.

Land-Sea Exchange Reported

The defense ministry's communique made no mention of such an engagement. It said, however, that warships exchanged shots with Red artillery on Hsimuyu islet last night and early today.

The islet lies west of Matsu, main island of the Nationalist group 100 miles northwest of Formosa. Central News placed the naval skirmish off Kaoteng, which is about five miles north of Matsu.

George Predicts Farm Price Sag To Be Top Issue

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga) predicted today that declining farm prices and incomes will "be one of the major issues in the 1956 campaign."

The veteran lawmaker, back here early for the new session of Congress, said in an interview that Congress believes "a prosperous agriculture is just as essential to our national defense and our influence in world affairs as any branch of our armed service."

"It is a great element in our strength in meeting the responsibilities of the free world," he said, adding that Secretary of Agriculture Benson and other farm officials "do not accept that program."

At first George described Benson's farm policies as "half-hearted" but he modified that later to "not effective."

George said programs to restore farm income and resources will cost some money but these costs will be met.

"I hope they will be reasonable," he added. He said such costs should be regarded a part of national defense, just as are costs of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Johnson Statement Expected On Monday

ROCHESTER, Minn., Dec. 29 (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) may announce Monday whether he plans to continue as majority leader of the Senate.

Here for a physical checkup at the Mayo Clinic, Sen. Johnson indicated to hospital aides he would make no statement before reaching his office in Washington.

He has been recuperating from a heart attack suffered last July.

Many States Act To Reduce Highway Toll

Number Of Traffic Deaths This Year To Approach 38,000

CHICAGO, Dec. 29 (AP)—A survey counted close to 36,000 traffic deaths in 1955 and many states took emergency action to hold down the bloody toll at the turn of the new year.

The final 1955 highway toll is expected to approach 38,000 counting late deaths. This is some 4,500 more than the 33,417 American soldiers, sailors, Marines and airmen killed in battle in the three years of the Korean War.

It falls short of the record 39,939 auto deaths in 1941 but is certain to exceed 1954's 36,000 deaths.

Statistics Lag In New York

The AP polled all states about their traffic deaths to date and their plans to combat traffic accidents over the approaching New Year's holiday. Up to date figures came from all states except New York, where statistics lag by three months.

Delayed reports, deaths through New Year's Eve and deaths later from injuries suffered in late 1955 accidents probably will boost the toll by some 2,000.

The worst records were piled up on holidays—296 deaths last New Year's; 369 over Memorial Day, a record for that holiday; 407 during the Independence Day weekend; 438 over Labor Day, and 609 over Christmas—the bloodiest holiday in the history of motoring.

Some States Call Out Guard

Appalled by last weekend's black record, officials in many states have ordered stringent enforcement measures for the coming holiday.

The National Safety Council says of this New Year's: "The cold figures force us to the conclusion that 420 will die."

This would be a record for New Year holidays. The greatest New Year toll was 407 established over four days in 1952-53. The approaching holiday is three days, from 6 p.m. local time tomorrow to midnight Monday.

Arizona, Michigan and Wisconsin have called out National Guardsmen to help patrol the highways, and the governor of Illinois is considering similar action.

There will be extra traffic cops in most other states. In some localities surprise road blocks will be set up to catch drunk drivers.

Pennsylvania GOP Will Enter Ike's Name In Primary

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 29 (AP)—The Republican leadership of Pennsylvania decided today to enter President Eisenhower's name in the state's presidential preference primary on April 24 as a candidate for reelection.

Miles Horst, Republican state chairman, disclosed the action after a meeting of the State GOP Executive Committee but emphasized they had not received prior word from the President that he would run.

In Pennsylvania, the results of the preferential primary do not necessarily bind the delegates to vote for a specific candidate. Neither is the signature of a presidential candidate necessary on nominating petitions placing his name on the ballot.

Family Comes In Pairs

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Messer of Columbus, Ga., got a late Christmas present Monday when the stork brought them their third set of twins in 2½ years. Mrs. Messer, 23, holds twin boys as two other sets, Roberta and Robert, 2½, in foreground, and Jean and June, 16 months, in daddy's arms, look them over. The couple has two other children, Richard, born in 1949, and Brenda Sue, born in 1951. (AP Photofax)

Third Set Of Twins In 2½ Years Born To Georgia Mother

COLUMBUS, Ga. Dec. 29 (AP)—Mrs. Joseph Messer today contemplated the task of caring for six children under three years of age, after the birth Monday night of her third set of twins in 2½ years.

The 23-year-old Mrs. Messer, also has a boy, 6, and a girl, 4.

The newest twins — boys — arrived Monday night.

"A" weighed 4 pounds, 7 ounces while "B" was checked in two minutes later at 4 pounds, 6 ounces.

This third pair came as something of a shock to Mrs. Messer. The pretty, auburn-haired mother had told her doctor, "Tell me anything, but don't tell me it's twins."

Ike Belts Golf Balls And Takes Two-Mile Walk

KEY WEST, Fla., Dec. 29 (AP) — President Eisenhower — chipper and jovial—today belted golf balls, started to work on two oil paintings and strolled along the wind-whipped Truman Beach.

And near the end of the 55-minute, two-mile walk around the naval base here, the President's personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, smiled approvingly and told newsmen:

"If I can get this guy healthy, that's all I want."

Acting on his doctors' advice, Eisenhower came to Key West from Washington yesterday to get plenty of outdoor exercise and bask in the warm sun in further convalescence from his Sept. 24 heart attack.

The President's walk took him for a short distance along Truman Beach, named for the former President.

At the end of the stroll, Eisenhower turned to the dozen or so newsmen who had trailed him and remarked with a grin: "I hope we've made some recruits for the Navy. If we haven't, we'll start right over again."

An overnight rain left the skies overcast this morning so Eisenhower spent the pre-lunch period indoors where he started work on two oil paintings—one a Colorado mountain scene, the other of a stream coursing through a meadow of flowers.

After lunch and a nap the President crossed the street from his living quarters to a baseball diamond where he practiced golf iron shots for 35 minutes. He kept his Negro valet, John Moaney, busy shagging balls in left field.

Yesterday was the first time he had done anything more than putt since his heart attack.

Death Ends Holiday

BONHAM, Tex., Dec. 29 (AP)—The first traffic fatality in over five years was recorded today when Miss Charlotte Thurmond, about 60, died from injuries received yesterday when her car ran out of control and crashed.

A two-car collision Dec. 24, 1950, was the last recorded fatality in Bonham, an East Texas city of about 9,000.

Britain Recalls Mideast Envoys For Reappraisal

LONDON, Dec. 29 (AP) — Britain moved today to reappraise its policies in the Middle East, where mounting Arab and Russian pressures have cut across its once unchallengable influence.

The Foreign Office said Selwyn Lloyd, the nation's new foreign secretary, has called British envoys from eight key posts in the troubled region to a conference here Jan. 4 and 5.

A spokesman explained: "Having just taken over his new duties Mr. Lloyd is anxious to discuss with them personally the situation in the Middle East." Lloyd acted only one week after assuming direction of the Foreign Office.

Strongholds Weakened

The meeting has been arranged just as two long established British strongholds are being weakened.

Jordan has refused to join the British-sponsored Baghdad alliance—at least for the time being. Some of its leaders are demanding drastic revision of the defense pact which gives Britain bases in the country and allows Britons to command its armed forces. Jordan has long been Britain's most dependable Mideastern ally.

Cyprus, a British colony and principal Mideast military base, is swept by insurrection. Its Greek-origin majority demands the island be united with Greece.

East-West Power Struggle

Even these issues are transcended by the East-West struggle for power in the region, which holds 40 per cent of the world's known oil reserves and which links Europe with Asia and Africa. Soviet bloc intervention in the military and political affairs of the Middle East has deepened old feuds between Arabs and Arabs, Arabs and the Western powers and Arabs and the Jews.

Justice Dept. Checks White Citizen Groups

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—The Justice Department assured a New York group today it is looking into the activities of the white Citizens Councils in the South.

The councils have been organized to preserve racial segregation in their areas. They developed after the Supreme Court ruled that segregated public schools are unconstitutional.

The department's announcement drew a tart comment from Gov. Hugh White at Jackson, Miss. He called the department a "bunch of meddlesome jackasses" who "can't do a thing."

The New York City group, the Jewish Labor Committee, had written Washington with a request for an investigation of the councils.

Two Airmen Killed

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Dec. 29 (INS) — Two flyers were killed today when a twin-engine plane belonging to the Gulf Oil Company exploded today and crashed over Eastern Ohio.

The dead were Gordon Silva, 46, and his co-pilot, Lloyd Cotten, 38, both of Tulsa, Okla. They were en route to Pittsburgh.

Malay Talks End As Reds Sign Pledge

Communists Promise To Lay Down Arms Following Election

BALING, Malaya, Dec. 29 (AP) — Talks to end Malaya's 7½ years of guerrilla war ended abruptly today. But the Reds pledged in writing to lay down their arms when an elected government takes over.

Negotiations broke off when Communist chief Chin Peng rejected a government demand for surrender. Before stalking back to his 3,500 jungle guerrillas, he declared "We will never accept surrender and will continue to struggle to the last man."

The discussions to end the fighting, which cost 10,000 lives, took place between Chen and two Communist companions on one side and Malayan Chief Minister Prince Abdul Rahman and Singapore Chief Minister David Marshall on the other.

Now Protectorate

The Federation of Malaya is now a protectorate with an elected legislature over which the British high commissioner has veto power. Britain has promised eventual independence or Commonwealth status.

While neither the Communists nor the government scored a clear victory in the two-day school room talks, the government won one point—the Red pledge to lay down arms when an elected regime rules Malayala.

Marshall opened today's meeting with a demand that all Communists surrendered. Chin Peng and his aides quickly refused. Then Marshall submitted a resolution for Communist acceptance. It read:

"As soon as the Federation obtains complete control of internal security and local armed forces, we will end hosilities, lay down our arms and disband our forces."

Reds Amend Statement

The Communists had said three times during the talks that when an elected government took over they would lay down their arms. Marshall, a lawyer, took their statement down in pencil and passed it to them for confirmation. Chin Peng pleaded he could not read English. One of his assistants translated and passed it back after adding two bracketed clauses. This amended it to read:

"As soon as the (elected government of the) Federation obtains complete control of internal security and local armed forces we will end hostilities, lay down our arms and disband our forces. (It does not amount to accept of the present amnesty)."

Mother, 28, Kills Two Small Sons

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 29 (INS) — A 28-year-old mother admitted to police that she shot and killed her two small sons today but refused to give any reason for the shooting.

The bodies of the two boys were found by the father, John B. Zavis, 32, foreman in a chemical plant, when he returned home from work tonight.

The victims were Kevin Robert Zavis, 2, and his brother John Richard, 9.

Zavis said his wife, Katherine, had been under treatment for a nervous disorder in St. Louis and Topeka, Kas.

Mrs. Zavis was held by St. Louis County police for the coroner's inquest tomorrow.

ACCUSED—Miss Minnie Mangum prepares to leave police headquarters in Norfolk, Va., yesterday after she was booked on a charge of stealing $100,000 from the Commonwealth Building and Loan Association, of which she was an officer. (AP Photofax)

Woman Officer Seized In Loan Company Theft

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 29 (AP)—Minnie C. Mangum, 51, a building and loan association officer known for her personal generosity and charities, was arrested today on charges of thefts from her firm that may reach a million dollars or more.

She was charged specifically with grand larceny of $100,000 over the past 12 months from Commonwealth Building and Loan Assn. of which she was assistant secretary-treasurer.

But a state prosecutor said he had been advised there were additional defalcations of at least $800,000 extending over a five-year period, and auditors had not yet completed their examination of the firm's records.

Bond Set At $26,000

Police in a prowl car picked up Miss Mangum in midafternoon as she came out of her lawyer's office. The plumpish, medium height woman with grey bobbed hair appeared calm as she was booked at a police precinct.

Her eyes misted, however, as she was being fingerprinted. In response to reporters' questions she said only:

"I have no statement to make."

Bond for Miss Mangum was set at $26,000, although Commonwealth's Atty. Linwood Tabb Jr. had recommended $50,000. Bond was not posted immediately and Miss Mangum was jailed pending a police court hearing tomorrow.

Accounts Insured

A spokesman for the company said Commonwealth has more than $2,100,000 in its reserves for losses and emphasized each account in the institution is insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., an instrumentality of the U. S. government. He said Miss Mangum was covered with a $250,000 blanket bond.

It may be two months before the total shortage is determined, he said.

Miss Mangum had been connected with the firm for 28 years. She was active in community, church and charity work and her friends often commented on her kindliness.

Death Plays Grim Joke

TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 29 (AP) — The Topeka Toastmasters Club topic for tonight is "How can we prevent the human sacrifice on the highways?"

The toastmaster for the evening was to have been Prescott Towle but Frank Woodburn will fill in for him. Towle was killed last week in a highway accident near Omaha.

'Interference' Charge Made By Party Boss

Khrushchev Assails 'Open Sky' Proposal And Ridicules Dulles

MOSCOW, Dec. 29 (AP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev today made a bristling attack on all major aspects of American foreign policy, at one point accusing President Eisenhower of "crude interference" in Communist nations' affairs.

This was the first time since the Geneva summit conference that a top Soviet leader had so directly assailed the President.

Khrushchev said the President's Christmas message to Eastern European countries was an interference and incitement of passions which violated the spirit of Geneva.

The No. 1 spokesman for world communism also dismissed President Eisenhower's open skies arms inspection proposal, calling it "nothing more than military intelligence." He ridiculed Secretary of State Dulles as dealing in absurdities.

Boasts Of H-Bomb Power

In all, it was one of the toughest speeches since the birth of the Geneva spirit. The Soviet Communist party boss said he wanted to remind the West of the recent Soviet hydrogen bomb test, and asserted the bomb's power can "be considerably increased."

"People who are trying to increase tension should remember the results of this test," he admonished.

(Told of the criticism, the President had no comment. Washington officials expressed belief no Soviet leader had used such critical language concerning the President since the Bulganin regime took over last February. Expressing astonishment at so direct an attack, these officials said it might indicate a still tougher Soviet policy.

Khrushchev said he criticized President Eisenhower unwillingly; that he respected the President but he considered his Christmas message to the Communist nations "quite incompatible with the spirit of Geneva."

Israel Under Fire

Khrushchev once again accused the West of colonialist aims. He charged Israel was threatening her Arab neighbors with the backing of "imperialists." He warned Middle East members of the Baghdad Pact that the Soviet Union considers the pact aggressive.

Khrushchev charged that the West's position on the German reunification problem would increase the danger of war.

He spoke to the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) for 1¾ hours. His address was preceded by one somewhat milder in tone from his traveling companion, Premier Bulganin. But Bulganin also accused the West of colonial designs and credited the Soviet Union for any easing of international tensions which may have been achieved in 1955.

Reports Approved

"The Soviet government," he said, "stood and still stands for an end to the arms race and the outlawing of atomic weapons, and this extends to rocket weapons

Christmas Tree Fire Kills Three

WARREN, Ohio, Dec. 29 (AP)—A Christmas tree flared into flame in a basement recreation room today and three children died in the smoke and flame that followed.

Two of the victims were once rescued, but dashed back into the house and were lost.

The fire was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jurko, owners of a resort area at Yankee Lake, near the Pennsylvania border.

Three neighbor children died. They were

Sheila Johnson, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnson.

Jimmy Alexander, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander.

Jurko, mayor of Yankee Village, and his wife Valerie were burned and cut during their attempts to get the children out. They were taken to the general hospital in Sharon, Pa., where their condition was reported as poor.

Mrs. Jurko and six children were in the recreation room—including the three neighbor children, John Jurko, 6, Paula Jurko, 15, and a niece, Joanel Krivosh, 12.

One of the children plugged the tree lights into a baseboard plug, and in a few seconds the tree was a mass of flames.

Three Dionne Quints Will Go Home For New Year's

MONTREAL, Dec. 29 (AP) — The Dionne family dispute took a brighter turn tonight with the announcement that three of the famed quintuplets will go home for New Year's.

The announcement came through a business spokesman for the sisters after reports had spread of a serious rift with their parents.

The spokesmen, L. M. Edwards, said Yvonne, Annette and Cecile would make the holiday visit. He said Marie, fourth of the surviving quints, would not go for reasons of health. She has been reported ill in the past year.

"The (three) girls are going to see their parents to prove that there is no question of them drifting away from their family," Edwards told newsmen.

He made the announcement after three brothers of the quintuplets defended claims by the father, Oliva Dionne, that outsiders were splitting up the family.

One brother, Victor, 19, an electronics student, said so-called intruders were behind the dispute.

"We don't want their (the quints') money," Victor said, "we just want the family to be together. These people that are interfering are ... very powerful."

Edwards told reporters last night that the four sisters had planned a New Year's visit with their parents but that they changed their mind after father Dionne made public charges that they were drifting away. The new announcement came after Edwards had conferred with the four girls.

Two Members Of Cabinet Stress Prosperity Theme

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—Two Cabinet members stressed the prosperity theme today as 1955 drew toward its end.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks said "The business situation is one of general prosperity" and added:

"The chances are bright that 1956 will be another record year. If both people and government act wisely we can have another good year."

He supplied a mass of figures which listed gains for virtually all elements of the population except farmers. He said farm income declined in 1955 "as prices received were lower and production costs were little changed from 1954."

Secretary of Labor Mitchell saluted 1955 as "the most satisfactory year for the American worker on record."

Both he and Weeks noted high employment in 1955—Mitchell said there was an average of 63 million persons employed during the year—and both said an unprecedented volume of goods and services was produced. Mitchell added:

"This great surging forward of the nation's economic power was accompanied by stability in the cost of living with the result that the American worker's genuine ability to buy, the actual purchasing power within his pay envelope, increased."

In a separate Labor Department report, it was estimated that 4,200 strikes caused 28 million man days of idleness in 1955. The lost time total was nearly 24 per cent above 1954, but still was the third best year since World War II ended in 1945.

Many States Act To Reduce Highway Toll

Number Of Traffic Deaths This Year To Approach 38,000

CHICAGO, Dec. 29 (AP)—A survey counted close to 36,000 traffic deaths in 1955 and many states took emergency action to hold down the bloody toll at the turn of the new year.

The final 1955 highway toll is expected to approach 38,000 counting late deaths. This is some 4,500 more than the 33,417 American soldiers, sailors, Marines and airmen killed in battle in the three years of the Korean War.

It falls short of the record 39,939 auto deaths in 1941 but is certain to exceed 1954's 36,000 deaths.

Statistics Lag In New York

The AP polled all states about their traffic deaths to date and their plans to combat traffic accidents over the approaching New Year's holiday. Up to date figures came from all states except New York, where statistics lag by three months.

Delayed reports, deaths through New Year's Eve and deaths later from injuries suffered in late 1955 accidents probably will boost the toll by some 2,000.

The worst records were piled up on holidays—296 deaths last New Year's; 369 over Memorial Day, a record for that holiday; 407 during the Independence Day weekend; 438 over Labor Day, and 609 over Christmas—the bloodiest holiday in the history of motoring.

Some States Call Out Guard

Appalled by last weekend's black record, officials in many states have ordered stringent enforcement measures for the coming holiday.

The National Safety Council says of this New Year's: "The cold figures force us to the conclusion that 420 will die."

This would be a record for New Year holidays. The greatest New Year toll was 407 established over four days in 1952-53. The approaching holiday is three days, from 6 p.m. local time tomorrow to midnight Monday.

Arizona, Michigan and Wisconsin have called out National Guardsmen to help patrol the highways, and the governor of Illinois is considering similar action.

There will be extra traffic cops in most other states. In some localities surprise road blocks will be set up to catch drunk drivers.

Pennsylvania GOP Will Enter Ike's Name In Primary

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 29 (AP)—The Republican leadership of Pennsylvania decided today to enter President Eisenhower's name in the state's presidential preference primary on April 24 as a candidate for reelection.

Miles Horst, Republican state chairman, disclosed the action after a meeting of the State GOP Executive Committee but emphasized they had not received prior word from the President that he would run.

In Pennsylvania, the results of the preferential primary do not necessarily bind the delegates to vote for a specific candidate. Neither is the signature of a presidential candidate necessary on nominating petitions placing his name on the ballot.

Dr. Graves Stricken

LOS ALAMOS, N. M., Dec. 29 (AP)—Dr. Alvin Graves, who has directed all of the nation's atomic tests since 1948, was hospitalized today after what was believed to have been a heart attack.

Three Dionne Quints Will Go Home For New Year's

MONTREAL, Dec. 29 (AP) — The Dionne family dispute took a brighter turn tonight with the announcement that three of the famed quintuplets will go home for New Year's.

The announcement came through a business spokesman for the sisters after reports had spread of a serious rift with their parents.

The spokesmen, L. M. Edwards, said Yvonne, Annette and Cecile would make the holiday visit. He said Marie, fourth of the surviving quints, would not go for reasons of health. She has been reported ill in the past year.

"The (three) girls are going to see their parents to prove that there is no question of them drifting away from their family," Edwards told newsmen.

He made the announcement after three brothers of the quintuplets defended claims by the father, Oliva Dionne, that outsiders were splitting up the family.

One brother, Victor, 19, an electronics student, said so-called intruders were behind the dispute.

"We don't want their (the quints') money," Victor said, "we just want the family to be together. These people that are interfering are ... very powerful."

Edwards told reporters last night that the four sisters had planned a New Year's visit with their parents but that they changed their mind after father Dionne made public charges that they were drifting away. The new announcement came after Edwards had conferred with the four girls.

Family Comes In Pairs

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Messer of Columbus, Ga., got a late Christmas present Monday when the stork brought them their third set of twins in 2½ years. Mrs. Messer, 23, holds twin boys as two other sets, Roberta and Robert, 2½, in foreground, and Jean and June, 16 months, in daddy's arms, look them over. The couple has two other children, Richard, born in 1949, and Brenda Sue, born in 1951. (AP Photofax)

Third Set Of Twins In 2½ Years Born To Georgia Mother

COLUMBUS, Ga. Dec. 29 (AP)—Mrs. Joseph Messer today contemplated the task of caring for six children under three years of age, after the birth Monday night of her third set of twins in 2½ years.

The 23-year-old Mrs. Messer, also has a boy, 6, and a girl, 4.

The newest twins — boys — arrived Monday night.

"A" weighed 4 pounds, 7 ounces while "B" was checked in two minutes later at 4 pounds, 6 ounces.

This third pair came as something of a shock to Mrs. Messer. The pretty, auburn-haired mother had told her doctor, "Tell me anything, but don't tell me it's twins."

Ike Belts Golf Balls And Takes Two-Mile Walk

KEY WEST, Fla., Dec. 29 (AP) — President Eisenhower — chipper and jovial—today belted golf balls, started to work on two oil paintings and strolled along the wind-whipped Truman Beach.

And near the end of the 55-minute, two-mile walk around the naval base here, the President's personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, smiled approvingly and told newsmen:

"If I can get this guy healthy, that's all I want."

Acting on his doctors' advice, Eisenhower came to Key West from Washington yesterday to get plenty of outdoor exercise and bask in the warm sun in further convalescence from his Sept. 24 heart attack.

The President's walk took him for a short distance along Truman Beach, named for the former President.

At the end of the stroll, Eisenhower turned to the dozen or so newsmen who had trailed him and remarked with a grin: "I hope we've made some recruits for the Navy. If we haven't, we'll start right over again."

An overnight rain left the skies overcast this morning so Eisenhower spent the pre-lunch period indoors where he started work on two oil paintings—one a Colorado mountain scene, the other of a stream coursing through a meadow of flowers.

After lunch and a nap the President crossed the street from his living quarters to a baseball diamond where he practiced golf iron shots for 35 minutes. He kept his Negro valet, John Moaney, busy shagging balls in left field.

Yesterday was the first time he had done anything more than putt since his heart attack.

Death Ends Holiday

BONHAM, Tex., Dec. 29 (AP)—The first traffic fatality in over five years was recorded today when Miss Charlotte Thurmond, about 60, died from injuries received yesterday when her car ran out of control and crashed.

A two-car collision Dec. 24, 1950, was the last recorded fatality in Bonham, an East Texas city of about 9,000.

Britain Recalls Mideast Envoys For Reappraisal

LONDON, Dec. 29 (AP) — Britain moved today to reappraise its policies in the Middle East, where mounting Arab and Russian pressures have cut across its once unchallengable influence.

The Foreign Office said Selwyn Lloyd, the nation's new foreign secretary, has called British envoys from eight key posts in the troubled region to a conference here Jan. 4 and 5.

A spokesman explained: "Having just taken over his new duties Mr. Lloyd is anxious to discuss with them personally the situation in the Middle East." Lloyd acted only one week after assuming direction of the Foreign Office.

Strongholds Weakened

The meeting has been arranged just as two long established British strongholds are being weakened.

Jordan has refused to join the British-sponsored Baghdad alliance—at least for the time being. Some of its leaders are demanding drastic revision of the defense pact which gives Britain bases in the country and allows Britons to command its armed forces. Jordan has long been Britain's most dependable Mideastern ally.

Cyprus, a British colony and principal Mideast military base, is swept by insurrection. Its Greek-origin majority demands the island be united with Greece.

East-West Power Struggle

Even these issues are transcended by the East-West struggle for power in the region, which holds 46 per cent of the world's known oil reserves and which links Europe with Asia and Africa. Soviet bloc intervention in the military and political affairs of the Middle East has deepened old feuds between Arabs and Arabs, Arabs and the Western powers and Arabs and the Jews.

Justice Dept. Checks White Citizen Groups

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—The Justice Department assured a New York group today it is looking into the activities of the white Citizens Councils in the South.

The councils have been organized to preserve racial segregation in their areas. They developed after the Supreme Court ruled that segregated public schools are unconstitutional.

The department's announcement drew a tart comment from Gov. Hugh White at Jackson, Miss. He called the department a "bunch of meddlesome jackasses" who "can't do a thing."

The New York City group, the Jewish Labor Committee, had written Washington with a request for an investigation of the councils.

Two Airmen Killed

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Dec. 29 (INS) — Two flyers were killed today when a twin-engine plane belonging to the Gulf Oil Company exploded today and crashed over Eastern Ohio.

The dead were Gordon Silva, 46, and his co-pilot, Lloyd Cotten, 38, both of Tulsa, Okla. They were en route to Pittsburgh.

Malay Talks End As Reds Sign Pledge

Communists Promise To Lay Down Arms Following Election

BALING, Malaya, Dec. 29 (AP) — Talks to end Malaya's 7½ years of guerrilla war ended abruptly today. But the Reds pledged in writing to lay down their arms when an elected government takes over.

Negotiations broke off when Communist chief Chin Peng rejected a government demand for surrender. Before stalking back to his 3,500 jungle guerrillas, he declared "We will never accept surrender and will continue to struggle to the last man."

The discussions to end the fighting, which cost 10,000 lives, took place between Chen and two Communist companions on one side and Malayan Chief Minister Prince Abdul Rahman and Singapore Chief Minister David Marshall on the other.

Now Protectorate

The Federation of Malaya is now a protectorate with an elected legislature over which the British high commissioner has veto power. Britain has promised eventual independence or Commonwealth status.

While neither the Communists nor the government scored a clear victory in the two-day school room talks, the government won one point—the Red pledge to lay down arms when an elected regime rules Malayala.

Marshall opened today's meeting with a demand that all Communists surrendered. Chin Peng and his aides quickly refused. Then Marshall submitted a resolution for Communist acceptance. It read:

"As soon as the Federation obtains complete control of internal security and local armed forces, we will end hosilities, lay down our arms and disband our forces."

Reds Amend Statement

The Communists had said three times during the talks that when an elected government took over they would lay down their arms. Marshall, a lawyer, took their statement down in pencil and passed it to them for confirmation. Chin Peng pleaded he could not read English. One of his assistants translated and passed it back after adding two bracketed clauses. This amended it to read:

"As soon as the (elected government of the) Federation obtains complete control of internal security and local armed forces we will end hostilities, lay down our arms and disband our forces. (It does not amount to accept of the present amnesty)."

Mother, 28, Kills Two Small Sons

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 29 (INS) — A 28-year-old mother admitted to police that she shot and killed her two small sons today but refused to give any reason for the shooting.

The bodies of the two boys were found by the father, John B. Zavis, 32, foreman in a chemical plant, when he returned home from work tonight.

The victims were Kevin Robert Zavis, 2, and his brother John Richard, 9.

Zavis said his wife, Katherine, had been under treatment for a nervous disorder in St. Louis and Topeka, Kas.

Mrs. Zavis was held by St. Louis County police for the coroner's inquest tomorrow.

ACCUSED—Miss Minnie Mangum prepares to leave police headquarters in Norfolk, Va., yesterday after she was booked on a charge of stealing $100,000 from the Commonwealth Building and Loan Association, of which she was an officer. (AP Photofax)

Woman Officer Seized In Loan Company Theft

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 29 (AP)—Minnie C. Mangum, 51, a building and loan association officer known for her personal generosity and charities, was arrested today on charges of thefts from her firm that may reach a million dollars or more.

She was charged specifically with grand larceny of $100,000 over the past 12 months from Commonwealth Building and Loan Assn. of which she was assistant secretary-treasurer.

But a state prosecutor said he had been advised there were additional defalcations of at least $800,000 extending over a five-year period, and auditors had not yet completed their examination of the firm's records.

Bond Set At $26,000

Police in a prowl car picked up Miss Mangum in midafternoon as she came out of her lawyer's office. The plumpish, medium height woman with grey bobbed hair appeared calm as she was booked at a police precinct.

Her eyes misted, however, as she was being fingerprinted. In response to reporters' questions she said only:

"I have no statement to make."

Bond for Miss Mangum was set at $26,000, although Commonwealth's Atty. Linwood Tabb Jr. had recommended $50,000. Bond was not posted immediately and Miss Mangum was jailed pending a police court hearing tomorrow.

Accounts Insured

A spokesman for the company said Commonwealth has more than $2,100,000 in its reserves for losses and emphasized each account in the institution is insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., an instrumentality of the U. S. government. He said Miss Mangum was covered with a $250,000 blanket bond.

It may be two months before the total shortage is determined, he said.

Miss Mangum had been connected with the firm for 28 years. She was active in community, church and charity work and her friends often commented on her kindliness.

Death Plays Grim Joke

TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 29 (AP) — The Topeka Toastmasters Club topic for tonight is "How can we prevent the human sacrifice on the highways?"

The toastmaster for the evening was to have been Prescott Towle but Frank Woodburn will fill in for him. Towle was killed last week in a highway accident near Omaha.

Two Members Of Cabinet Stress Prosperity Theme

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—Two Cabinet members stressed the prosperity theme today as 1955 drew toward its end.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks said "The business situation is one of general prosperity" and added:

"The chances are bright that 1956 will be another record year. If both people and government act wisely we can have another good year."

He supplied a mass of figures which listed gains for virtually all elements of the population except farmers. He said farm income declined in 1955 "as prices received were lower and production costs were little changed from 1954."

Secretary of Labor Mitchell saluted 1955 as "the most satisfactory year for the American worker on record."

Both he and Weeks noted high employment in 1955—Mitchell said there was an average of 63 million persons employed during the year—and both said an unprecedented volume of goods and services was produced. Mitchell added:

"This great surging forward of the nation's economic power was accompanied by stability in the cost of living with the result that the American worker's genuine ability to buy, the actual purchasing power within his pay envelope, increased."

In a separate Labor Department report, it was estimated that 4,200 strikes caused 28 million man days of idleness in 1955. The lost time total was nearly 24 per cent above 1954, but still was the third best year since World War II ended in 1945.

'Interference' Charge Made By Party Boss

Khrushchev Assails 'Open Sky' Proposal And Ridicules Dulles

MOSCOW, Dec. 29 (AP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev today made a bristling attack on all major aspects of American foreign policy, at one point accusing President Eisenhower of "crude interference" in Communist nations' affairs.

This was the first time since the Geneva summit conference that a top Soviet leader had so directly assailed the President.

Khrushchev said the President's Christmas message to Eastern European countries was an interference and incitement of passions which violated the spirit of Geneva.

The No. 1 spokesman for world communism also dismissed President Eisenhower's open skies arms inspection proposal, calling it "nothing more than military intelligence." He ridiculed Secretary of State Dulles as dealing in absurdities.

Boasts Of H-Bomb Power

In all, it was one of the toughest speeches since the birth of the Geneva spirit. The Soviet Communist party boss said he wanted to remind the West of the recent Soviet hydrogen bomb test, and asserted the bomb's power can "be considerably increased."

"People who are trying to increase tension should remember the results of this test," he admonished.

(Told of the criticism, the President had no comment. Washington officials expressed belief no Soviet leader had used such critical language concerning the President since the Bulganin regime took over last February. Expressing astonishment at so direct an attack, these officials said it might indicate a still tougher Soviet policy.

Khrushchev said he criticized President Eisenhower unwillingly; that he respected the President but he considered his Christmas message to the Communist nations "quite incompatible with the spirit of Geneva."

Israel Under Fire

Khrushchev once again accused the West of colonialist aims. He charged Israel was threatening her Arab neighbors with the backing of "imperialists." He warned Middle East members of the Baghdad Pact that the Soviet Union considers the pact aggressive.

Khrushchev charged that the West's position on the German reunification problem would increase the danger of war.

He spoke to the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) for 1¾ hours. His address was preceded by one somewhat milder in tone from his traveling companion, Premier Bulganin. But Bulganin also accused the West of colonial designs and credited the Soviet Union for any easing of international tensions which may have been achieved in 1955.

Reports Approved

"The Soviet government," he said, "stood and still stands for an end to the arms race and the outlawing of atomic weapons, and this extends to rocket weapons

Christmas Tree Fire Kills Three

WARREN, Ohio, Dec. 29 (AP)—A Christmas tree flared into flame in a basement recreation room today and three children died in the smoke and flame that followed.

Two of the victims were once rescued, but dashed back into the house and were lost.

The fire was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jurko, owners of a resort area at Yankee Lake, near the Pennsylvania border.

Three neighbor children died. They were

Sheila Johnson, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnson.

Jimmy Alexander, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander.

Jurko, mayor of Yankee Village, and his wife Valerie were burned and cut during their attempts to get the children out. They were taken to the general hospital in Sharon, Pa., where their condition was reported as poor.

Mrs. Jurko and six children were in the recreation room—including the three neighbor children, John Jurko, 6, Paula Jurko, 15, and a niece, Joanel Krivosh, 12.

Reds Have 7,000 Aircraft In Asia, U. S. About 2,000

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, Far East Air Force chief, says latest intelligence estimates show the Communists have more than 7,000 aircraft in Asia. The United States has about 2,000 stationed there.

Kuter gave the intelligence estimates in an article written for the Army-Navy-Air Force Journal, authoritative but unofficial service publication. He said "the Communist bloc now has almost one-third of its air power based in North Korea and behind the Iron and Bamboo Curtains in other parts of the Far East."

This "massive buildup," Kuter wrote, "includes about 3,000 jet fighters, mostly MIGs; 500 to 700 IL28 light jet bombers; 200 "obsolescent yet nevertheless serviceable long-range bombers," (similar to the American B29s) and "numerous other jet and conventional aircraft."

Since the end of the Korean War, Kuter said, intelligence reports show the Communists in North Korea have introduced hundreds of MIG15s into North Korea and now base them on a vastly augmented air base complex." None of these bases existed at the end of the Korean War, he said.

Kuter wrote that the United States, adhering strictly to the armistice agreement, has introduced neither greater numbers nor newer types into the area south of the truce zone.

"As a result," he wrote, "the combat strength of FEAF's units south of the demilitarized zone has decreased. For example, light bombers which FEAF had based in Korea at the time of th armistice were World War II B26s. B26s have since become obsolete and are being replaced by modern light bombers — twin-jet B57s. As a result, where B26s were once based in strength in Korea, they have been withdrawn for stateside disposition and there is nothing which we can use to replace them in Korea. Their replacement B57s must find bases in Japan, considerably removed from the Korean scene."

Mexican Boy Hikes 2,000 Miles To U. S.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Dec. 29 (AP)—A 12-year-old Mexican boy told police today he hiked nearly 2,000 miles to reach the United States.

Alberto Castro, said he was an orphan and thought it "would be better for me in the United States."

He was turned over to the U.S. Border Patrol for return to Mexico. He said he had crossed the border without trouble by walking along a railroad track.

Rumor Kim Replacing Rita Is Confirmed

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29 (AP)—A Columbia Pictures executive today confirmed in federal court what Hollywood long has suspected—that actress Kim Novak is taking Rita Hayworth's spot on the lot.

B. B. Kahane, vice president of the studio, testified in earshot of Miss Hayworth that the blonde Chicago girl—an unknown two years ago—has been cast for Rita's role in the movie "Joseph and His Brethren."

That is the movie which inspired Miss Hayworth's $150,000 breach of contract suit against her former employers. Basic issue is whether Columbia in starting Miss Hayworth's $12,500-a-week salary on last March 7 was legally carrying out its end of the contract.

Officials said then that such omissions as were made involved material which could still be harmful to foreign relations or to publication of which foreign governments had objected.

Today a State Department press officer said that the new documents had "turned up as a result of a final scraping of the barrel" at the Roosevelt Library at Hyde Park. He said some new papers also had come from sources in the State Department and from other government agencies.

The message in which Stalin made clear that he intended to dominate the formation of a new Polish government—as he eventually succeeded in doing — was dated April 7, 1945. An American-British-Soviet commission had been set up in Moscow following the Yalta meeting and Stalin complained that it was not making any progress toward a solution of the Polish problem.

"Matters on the Polish question have really reached a dead end," Stalin said bluntly to the President. He blamed Harriman and British Ambassador Archibald Clark Kerr for the situation, claiming that they had violated agreements about Poland reached at the Yalta meeting which the Russians called the Crimea conference.

In effect, Stalin argued that the number of Poles to be called in for consultation by the commission should be limited to five from Poland and three from the Polish government in exile in London. But he said that Clark Kerr and Harriman wanted to bring in "an unlimited number" from both places. He declared Russia would not agree to this and then went on to give his own interpretation of the Yalta agreement.

12 Aerocycles Bought By Army

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—The Army announced today it has bought 12 one-man flying machines called aerocycles. They will be used experimentally in the Army's continuing effort to get infantrymen off of their feet so they can move faster and farther.

The new contraption, developed by Delackner Helicopter Inc., Mount Vernon, N.Y., looks like a cross between a small helicopter and the Navy's "flying platform."

The Army said tests made at Camp Kilmer, N.J., proved that men without flying experience could learn to operate the machines in 20 minutes.

The soldier stands on a platform over the rotor blades and guides the 200-pound aerocycle by leaning in the direction in which he wants to move. He controls his speed by squeezing a throttle on handle bars, much as people control motorcycles.

Mounted beneath the rotor blades which provide the upward lift, are one large inflated plastic doughnut and four smaller plastic cylinders attached to the end of rods. The five plastic bags provide stability while the machine is in the air and also act as shock absorbers for landing, and flotation if the landing happens to be on water.

Md. Farmers Vote For Tobacco Quotas

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., Dec. 29 (AP)—Maryland farmers from five counties voted in favor of federal marketing quotas on their tobacco crops for the next three years by a margin of 80.7 per cent, it was reported tonight.

Dudley Aist, tobacco specialist of the Production and Marketing Administration, said the vote was 5,534 in favor of quotas and 1,324 against. There were 437 challenged ballots.

Approval of two thirds of those voting was required to put the quotas into effect.

Growers last year rejected quotas in Maryland. The controls limit Maryland tobacco next year to the amount which can be grown on 45,800 acres allotted to eligible growers for planting.

The controlled crop becomes eligible for government price support at 90 per cent of parity.

SRC Gives Qualified Approval To Toll Span

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29 (AP) — The State Roads Commission today gave qualified approval to the building of a private toll bridge from Assateague Island to the Worcester County mainland.

In approving the application filed by a group of property owners on the island, the SRC listed these conditions:

1. That the Worcester County commissioners approve the project. (This approval has been granted, though it is scheduled for a court test by a protesting citizen.)

2. That the Public Service Commission approve the financial and construction plans for the bridge.

Pilot Rescued From Icy Water After Bail-Out

FREEPORT, N.Y., Dec. 29 (AP)—An Air Force jet pilot, low on fuel and lost in a snowstorm, parachuted to safety tonight on the South Shore of Long Island behind Jones Beach. His plane apparently crashed into the sea.

For a nip and tuck few minutes, the pilot, 1st Lt. Richard A. Edwards, Newburgh, N.Y., seemed doomed to drown in the icy waters of East Bay, an Atlantic inlet southeast of here.

But a fisherman pulled him to safety moments after Edwards pleaded with desperate urgency:

"I can't last much longer."

The pilot came down about six miles from Levittown, where another Air Force jet pilot abandoned his plane Tuesday. It crashed into a street, narrowly missing a row of small private homes but no one was injured.

The crash was the fifth in the same general mid-Long Island area this year.

Fog had closed the Stewart base and Edwards was directed to stand by over Long Island about 40 miles to the southeast.

Over the island, Edwards ran into snow and his fuel appeared ready to give out. La Guardia Field was informed of his plight by radio.

The Coast Guard was alerted and sent a rescue plane and a surface cutter to patrol the area where the pilot was expected to come down.

After Edwards landed, he clung to a piece of ice and his shouts for help reached the ears of a housewife living nearby. The woman, Mrs. Ruth Fielder, sent her son-in-law, Richard Green, 27, to aid the pilot.

Green managed to shove a row boat across nearly 300 feet of ice at the edge of the bay. When it broke through the ice, he rowed about 10 feet more to Edwards' side and pulled the pilot into the craft.

Most Demos See Adlai As Best Bet

[By The Associated Press]

An Associated Press poll showed yesterday (Thursday) that a wide majority of Democratic party leaders figure that as of now Adlai E. Stevenson is again the best bet for the Democratic presidential nomination.

If they are right, and if a heavy majority of Republican leaders whose views were summarized in an earlier A.P. poll Wednesday are equally right, 1956 will be 1952 over again — Stevenson against Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The A.P. asked 126 Democratic governors, state chairmen and national committee members: "Whom do you consider the leading candidate, in your state, for the presidential nomination."

Seventy-six named Stevenson, 5 named Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee 3 named Gov. Lausche of Ohio, 3 named Gov. Harriman of New York, and the other 39 either had no choice or no comment.

Stevenson and Kefauver are the only actively declared, full-fledged candidates so far.

Meanwhile, it was announced at Laconia, N.H., that Kefauver will tour the state Jan. 14-16, as part of his campaign in New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation presidential preference primary March 13.

Soldier Allegedly Bribed To Shoot Algerian For Film

PARIS, Dec. 29 (AP)—The French government charged today that a representative of the American newsreel firm Fox Movietone bribed a gendarme in Algeria last fall to shoot down an Algerian in front of his camera.

The newsreel photographer, whose name was not given in the Interior Ministry's statement, has been charged with corrupting a civil servant, the ministry said. He was understood to be French.

Picture clips from the film strip were widely published. They show a man in uniform aiming a rifle at the back of a walking man. The target stumbles and falls as the other man works his rifle bolt. The ministry said the gendarme, whose identity was not disclosed, will be tried by a military court.

Lodge Proposes Prayers In U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 29 (AP)—U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., has proposed that every meeting of the U. N. Assembly open with prayer by a priest from any religion with adherents in the U. N.

Officially, 12 delegates have replied, some with enthusiasm and some noncommital. Privately, delegates of various faiths said they felt the plan is impractical and unworkable because of the diversity of religions in the U. N.

The U. S. delegation made public tonight a letter written by Lodge on Dec. 21 to top representatives of 75 other members. Lodge's letter reopened an issue which has been dormant since the Assembly in 1949 approved a plan to have a minute of silence for prayer or meditation when the assembly convenes each year and again when it adjourns.

The minute of silence was agreed upon after Warren R. Austin, then chief U. S. delegate, and Trygve Lie then secretary general, pressed it in response to demands from thousands of Americans for some recognition of God in the U. N.

Reds Have 7,000 Aircraft In Asia, U. S. About 2,000

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, Far East Air Force chief, says latest intelligence estimates show the Communists have more than 7,000 aircraft in Asia. The United States has about 2,000 stationed there.

Kuter gave the intelligence estimates in an article written for the Army-Navy-Air Force Journal, authoritative but unofficial service publication. He said "the Communist bloc now has almost one-third of its air power based in North Korea and behind the Iron and Bamboo Curtains in other parts of the Far East."

This "massive buildup," Kuter wrote, "includes about 3,000 jet fighters, mostly MIGs; 500 to 700 IL28 light jet bombers; 200 "obsolescent yet nevertheless serviceable long-range bombers," (similar to the American B29s) and "numerous other jet and conventional aircraft."

Since the end of the Korean War, Kuter said, intelligence reports show the Communists in North Korea have introduced hundreds of MIG15s into North Korea and now base them on a vastly augmented air base complex." None of these bases existed at the end of the Korean War, he said.

Kuter wrote that the United States, adhering strictly to the armistice agreement, has introduced neither greater numbers nor newer types into the area south of the truce zone.

"As a result," he wrote, "the combat strength of FEAF's units south of the demilitarized zone has decreased. For example, light bombers which FEAF had based in Korea at the time of the armistice were World War II B26s. B26s have since become obsolete and are being replaced by modern light bombers — twin-jet B57s. As a result, where B26s were once based in strength in Korea, they have been withdrawn for state-side disposition and there is nothing which we can use to replace them in Korea. Their replacement B57s must find bases in Japan, considerably removed from the Korean scene."

Mexican Boy Hikes 2,000 Miles To U. S.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Dec. 29 (AP)—A 12-year-old Mexican boy told police today he hiked nearly 2,000 miles to reach the United States.

Alberto Castro, said he was an orphan and thought it "would be better for me in the United States."

He was turned over to the U.S. Border Patrol for return to Mexico. He said he had crossed the border without trouble by walking along a railroad track.

Rumor Kim Replacing Rita Is Confirmed

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29 (AP)—A Columbia Pictures executive today confirmed in federal court what Hollywood long has suspected—that actress Kim Novak is taking Rita Hayworth's spot on the lot.

B. B. Kahane, vice president of the studio, testified in earshot of Miss Hayworth that the blonde Chicago girl—an unknown two years ago—has been cast for Rita's role in the movie "Joseph and His Brethren."

That is the movie which inspired Miss Hayworth's $150,000 breach of contract suit against her former employers. Basic issue is whether Columbia in starting Miss Hayworth's $12,500-a-week salary on last March 7 was legally carrying out its end of the contract.

Officials said then that such omissions as were made involved material which could still be harmful to foreign relations or to publication of which foreign governments had objected.

Today a State Department press officer said that the new documents had "turned up as a result of a final scraping of the barrel" at the Roosevelt Library at Hyde Park. He said some new papers also had come from sources in the State Department and from other government agencies.

The message in which Stalin made clear that he intended to dominate the formation of a new Polish government—as he eventually succeeded in doing — was dated April 7, 1945. An American-British-Soviet commission had been set up in Moscow following the Yalta meeting and Stalin complained that it was not making any progress toward a solution of the Polish problem.

"Matters on the Polish question have really reached a dead end," Stalin said bluntly to the President. He blamed Harriman and British Ambassador Archibald Clark Kerr for the situation, claiming that they had violated agreements about Poland reached at the Yalta meeting which the Russians called the Crimea conference.

In effect, Stalin argued that the number of Poles to be called in for consultation by the commission should be limited to five from Poland and three from the Polish government in exile in London. But he said that Clark Kerr and Harriman wanted to bring in "an unlimited number" from both places. He declared Russia would not agree to this and then went on to give his own interpretation of the Yalta agreement.

12 Aerocycles Bought By Army

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—The Army announced today it has bought 12 one-man flying machines called aerocycles. They will be used experimentally in the Army's continuing effort to get infantrymen off of their feet so they can move faster and farther.

The new contraption, developed by Delackner Helicopter Inc., Mount Vernon, N.Y., looks like a cross between a small helicopter and the Navy's "flying platform."

The Army said tests made at Camp Kilmer, N.J., proved that men without flying experience could learn to operate the machines in 20 minutes.

The soldier stands on a platform over the rotor blades and guides the 200-pound aerocycle by leaning in the direction in which he wants to move. He controls his speed by squeezing a throttle on handle bars, much as people control motorcycles.

Mounted beneath the rotor blades which provide the upward lift, are one large inflated plastic doughnut and four smaller plastic cylinders attached to the end of rods. The five plastic bags provide stability while the machine is in the air and also act as shock absorbers for landing, and flotation if the landing happens to be on water.

Md. Farmers Vote For Tobacco Quotas

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., Dec. 29 (AP)—Maryland farmers from five counties voted in favor of federal marketing quotas on their tobacco crops for the next three years by a margin of 80.7 per cent it was reported tonight.

Dudley Aist, tobacco specialist of the Production and Marketing Administration, said the vote was 5,534 in favor of quotas and 1,324 against. There were 437 challenged ballots.

Approval of two thirds of those voting was required to put the quotas into effect.

Growers last year rejected quotas in Maryland. The controls limit Maryland tobacco next year to the amount which can be grown on 45,800 acres allotted to eligible growers for planting.

The controlled crop becomes eligible for government price support at 90 per cent of parity.

SRC Gives Qualified Approval To Toll Span

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29 (AP) — The State Roads Commission today gave qualified approval to the building of a private toll bridge from Assateague Island to the Worcester County mainland.

In approving the application filed by a group of property owners on the island, the SRC listed these conditions:

1. That the Worcester County commissioners approve the project. (This approval has been granted, though it is scheduled for a court test by a protesting citizen.)

2. That the Public Service Commission approve the financial and construction plans for the bridge.

Pilot Rescued From Icy Water After Bail-Out

FREEPORT, N.Y., Dec. 29 (AP)—An Air Force jet pilot, low on fuel and lost in a snowstorm, parachuted to safety tonight on the South Shore of Long Island behind Jones Beach. His plane apparently crashed into the sea.

For a nip and tuck few minutes, the pilot, 1st Lt. Richard A. Edwards, Newburgh, N.Y., seemed doomed to drown in the icy waters of East Bay, an Atlantic inlet southeast of here.

But a fisherman pulled him to safety moments after Edwards pleaded with desperate urgency:

"I can't last much longer."

The pilot came down about six miles from Levittown, where another Air Force jet pilot abandoned his plane Tuesday. It crashed into a street, narrowly missing a row of small private homes but no one was injured.

The crash was the fifth in the same general mid-Long Island area this year.

Fog had closed the Stewart base and Edwards was directed to stand by over Long Island about 40 miles to the southeast.

Over the island, Edwards ran into snow and his fuel appeared ready to give out. La Guardia Field was informed of his plight by radio.

The Coast Guard was alerted and sent a rescue plane and a surface cutter to patrol the area where the pilot was expected to come down.

After Edwards landed, he clung to a piece of ice and his shouts for help reached the ears of a housewife living nearby. The woman, Mrs. Ruth Fielder, sent her son-in-law, Richard Green, 27, to aid the pilot.

Green managed to shove a row boat across nearly 300 feet of ice at the edge of the bay. When it broke through the ice, he rowed about 10 feet more to Edwards' side and pulled the pilot into the craft.

Most Demos See Adlai As Best Bet

[By The Associated Press]

An Associated Press poll showed yesterday (Thursday) that a wide majority of Democratic party leaders figure that as of now Adlai E. Stevenson is again the best bet for the Democratic presidential nomination.

If they are right, and if a heavy majority of Republican leaders whose views were summarized in an earlier A.P. poll Wednesday are equally right, 1956 will be 1952 over again — Stevenson against Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The A.P. asked 126 Democratic governors, state chairmen and national committee members: "Whom do you consider the leading candidate, in your state, for the presidential nomination."

Seventy-six named Stevenson, 5 named Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee 3 named Gov. Lausche of Ohio, 3 named Gov. Harriman of New York, and the other 39 either had no choice or no comment.

Stevenson and Kefauver are the only actively declared, full-fledged candidates so far.

Meanwhile, it was announced at Laconia, N.H., that Kefauver will tour the state Jan. 14-16, as part of his campaign in New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation presidential preference primary March 13.

Soldier Allegedly Bribed To Shoot Algerian For Film

PARIS, Dec. 29 (AP)—The French government charged today that a representative of the American newsreel firm Fox Movietone bribed a gendarme in Algeria last fall to shoot down an Algerian in front of his camera.

The newsreel photographer, whose name was not given in the Interior Ministry's statement, has been charged with corrupting a civil servant, the ministry said. He was understood to be French.

Picture clips from the film strip were widely published. They show a man in uniform aiming a rifle at the back of a walking man. The target stumbles and falls as the other man works his rifle bolt. The ministry said the gendarme, whose identity was not disclosed, will be tried by a military court.

Lodge Proposes Prayers In U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec 29 (AP)—U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., has proposed that every meeting of the U. N. Assembly open with prayer by a priest from any religion with adherents in the U. N.

Officially, 12 delegates have replied, some with enthusiasm and some noncommital. Privately, delegates of various faiths said they felt the plan is impractical and unworkable because of the diversity of religions in the U. N.

The U. S. delegation made public tonight a letter written by Lodge on Dec. 21 to top representatives of 75 other members. Lodge's letter reopened an issue which has been dormant since the Assembly in 1949 approved a plan to have a minute of silence for prayer or meditation when the assembly convenes each year and again when it adjourns.

The minute of silence was agreed upon after Warren R. Austin, then chief U. S. delegate, and Trygve Lie then secretary general, pressed it in response to demands from thousands of Americans for some recognition of God in the U. N.

Steady Decline In State's Death Rate Halted In 1955

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29 (AP)— There was a surprising slight increase in the death rate in Maryland during 1955, the State Department of Health said in a preliminary report today.

The mortality rate went up from 9.1 per 1,000 population to 9.3 after the steady declines which have been shown in recent years.

The increase occurred mainly in the population over 65. It was slightly greater in Baltimore City than in the counties, and was a little higher for the Negro population than for the white.

For the population over 65, the death rate went up by about 5.2 per cent. The largest percentage increases were noted among tuberculosis (54 per cent), influenza and pneumonia (33 per cent), diabetes (19 per cent) and heart disease (6.4 per cent).

The syphilis death rate for the elderly doubled, but the number of deaths was relatively small—27 as compared to 14 the year before.

Said Dr. A. W. Hedrich, chief of the division of vital records and statistics:

"The increase in mortality from syphilis and tuberculosis among the elderly is somewhat puzzling and calls for further study as to its causes. It is possible that improved diagnosis or the mode of selecting the underlying cause from the multiple ailments usually affecting the elderly may have raised the 1955 rates for this group somewhat."

"License Mill" Is Nipped In Bud

COCKEYSVILLE, Md., Dec. 29 (AP)—A Texas, Md., man was fined $100 and given a six-month suspended jail sentence last night in what authorities called the beginnings of a "license mill" for persons unable to obtain driving permits.

Marion J. Ford was specifically charged with altering licenses, misrepresentation and obtaining and attempting to obtain licenses by fraud.

Edward J. Lyden, chief investigator for the Department of Motor Vehicles, told Magistrate Millard L. Cursey the investigation was started last summer after a 62-year-old man named Charles F. Carter was charged with reckless driving. Police said his name appeared on the driving permit in a different print than normally used.

The investigator said he found Ford had used his chauffeur's license to get a driver license and then altered the name to serve Carter.

Carter, an illiterate who was convicted and fined earlier this year in the case, testified he had loaned Ford $40 and later $20 and considered the license repayment.

In another case, Lyden said Ford's armed forces credentials were used with the name of Thomas Archball Thompson inserted to secure a license for Thompson.

State's 1955 Traffic Toll Reaches 500

[By The Associated Press]

Maryland's 1955 death toll in traffic accidents reached to 500 mark Thursday when three fatalities were reported overnight.

Paul Conroy Sadler, 23, of Hyattsville, and William Tillman, 27, of Rockville were killed early today when their speeding car hurtled out of control and crashed on the East-West Highway near Bethesda.

Albert Leonard James, 42, who lived at Chase northeast of Baltimore, was killed near there when his car was hit by a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train at a grade crossing last night.

Maryland's traffic death toll in all of 1954 was 522.

Stole Burial Fund

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Dec. 29 (AP)—Harvey Wilson, 39 and out of a job, today was sentenced to 120 days in jail for stealing $100 from the burial fund built up by his father.

James Wilson, the father, said all the $350 he had saved was stolen.

Overturned Truck Blocks Route 40 For Three Hours

FREDERICK, Md., Dec. 29 (AP)—An overturned tractor-trailer blocked all traffic on busy U.S. Route 40 today for three hours.

The big vehicle was headed east about eight miles west of Frederick when the drive shaft broke and cut the brake air hose. George Ulrich, 45, of Pittsburgh, the driver, tried to ditch the tractor-trailer but it overturned squarely across the highway. Ulrich was not hurt.

Tunnel Land Cost Seen Under Estimate

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29 (AP) — The State Roads Commission apparently is going to be able to buy rights-of-way for the Baltimore Harbor Tunnel about $1,200,000 cheaper than originally figured.

John A. Magee, Baltimore real estate man who is directing appraisal and condemnation of the 325 properties needed, made the estimate.

The preliminary engineering estimates alloted $9,772,000 for rights-of-way. Magee said today the total cost may run no more than 8½ million.

Magee acknowledged some of the large industrial properties needed for right of way have not yet be obtained.

He said an adverse decision in a condemnation suit also could raise the price considerably.

About 270 parcels already have been purchased. Fifty condemnation cases have been filed in court.

Magee said the Roads Commission has acquired all the property it needs to permit construction to proceed without delay. Filing of a condemnation suit also gives it access to property for construction purposes.

State Lab Manager Found Shot To Death

PRINCE FREDERICK, Md., Dec. 29 (AP)—Funeral services will be held here tomorrow for George B. D. Gray, 60-year-old manager of Maryland's biological research laboratory at Solomons Island.

Gray was found shot to death in the basement of his home here Tuesday. Authorities said they found a .32 automatic in his hand but could not determine whether his death was an accident or suicide.

Members of the family said he had seemed in excellent spirits and good health.

Officer Admits Taking $10 Gift

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29 (AP) — A Baltimore policeman accused of taking a bribe told his superior officers he took $10 from a motorist as a Christmas gift, it was testified today.

Police Capt. Elmer Z. Bowen said Patrolman Charles E. Simms at first denied taking the money, but later, after a lie detector test, said he took it as a gift, not a bribe.

The testimony was taken today as Simms was ordered held on $500 bail for the grand jury by Magistrate John A. Janetzke.

Charles E. Borman of Baltimore said he gave the patrolmen the $10 after being stopped Saturday. He said Simms accused him of having been drinking, and quoted the officer as saying "But this is Christmas time. You make it worth my while and I'll make it worth yours."

Miss Evelyn Murray, a prosecution witness who was a passenger in Borman's car, stood trembling as she was questioned today and did not answer when the magistrate asked if she had seen Simms accept the money.

Sgt. George Schaffner, who said he answered Miss Murray's call on the matter, said neither she nor Borman appeared drunk when they arrived at the police station later.

Simms has been on the police force three years.

Man Suffers Cut Lip As Train Wrecks Car

COCKEYSVILLE, Md., Dec. 29 (AP)—Lonnie L. Price miraculously escaped with only a cut lip today when a fast passenger train hit his car at a grade crossing.

The Pennsylvania Railroad's Statesman, bound for Baltimore and Washington from Harrisburg, Pa., and the west, demolished Price's car and dragged part of it 100 feet along the tracks.

Some of the mangled car was dragged 343 feet before the train could be stopped.

"License Mill" Is Nipped In Bud

COCKEYSVILLE, Md., Dec. 29 (AP)—A Texas, Md., man was fined $100 and given a six-month suspended jail sentence last night in what authorities called the beginnings of a "license mill" for persons unable to obtain driving permits.

Marion J. Ford was specifically charged with altering licenses, misrepresentation and obtaining and attempting to obtain licenses by fraud.

Edward J. Lyden, chief investigator for the Department of Motor Vehicles, told Magistrate Millard L. Cursey the investigation was started last summer after a 62-year-old man named Charles F. Carter was charged with reckless driving. Police said his name appeared on the driving permit in a different print than normally used.

The investigator said he found Ford had used his chauffeur's license to get a driver license and then altered the name to serve Carter.

Carter, an illiterate who was convicted and fined earlier this year in the case, testified he had loaned Ford $40 and later $20 and considered the license repayment.

In another case, Lyden said Ford's armed forces credentials were used with the name of Thomas Archball Thompson inserted to secure a license for Thompson.

State's 1955 Traffic Toll Reaches 500

[By The Associated Press]

Maryland's 1955 death toll in traffic accidents reached to 500 mark Thursday when three fatalities were reported overnight.

Paul Conroy Sadler, 23, of Hyattsville, and William Tillman, 27, of Rockville were killed early today when their speeding car hurtled out of control and crashed on the East-West Highway near Bethesda.

Albert Leonard James, 42, who lived at Chase northeast of Baltimore, was killed near there when his car was hit by a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train at a grade crossing last night.

Maryland's traffic death toll in all of 1954 was 522.

Stole Burial Fund

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Dec. 29 (AP)—Harvey Wilson, 39 and out of a job, today was sentenced to 120 days in jail for stealing $100 from the burial fund built up by his father.

James Wilson, the father said all the $350 he had saved was stolen.

Overturned Truck Blocks Route 40 For Three Hours

FREDERICK, Md., Dec. 29 (AP)—An overturned tractor-trailer blocked all traffic on busy U.S. Route 40 today for three hours.

The big vehicle was headed east about eight miles west of Frederick when the drive shaft broke and cut the brake air hose. George Ulrich, 45, of Pittsburgh, the driver, tried to ditch the tractor-trailer but it overturned squarely across the highway. Ulrich was not hurt.

Tunnel Land Cost Seen Under Estimate

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29 (AP) — The State Roads Commission apparently is going to be able to buy rights-of-way for the Baltimore Harbor Tunnel about $1,200,000 cheaper than originally figured.

John A. Magee, Baltimore real estate man who is directing appraisal and condemnation of the 325 properties needed, made the estimate.

The preliminary engineering estimates alloted $9,772,000 for rights-of-way. Magee said today the total cost may run no more than 8½ million.

Magee acknowledged some of the large industrial properties needed for right of way have not yet be obtained.

He said an adverse decision in a condemnation suit also could raise the price considerably.

About 270 parcels already have been purchased. Fifty condemnation cases have been filed in court.

Magee said the Roads Commission has acquired all the property it needs to permit construction to proceed without delay. Filing of a condemnation suit also gives it access to property for construction purposes.

State Lab Manager Found Shot To Death

PRINCE FREDERICK, Md., Dec. 29 (AP)—Funeral services will be held here tomorrow for George B. D. Gray, 60-year-old manager of Maryland's biological research laboratory at Solomons Island.

Gray was found shot to death in the basement of his home here Tuesday. Authorities said they found a .32 automatic in his hand but could not determine whether his death was an accident or suicide.

Members of the family said he had seemed in excellent spirits and good health.

Officer Admits Taking $10 Gift

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29 (AP) — A Baltimore policeman accused of taking a bribe told his superior officers he took $10 from a motorist as a Christmas gift, it was testified today.

Police Capt. Elmer Z. Bowen said Patrolman Charles E. Simms at first denied taking the money, but later, after a lie detector test, said he took it as a gift, not a bribe.

The testimony was taken today as Simms was ordered held on $500 bail for the grand jury by Magistrate John A. Janetzke.

Charles E. Borman of Baltimore said he gave the patrolmen the $10 after being stopped Saturday. He said Simms accused him of having been drinking, and quoted the officer as saying "But this is Christmas time. You make it worth my while and I'll make it worth yours."

Miss Evelyn Murray, a prosecution witness who was a passenger in Borman's car, stood trembling as she was questioned today and did not answer when the magistrate asked if she had seen Simms accept the money.

Sgt. George Schaffner, who said he answered Miss Murray's call on the matter, said neither she nor Borman appeared drunk when they arrived at the police station later.

Simms has been on the police force three years.

Man Suffers Cut Lip As Train Wrecks Car

COCKEYSVILLE, Md., Dec. 29 (AP)—Lonnie L. Price miraculously escaped with only a cut lip today when a fast passenger train hit his car at a grade crossing.

The Pennsylvania Railroad's Statesman, bound for Baltimore and Washington from Harrisburg, Pa., and the west, demolished Price's car and dragged part of it 100 feet along the tracks.

Some of the mangled car was dragged 343 feet before the train could be stopped.

National Security Program To Be Given For BPW Jan. 3

A program by the National Security committee of the Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club will feature the biweekly dinner meeting of the club January 3. It will be held at Central YMCA, beginning at 5:30.

The program, consisting of reports, "Here and There," will feature short talks by members of the National Security committee and the Educational and Vocational committee.

Miss Ann Durst will serve as mistress of ceremonies and introduce Mrs. Effie Parsons, chairman of the National Security committee, whose topic is "The Story of Hamburg." Mrs. Karl Perry, chairman of the Educational and Vocational committee, will speak on "Food for Thought."

Following the program the business session is to be held with Miss Helen Beck presiding. She also will conduct the ritual.

Assisting in planning the program were Miss Helene Knippenberg, Miss Zana Allison, Miss Edith Scharf, Mrs. Mary K. Twigg, Miss Mildred Twigg, members of the NS committee; and Miss Irene Lapp, Miss Anna Agress, Mrs. Marian Heiskell, Mrs. Dorothy Ringler, Miss Jane Botsford, Mrs. Sylvia Schwab, Miss Helen Cherry, Mrs. Lucille McGeady, Miss Gertrude Ranck and Mrs. Emma Everstine of the Educational and Vocational committee.

Homemakers Board Meet Will Be Held January 7

New officers will be installed at the meeting of the executive board of the Allegany County Council of Homemakers Clubs, January 7. They are Mrs. Russell Smith, president, and Mrs. Van Roby, treasurer.

The 1956 club programs, secretary report forms, membership cards and hymns of the month will be distributed. Beginning at 10:15 a. m., the meeting will be held in the Cumberland Free Public Library.

For clubs meeting prior to the executive meeting Miss Mary Wise announces "Awake My Soul, Stretch Every Nerve," and "Memories," as the hymns for January. Roll call will be answered with "What have you purchased recently that you consider a good buy?" and "Family Financial Planning," will be presented by the Home Management chairman.

Margaret Bogie Is Bride Of Donald J. McKenzie

Miss Margaret Bogie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bogie, Jackson Street, Lonaconing, became the bride of Donald J. McKenzie, son of Mrs. Evelyn McKenzie, Detmold, Lonaconing, and the late Garlitz McKenzie, December 23.

The candlelight ceremony was solemnized in the Lonaconing Methodist Church at 7:30 with Rev. Joseph Young officiating. Vases of assorted white flowers were used in the decorations.

Mrs. Charles Howell was her sister's matron of honor and only attendant, while Lester Dawson served as Mr. McKenzie's best man. Miss Larna Cutter sang, "I Love You Truly," and the "Lord's Prayer," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Sandra Dillon, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was attired in a powder blue brocade gown, with which she wore navy blue accessories and hat and a corsage of white rosebuds completed her costume.

Her matron of honor wore a navy blue costume with pink accessories and hat and had a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Bogie selected an orchid dress with black hat and accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. McKenzie chose a gray blue dress with pink accessories and hat. Each mother had a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride is a graduate of Central High School, Lonaconing, class of 1950, and is employed as secretary to the distribution manager of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company.

The bridegroom also is a graduate of Central High School, and served two years in the Army, of which time he spent 16 months in Korea. He is employed by the Kelly Springfield Tire Company.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Bogie entertained with a reception for their daughter and her bridal party. It was held at their home, with the bridal motif carried out in the tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie are residing in Detmold.

Welfare Aid Here Highest In State

Disbursements for public assistance from the State of Maryland for Allegany County were the highest among the state's counties, according to the annual report of the Comptroller of the Treasury for the fiscal year ending June 30.

The report of J. Millard Tawes, comptroller, just released, shows that Allegany County received a total of $858,400.

Of that amount coming to the County Welfare Board, $93,534 was for administration of the funds.

The next highest overall appropriation was $599,078 for Baltimore County which spent $145,428 of its allotment for administration purposes. The amount spent in Baltimore County for administering was the highest among the counties of the state.

In Washington County, a total of $462,971 was distributed for public assistance. This county had an administration cost of $58,862.

Garrett County spent $304,540 for public assistance, with $35,253 going for administration.

In Allegany County, $265,110 was spent for old age assistance while $330,487 went for aid to dependent children.

Aid to the permanently and totally disabled amounted to $124,753. Other expenditures during the fiscal year were $21,389 for general public assistance; $13,778 for boarding care for children; and $9,446 for public assistance to the needy blind.

Davenport Set Afire

The Ridgeley Volunteer Fire Company was called to the home of Carl Brant, Blocher Street, yesterday morning when an electric heater set fire to a davenport in the residence. Damage was slight.

Hurt In Fall

Mrs. Barbara Smith, 76, of Lonaconing, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital Wednesday after receiving a left hip injury when she slipped on a rug at her home.

Film Exchange Pact

MEXICO City, Dec. 29 (AP) — Mexico and Italy have signed an agreement for resumption of exchange of movie films. Such exchange had been banned in Mexico because of a similar ban in Italy on Mexican films.

Annual Dinner Set By Past Masters

The annual dinner and meeting of the Past Masters Association of Western Maryland will be held next Tuesday, January 3, at the Masonic Temple at 6:15 p. m., according to C. Ralph Brown, president.

Arch M. Hutcheson, association secretary, is urging all members to make reservations with him without delay.

Asia has a mean elevation of 3,000 feet.

Silicosis Decision Reversed

The State Industrial Accident Commission has reversed an earlier award of $1,000 granted a former Allegany County coal miner, and declared that he is permanently and totally disabled from silicosis contracted while employed in mines.

Paul M. Fletcher and Simon F. Reilly, local attorneys, represented George W. Workman who had filed the claim against John R. Clites and Clites' insurer, the State Accident Fund.

Earlier, the Medical Board of the commission ruled Workman was only partially disabled from silicosis and awarded him $1,000.

However, after a review of the case before the commission in Baltimore this month, the commissioners reversed the Medical Board and found Workman to be totally disabled.

He was awarded $12,500 by the SIAC. Clites and his insurer have 30 days in which to file an appeal.

In the ruling handed down by the board, it pointed out that Workman, who is 65 years old, had been a miner since 1905 until he stopped work in March of 1954.

He had been employed by Clites at his coal mine near Mt. Savage from 1948 to March 1954. His history, according to the commission's decision, showed that he suffered shortness of breath and pains in his chest for some time prior to his quitting work.

However, the decision noted he did not go to a physician until August 1948 when he had pleurisy.

After X-rays were diagnosed over a period of time, it was reported that he showed minimal but unmistakable evidence of lung trouble. Later findings by doctors revealed a diagnosis of silicosis, the board said.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 29 (INS) — In the dissolving of John Wayne and Bob Fellows Batjac company, Bob Fellows gets Anita Ekberg's contract — and this, at the moment, looks very hot.

Anita just finished "War and Peace" and is now in "Zarak Khan," and will return to Hollywood the end of February. It's amazing what's happened to her in a year. She expects to clear $50,000 in royalties accruing from the book "Pin-ups of Anita Ekberg," now on the stands.

She takes all of this in stride, and true to her Scandinavian training, is completely unemotional about the whole thing.

It's Happy New Year for my good friend Ralph Dietrich who has long believed in "Misty" and done much work on Marguerite Henry's prize winning novel. He is now having his efforts rewarded in a big way.

Ralph and Martin Berkley have been signed by the new RKO to write and produce this story of wild ponies which won the Newberry Award for outstanding novels in 1947. It's about the love of a little boy of ten and a little girl of 12 for a wonderful horse named — what else? — "Misty." It is to the children of today what "Black Beauty" was to the youngsters of yesterday.

So far no casting, but Ralph tells me it will move fast.

The opinions on "The Man With the Golden Arm" seem to be unanimous. On all sides there is a feeling that Otto Preminger overstepped the bounds of decency in making a picture that could very well bring down federal censorship. Unfortunately, a picture of this kind will make money. Its gross in its first run at the Victoria Theatre in New York was $42,000.

However, I must say in fairness that Frank Sinatra gives a performance that is so real you find yourself wanting to scream with the horror of his battle against dope.. Children should not see this picture. It had such an effect on me that I couldn't sleep.

I hope next time Otto, who made "Carmen Jones" a great picture, will choose a subject not as distasteful.

A cablegram from Arlene Dahl and Fernando Lamas brings me the news that Arlene is improving so fast that Fernando will be able to take her to the Dorchester Hotel in London, where he is staying, in time to spend the New Year's celebration.

Fernando will remain with Arlene until she finishes her picture. He arrived in time to spend Christmas with her, and there was a happy reunon. She came through the operation so well that she will be able to return to the studio and finish "Portrait in Smoke" in about 10 days.

George Stevens tells me that the fans of the late James Dean send him a steady stream of mail about the late actor. It was George who directed Jimmy in "Giant," his last picture. Henry Ginsberg is also receiving tons of mail, and so am I.

In fact, a large percentage of my mail these past few months urges that Jimmy receive an Academy Award. They feel it would be a shame if he doesn't get some recognition, and I feel that Academy will honor his memory in some special way.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

If you're sending out New Year's cards don't forget Robert Milton, famous theatrical and motion picture director, who is very ill at the Motion Picture Home Hospital and needs a little cheering.

Writer Danny Arnold, who is separated from Joanne Gilbert, received a call from Joanne Christmas Day. She brought him a golf bag for a present. A reconciliation is not far away.

Jaye P. Morgan, voted by many polls as the top femme singer of the year, was at Ciro's with orchestra leader Frank De Vol.

Gary Crosby was stag in the George Rosenberg party, but Linny, Bing's youngest, had a date with a girl named Nancy Hunnydee.

Spike Jones and his lovely Helen were among those who gave pretty Peggy a hand.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

CARRIER PILOT—Marine 2nd Lt. Raymond G. Burke, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Burke of 135 Mullin Street, has qualified as a carrier pilot at the Corry Field Naval Auxiliary Air Station at Pensacola, Fla. To qualify, he completed six landings aboard the light aircraft carrier USS Saipan in the Gulf of Mexico. Lt. Burke is a graduate of the Naval Academy.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

The end of each year is traditionally the time of hopes, guesses and predictions about the next 12 months. So here are a few of mine:

Among my hopes, the one which will be tested first involves the Maryland-Oklahoma football game in the Orange Bowl on January 2.

My sentiments in the matter are 100 per cent obvious, of course, so I'll supplement them with a guess about the final score.

My guess, which I'll admit is influenced by my faith in the Free State's historic ability to overcome unfavorable odds, is—

Maryland, 14; Oklahoma, 0.

Although forecasting in the field of sports is quite a bit out of my field, as I learned occasionally during the state's horseracing season season, I do feel that I can make several predictions concerning national affairs which are more firmly grounded.

I honestly believe, for instance, that President Eisenhower will seek re-election.

And I'm sure he will win again.

I also think the administration will work out a generally satisfactory agricultural program based on flexible price supports such as many farmers have endorsed.

Finally, I predict that labor organizations will take advantage of their undeniable right to back candidates in the 1956 elections, but that for the most part, individual union members will exercise their own sacred right to vote according to their private convictions.

Happy New Year!

Some Explanation

HEREFORD, England, Dec. 29 (AP)—Police inspectors said Michael Went knocked down three policemen 20 times before they were able to get him behind bars.

Went pleaded guilty to being drunk but explained: "I was so drunk I couldn't walk, and I must have pulled them down with me as I fell." The judge gave Went three months in jail and fined him three pounds — ($8.40).

So far no casting, but Ralph tells me it will move fast.

The opinions on "The Man With the Golden Arm" seem to be unanimous. On all sides there is a feeling that Otto Preminger overstepped the bounds of decency in making a picture that could very well bring down federal censorship. Unfortunately, a picture of this kind will make money. Its gross in its first run at the Victoria Theatre in New York was $42,000.

However, I must say in fairness that Frank Sinatra gives a performance that is so real you find yourself wanting to scream with the horror of his battle against dope.. Children should not see this picture. It had such an effect on me that I couldn't sleep.

I hope next time Otto, who made "Carmen Jones" a great picture, will choose a subject not as distasteful.

A cablegram from Arlene Dahl and Fernando Lamas brings me the news that Arlene is improving so fast that Fernando will be able to take her to the Dorchester Hotel in London, where he is staying, in time to spend the New Year's celebration.

Fernando will remain with Arlene until she finishes her picture. He arrived in time to spend Christmas with her, and there was a happy reunon. She came through the operation so well that she will be able to return to the studio and finish "Portrait in Smoke" in about 10 days.

George Stevens tells me that the fans of the late James Dean send him a steady stream of mail about the late actor. It was George who directed Jimmy in "Giant," his last picture. Henry Ginsberg is also receiving tons of mail, and so am I.

In fact, a large percentage of my mail these past few months urges that Jimmy receive an Academy Award. They feel it would be a shame if he doesn't get some recognition, and I feel that Academy will honor his memory in some special way.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

If you're sending out New Year's cards don't forget Robert Milton, famous theatrical and motion picture director, who is very ill at the Motion Picture Home Hospital and needs a little cheering.

Writer Danny Arnold, who is separated from Joanne Gilbert, received a call from Joanne Christmas Day. She brought him a golf bag for a present. A reconciliation is not far away.

Jaye P. Morgan, voted by many polls as the top femme singer of the year, was at Ciro's with orchestra leader Frank De Vol.

Marlon Brando's former fiancee, Josianne Berenger, is taking voice lessons and will make her debut at a Miami Beach hotel in the spring.

Gary Crosby was stag in the George Rosenberg party, but Linny, Bing's youngest, had a date with a girl named Nancy Hunnydee.

Spike Jones and his lovely Helen were among those who gave pretty Peggy a hand.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

The end of each year is traditionally the time of hopes, guesses and predictions about the next 12 months. So here are a few of mine:

Among my hopes, the one which will be tested first involves the Maryland-Oklahoma football game in the Orange Bowl on January 2.

My sentiments in the matter are 100 per cent obvious, of course, so I'll supplement them with a guess about the final score.

My guess, which I'll admit is influenced by my faith in the Free State's historic ability to overcome unfavorable odds, is—

Maryland, 14; Oklahoma, 0.

Although forecasting in the field of sports is quite a bit out of my field, as I learned occasionally during the state's horseracing season season, I do feel that I can make several predictions concerning national affairs which are more firmly grounded.

I honestly believe, for instance, that President Eisenhower will seek re-election.

And I'm sure he will win again.

I also think the administration will work out a generally satisfactory agricultural program based on flexible price supports such as many farmers have endorsed.

Finally, I predict that labor organizations will take advantage of their undeniable right to back candidates in the 1956 elections, but that for the most part, individual union members will exercise their own sacred right to vote according to their private convictions.

Happy New Year!

Some Explanation

HEREFORD, England, Dec. 29 (AP)—Police inspectors said Michael Went knocked down three policemen 20 times before they were able to get him behind bars.

Went pleaded guilty to being drunk but explained: "I was so drunk I couldn't walk, and I must have pulled them down with me as I fell." The judge gave Went three months in jail and fined him three pounds — ($8.40).

Roundhouse Being Razed

More landmarks of the stirring era of majestic steam locomotives on the Western Maryland Railway are being erased.

The Bridges and Buildings Department of the Elkins Division has nearly completed tearing down the roundhouse at Maryland Junction in Ridgeley.

This is another move taken by the company since it became an all-Diesel powered railroad two years ago.

Coaling and water stations have been removed here and at many points on the railway which extends into the heart of West Virginia and as far west as Connellsville.

Robert E. Wooters, division engineer, said five stalls for locomotives are being kept until the Diesel service building is completed at the end of February.

The John I. Vandegrift Company and two out-of-town concerns are erecting the modern shop near the roundhouse.

Minor repairs will be handled here as the major Diesel repair shops are in Hagerstown. The building will have two tracks inside it.

The railroad is also tearing down small shops that were used solely to work on steam locomotives, such as the pipe and arch brick shops.

The roundhouse was built at what was known as Millersdale, a town one mile west of Ridgeley, in 1913 and had stalls for 15 engines. Five more stalls were added in 1945.

The Western Maryland Railway was completed to Cumberland in 1906 and the first shops and the roundhouse were built at Millersdale, now known as Carpenter's Addition.

In November 1912 the shops and the roundhouse were destroyed by fire, and the following year the one that is being torn down was erected.

It was in July 1913 that the railroad also opened its new passenger terminal on Canal Street.

Movie Censor Board Inspector Fined $375

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29 (AP) — An inspector for the Board of Motion Picture Censors was fined $375 today on charges of drunken driving, failure to stop after an accident and reckless driving.

The defendant was Donald G. Murray, 52, Negro lawyer, who testified he had only "one bottle of beer and a little from another bottle" before his arrest.

Murray said he was taking a State-owned car to the garage when involved in a hit-run accident with a parked car. But officers testified he was heading in the opposite direction from the garage.

Gas Overcomes Relatives Of Local Resident

A Cumberland man's brother and sister-in-law and their daughter are recovering in Uniontown Hospital where they were admitted last Friday after being overcome by carbon monoxide fumes.

They are Samuel J. Feigus, 46, his wife, 46, their daughter, Ann, 8 and Mrs. June Sylvester, 46, all of Uniontown. Feigus is Fayette County (Pa.) solicitor. He is a brother of A. J. Feigus, Luteman Road.

According to a friend, Geza Lux, of Uniontown, the three members of the Feigus family and Mrs. Sylvester became ill during the afternoon.

The family physician was summoned and treated all for ptomaine poisoning before realizing that they were suffering from carbon monoxide poisoning.

Lux and a daughter, Sari Lux, a pharmacist, first suggested that it was possible that carbon monoxide was afflicting the Feigus family and Mrs. Sylvester.

Connell Is Promoted By Celanese

The Celanese Corporation of America has announced the appointment of Thomas F. Connell as manager of its spun yarn plant at Burlington, N. C. He succeeds F. Murray Davidson who was recently named manager of the customer service department, Textile Division, located in Charlotte, N. C.

Connell joined Celanese in 1934 at its Cumberland plant. He worked, successively, in the warp knit, cellulose acetate and accounting departments of the plant here until January, 1942, when he was transferred to the Burlington plant as assistant office manager. From 1953 until taking over his new assignment, he was assistant plant manager under Davidson.

A first lieutenant in the Army Reserve, Connell has served two tours of military duty, from 1942 to 1946 and from 1951 to 1952. He is a graduate of LaSalle High School, class of 1934, and attended Catherman's Business School.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Connell, 471 Goethe Street, and is married to the former Miss Arlene Boore, also a former resident.

Condition Of Accident Victim Is Unchanged

Attaches at Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, yesterday reported as "unchanged" the condition of Mrs. Edna Johnson, 44, and her three teenage daughters. The Scherr, W. Va., area family group was admitted Tuesday night with injuries suffered in a highway accident near Scherr. Mrs. Johnson and daughters are in "fair" condition, attaches said.

Steamed puddings are double delicious when crested with rosy canned apple-berry sauce, heated, and with butter added.

Two Democrats Seek Tucker Sheriff Office

Coberly, Auvil Enter Campaign

PARSONS — Two Democratic candidates have filed for the office of sheriff in Tucker County.

The first is Stark L. Coberly, sheriff of Tucker County from 1936 to 1940. He has also held the office as justice of the peace for Blackfork district for the past five years.

Coberly, a native of Montrose, is engaged in the real estate business and has resided in Parsons for the past 28 years. His wife is the former Winon.. Dumire, office clerk for the Tucker County Board of Education.

The second candidate to file is John T. Auvil of St. George. A veteran of World War 1, he served as assistant postmaster for the town of St. George from 1927 until 1935 and also served for 12 years as a member of the Tucker County Board of Education. He is now completing a six year team of office as a member of the Tucker County Court, of which he has been president for the past three years.

Auvil has also been a notary public for the past 28 years and is a lifelong resident of this county. His wife is the former Gertrude Deitz, a teacher in St. George School.

Lonaconing Miss Named Manager

Miss Celeste Steiding, formerly of 88 East Main Street, Lonaconing, and a 1952 graduate of Central High School there, is shown in the Campus Shop which she manages for the new May Company Valley store, Hollywood, Calif. The new, luxurious and ultra-modern department store opened September 12 with 200,000 residents of a score of communities in sunny San Fernando Valley, clocked through the new building on opening day. Miss Steiding is realizing her ambition, a career in merchandising. She supervises the clothing section with 30 girls in her employ. At Central in Lonaconing, she excelled in scholastic work and won the Home Economics excellence award in sewing and cooking. She resides at 1642 Otsego Street, North Hollywood, California.

Provincial Superior Named For Sisters Of Notre Dame

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — Sister Elizabeth Carmelita has been appointed provincial superior of the Baltimore Province of the sisters of Notre Dame De Namur, the Rev. Mother General of the order, Sister Josepha De St. Francois, announced today.

Sister Elizabeth Carmelita, a member of the education department faculty of Trinity College here, succeeds Sister Evelyn Marie who died Oct. 6.

A native of Nashua, N.H., Sister Elizabeth Carmelita has been a member of the Baltimore Province since it was established in 1934.

School Boards Satisfactory To Farm Bureau

Frederick County Wants No Change

FREDERICK, Md., Dec. 29 (AP)— Members of the Frederick County Farm Bureau, 300 strong, recommended today that the present method of naming county boards of education be preserved.

The bureau, at its annual convention, said the plan whereby the governor usually accepts recommendations of the dominant political party has worked well. There have been many "excellent members named during the years this system has been in use," the resolution said.

Several school groups in Frederick County recently have suggested recommendations for naming the six school board members be made by a county convention of interested organizations.

The bureau also commended the county commissioners for setting up a county planning commission.

Two Democrats Seek Tucker Sheriff Office

Coberly, Auvil Enter Campaign

PARSONS — Two Democratic candidates have filed for the office of sheriff in Tucker County.

The first is Stark L. Coberly, sheriff of Tucker County from 1936 to 1940. He has also held the office as justice of the peace for Blackfork district for the past five years.

Coberly, a native of Montrose, is engaged in the real estate business and has resided in Parsons for the past 28 years. His wife is the former Winon.. Dumire, office clerk for the Tucker County Board of Education.

The second candidate to file is John T. Auvil of St. George. A veteran of World War 1, he served as assistant postmaster for the town of St. George from 1927 until 1935 and also served for 12 years as a member of the Tucker County Board of Education. He is now completing a six year team of office as a member of the Tucker County Court, of which he has been president for the past three years.

Auvil has also been a notary public for the past 28 years and is a lifelong resident of this county. His wife is the former Gertrude Deitz, a teacher in St. George School.

Dinner Held For Orphans By Rotarians

Piedmont Club Has 30th Annual Event

PIEDMONT — Twenty children of the Methodist Children's Home Burlington, and the staff of the home were entertained with a turkey dinner by Piedmont Rotary Club at the Potomac Hotel here Wednesday at noon.

It marked the thirtieth anniversary of the club having the orphans as their guests. Each child was presented with a gift by Santa Claus.

Guests included Cletus Carole Blackburn, Lois Ann Blackburn, Laverne May Bradfield, Ruth Catherine Bradfield, Beulah Ray Parker, Gloria Jean Parker, Naomi Marie Parker, Christa June Light, Wilda May Raigner, Betty Jean Raigner, Linda Carol Parker and Jackie Delores Wolfe.

Charles Jesse Bradfield, David Scott Light, Richard Francis McInnis, Raymond Winton Raigner, Terry Lee Raigner, Victor William Raigner, Marshall Doughlas Wolfe and Michael Harvey Kyle.

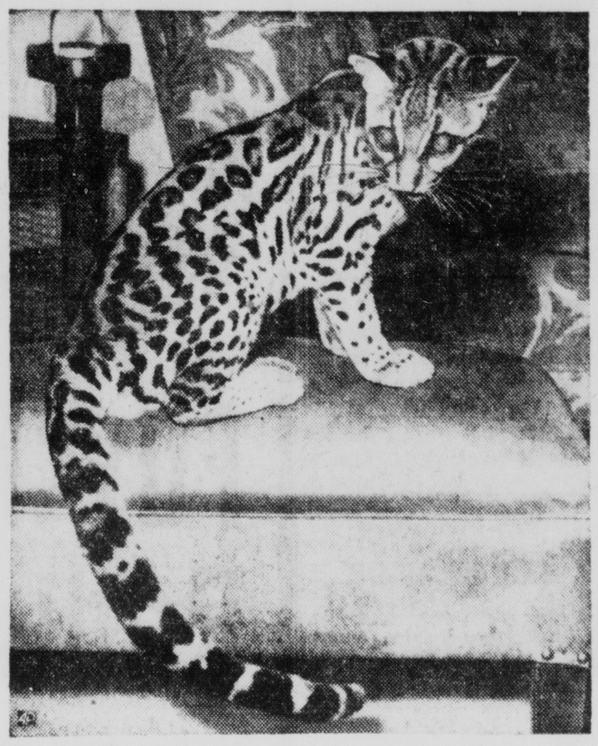

Mrs. Lina P. Hamrick, supervising house mother, Mrs. Bernice B. Rhodes, Mrs. Roxie Jenkins and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Litton; Rev. and Mrs. Coleman Brown, Bridgeport, and Robert Lyons, manager of the Majestic Theatre.

After the dinner the children were guests of Mr. Lyons at the Majestic Theatre for a movie show.

All children of the community were admitted to the show and were asked to bring a package of foodstuff or clothing for the home. About 400 children attended and a small truck load of donations were received.

PET—Princess, the ocelot is big, but friendly.

Logan Family Has Ocelot As Friendly House Pet

LOGAN, W. Va. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. John Gillispie have a pet cat that is only 17 weeks old and already weighs 15 pounds.

The cat is an ocelot named Princess, a South American product with bold leopard spots, enormous eyes and a tail almost as long as her body.

Some people might be squeamish about having an ocelot around the house. Not the Gillispies. They say she is very affectionate and frequently hugs Mrs. Gillispie.

Princess doesn't care for the garden variety of cat, but she likes the Gillispies' cocker spaniel. She tries to wrap her forelegs around the dog at every opportunity but the dog usually keeps his distance.

The Gillispies say the meat-eating ocelot has a wonderful appetite. Chicken is her favorite dish. Princess is playful, too, and likes to jump from one end of the living room to the other. So far, there hasn't been much damage.

Within a year, Princess will weigh about 30 pounds and eventually may go up to 50 or 60 pounds. Despite all this, the Gillispies are undaunted.

The Gillispies' son, Tom, bought the ocelot as a gift for his mother last August in Tampa, Fla. Says Tom:

"I fell in love with the kitten the moment I saw it."

DEATHS and FUNERALS

Brother, Sister Burial Slated Here Tomorrow

A joint funeral service for a local brother and sister who died within nine hours of each other will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. in Stein's Chapel with Rev. Howard Amoss, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church, officiating.

Harley D. Pennington, 83, of 119 Frederick Street, died at 10:30 p. m. Wednesday in Pittsburgh, while his sister, Mrs. Sarah Mildred Twigg, 78, of 109 Park Street, died at 7:30 a. m. yesterday at Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Pennington will be buried in Rose Hill Cemetery while Mrs. Twigg will be interred in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Natives of Keyser, their parents were the late John W. and Besty (Jones) Pennington.

Mr. Pennington was a retired mechanical engineer and a 32nd degree Mason.

Mr. Pennnington is survived by three nieces, Mrs. Vivian Howie, Norristown, Pa.; Mrs. Gretchen Kline, Binghamton, N. Y., and Mrs. Evangeline Coulehan, LaVale.

Besides her daughters (Mr. Pennington's nieces), Mrs. Twigg is survived by eight grandchildren.

TUCKER L. WILLIAMS

MARTINSBURG—Tucker L. Williams, 64, of Inwood, died Tuesday in City Hospital following an illness of several years.

Born at Liberty Furnace, Va., a son of the late Andrew J. and Elizabeth (Foltz) Williams, he had resided at Inwood 22 years.

Survivors include a brother, George A. Williams, Cumberland.

Services were conducted yesterday afternoon at the Dellinger Funeral Home, Woodstock, Va., and interment was in Massanutten Cemetery there.

Along The Potomac
by Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 — Second Session of the 84th Congress begins its work next Tuesday, January 3, with Vice President Nixon and Speaker Rayburn calling the Senate and House to order at twelve noon. The session is likely to be a rough and tumble affair as the major political parties jockey for advantageous positions for the coming elections. Quite frankly, I suspect there will be no new and startling legislation and the Congress will stick pretty much to a minimum of measures.

The President will present his program in the State of the Union message. The Democrats, the controlling party in the Congress, will attempt to give the President's proposals a Democratic coloration by rewriting in Committees and Floor amendments. In the case of most legislative proposals there will be a mad scramble to see which Party gets the credit.

I shall continue my practice of keeping you informed on the progress of major legislation during the session. Some items, such as national defense, foreign economic aid, balanced budget and a tax reduction program, require careful consideration. With regard to a tax program I shall be presenting some ideas of mine both as regards individual tax reduction and a proposal of mine that may assist the small businessman in meeting his share of the tax burden.

Legislation of special interest to the 6th Maryland District will include some of my measures, pending or to be introduced, that will aid in working out long-range solutions to water conservation, utilization and flood control. I shall continue to seek enactment of my bill granting citizenship privileges to those employed at Camp Detrick, near Frederick. I am expecting an early Committee report on my bill permitting the choice of one of two base periods in computing annuities and retirement in the Railroad Retirement Act.

I wish to take this opportunity of wishing everyone a most Happy New Year. I believe that, while the year will have its serious problems, we, as a Nation, will benefit from the policies being pursued by the Administration. The coming year should be a good one for all of our citizens.

On My Calendar: After the convening of Congress at noon on Tuesday, January 3, I expect to join the Advisory Board of the District of Columbia Chapter of the American Automobile Association at their luncheon. I have been asked to speak on "What Congress intended in providing for a survey of mass transportation needs in the Washington Metropolitan Area."

Bloodmobile To Visit Keyser January 30

KEYSER — Miss Gay Mellon, executive secretary of the Mineral County Chapter of the American Red Cross, announced yesterday that the bloodmobile unit will again visit Keyser on January 30.

An appeal for donors is now being made as the local Red Cross decided to have two visits during 1956 instead of the customary three or four. In order to achieve the quota for the year, the residents of the Keyser area must donate a total of 160 pints of blood during the visit here in January and again in either June or July.

The blood bank will be operating as usual in the Keyser High School gymnasium, but the hours have been changed from 11 a. m. until 5 p. m. in order to accommodate those individuals who work until 4.

Meter Maids Solve Traffic Muddle

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — "You can't give me a ticket. I was just getting change for the meter."

These are the words heard most often by 12 women who in the last 16 months have successfully pulled Salt Lake City out of a major traffic muddle.

They are the Meter Enforcement Women or "Meter Maids," who patrol Salt Lake's parking meters.

They hear the "getting change" excuse most frequently-although they know many of the violators' cars have been parked for an hour or more.

Other persons try to tell them the meter is out of order or that it "just ran out"-but the Maids know better.

Then the violator will try to talk this "mere woman" out of the ticket-but once again he loses. He must pay the fine.

The Meter Maids started as a doubtful experiment in July, 1954, and now the Salt Lake police department wouldn't give them up for anything.

MRS. NELDA VAN VLEET

They were the brainchild of Public Safety Commissioner Lyle B. Nicholes, who saw in them a possible means of solving the city's problem of not enough turnover on downtown parking meters. An undermanned police force wasn't able to make careful check of the meters.

The department carefully screened candidates for the job-with maturity the chief qualification. The 12 selected all were married and were between 30 and 40 years of age.

These women were carefully trained by Capt. E. J. Steinfeldt, then head of the traffic division, and Mrs. Clarice Holt, a policewoman who was named their supervisor.

Captain Steinfeldt and Mrs. Holt knew there was certain opposition in the department as well as among the public against hiring women to police the meters so they took special care to make the experiment work.

When the uniformed Maids first started walking their beats, they met resentment from Salt Lakers who had not been used to having their autos ticketed quite so frequently.

But the Maids didn't discourage easily and kept right on wielding their big, black pencils at the rate of 16,000 tickets a month.

The police department and courts backed them and they soon gained the respect of the citizens. Before long Salt Lakers tired of paying thousands of dollars in fines and began moving their cars when their hour expired.

Businessmen at first complained that the great number of tickets being written would drive people away from downtown and hurt business. But they changed their tune when the turnover of cars brought more people into their stores and helped shoot downtown retail business up 27 per cent in the first year the Maids operated.

This prompted police departments in many cities to write for information on setting up Meter Maid groups. Several have started similar systems.

Dinner Held For Orphans By Rotarians

Piedmont Club Has 30th Annual Event

PIEDMONT — Twenty children of the Methodist Children's Home of Burlington, and the staff of the home were entertained with a turkey dinner by Piedmont Rotary Club at the Potomac Hotel here Wednesday at noon.

It marked the thirtieth anniversary of the club having the orphans as their guests. Each child was presented with a gift by Santa Claus.

Guests included Cletus Carole Blackburn, Lois Ann Blackburn, Laverne May Bradfield, Ruth Catherine Bradfield, Beulah Ray Parker, Gloria Jean Parker, Naomi Marie Parker, Christa June Light, Wilda May Raigner, Betty Jean Raigner, Linda Carol Parker and Jackie Delores Wolfe.

Mrs. Lina P. Hamrick, supervising house mother, Mrs. Bernice B. Rhodes, Mrs. Roxie Jenkins and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Litton; Rev. and Mrs. Coleman Brown, Bridgeport, and Robert Lyons, manager of the Majestic Theatre.

After the dinner the children were guests of Mr. Lyons at the Majestic Theatre for a movie show.

All children of the community were admitted to the show and were asked to bring a package of foodstuff or clothing for the home. About 400 children attended and a small truck load of donations were received.

Logan Family Has Ocelet As Friendly House Pet

LOGAN, W. Va. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. John Gillispie have a pet cat that is only 17 weeks old and already weighs 15 pounds.

The cat is an ocelot named Princess, a South American product with bold leopard spots, enormous eyes and a tail almost as long as her body.

Some people might be squeamish about having an ocelot around the house. Not the Gillispies. They say she is very affectionate and frequently hugs Mrs. Gillispie.

Princess doesn't care for the garden variety of cat, but she likes the Gillispies' cocker spaniel. She tries to wrap her forelegs around the dog at every opportunity but the dog usually keeps his distance.

The Gillispies say the meat-eating ocelot has a wonderful appetite. Chicken is her favorite dish. Princess is playful, too, and likes to jump from one end of the living room to the other. So far, there hasn't been much damage.

Within a year, Princess will weigh about 30 pounds and eventually may go up to 50 or 60 pounds. Despite all this, the Gillispies are undaunted.

The Gillispies' son, Tom, bought the ocelot as a gift for his mother last August in Tampa, Fla. Says Tom:

Alcohol, Speed, Darkness Caused Yule Death Toll

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29 — 8 Police and medical experts, sifting the bitter ashes of tragedy, found three terrible klinkers today that were largely responsible for the awesome Christmas highway toll—alcohol, darkness and speed.

There were 10 highway deaths in Maryland over the Christmas weekend. In Baltimore, the medical examiner reported alcohol figured as a factor or potential factor in five fatalities between 6 p. m. last Friday and midnight Monday.

Autopsies on three dead drivers showed alcoholic content above the .15 percentage, considered the certain level of intoxication. One went as high as .36.

One driver who killed a pedestrian was charged with drunken driving. The same dreary story was recounted in pedestrian deaths. The bodies of three of them yielded alcohol-blood percentages of from .09 up to .20, according to Dr. Henry C. Freimuth, State toxicologist.

Nearly all of the fatalities in the entire State occurred in the hours of darkness when vision is uncertain.

Medical reports were not available today from all sections of the State, but some of the reported cases listed simply "loss of control," usually a result of excessive speed or fatigue.

The Maryland Assn. of Insurance Agents, taking note of the role alcohol played in the Christmas slaughter, asked Gov. McKeldin to recommend jail sentences for those convicted of drunken driving over the New Years weekend.

And in Baltimore, Chief Magistrate Stanley Scherr said "stiffer penalties" would be imposed on New Years weekend drunken drivers.

Generally, fines of $250 have been levied in such cases. Scherr said the fines may be doubled.

License suspensions will be increased from 15 to 90 days, he added.

Scherr said he was hesitant about mandatory imprisonment since there are no tests in use in Maryland to show definite intoxication.

Disputed Gas Bill

Charles M. See insisted during deliberations which resulted in the oil and gas bill, that regulations of common carriers should be handled by a separate bill and not lumped with the drilling control measure.

Each should stand on its own merits, they pointed out.

The bill which was worked out by the committee included these provisions:

Regulation of gas wells by Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources.

Exemption of gas storage companies from all requirements except obtaining of permits from wells.

Wells to be spaced no nearer than 500 feet to boundaries, except by agreements with adjacent owner, and a less distance on small sized land, with the distance between wells on meeting the boundary distance to be determined by the Department.

Provision for release of all leased land in a pool not receiving royalties after six months.

Is Under Lease

Del. Driscoll points out that up to 25,000 acres of land, mostly in the eastern section of Allegany County, is under lease for gas drilling.

It is imperative, he said, that the field be developed in an orderly manner if gas is discovered.

This is the idea of the gas and oil proposal. The sub-committee which worked out the proposal said it is recognized that adequate regulations of gas well drilling is absolutely necessary for the protection of the state and its citizens.

Agricultural Chemical Conference Scheduled

A University of Maryland Agricultural Chemicals Conference for Central and Western Maryland is scheduled for February 10 at the Francis Scott Key Hotel in Frederick, according to County Agent Joseph M. Steger.

In the past a two-day conference was held in Baltimore but the program committee decided to hold three one-day conferences in different sections of the state so more people will be able to attend. Dr. L. O. Weaver, university extension plant pathologist, is committee chairman.

Steger said these meetings provide a means for county agents, commercial field men, pesticide dealers and others interested in agricultural chemicals to get together and discuss crop pest recommendations.

$1,000 Bond Alternative To Jail Sentence

Juvenile Court Magistrate Morris Baron yesterday found Herbert L. Finnegan guilty of a charge of non-support of his wife and two children and imposed a sentence of one year in the Maryland House of Correction.

The magistrate, however, said he would suspend the sentence if Finnegan would put up a $1,000 bond to pay his wife $35 a week for the support of herself and their minor children.

Finnegan was still in jail last night in default of bond. Police said they impounded his 1955 model car.

Magistrate Baron said the court has been looking for Finnegan for a year and a half on the non-support count and that he was picked up in a Knox Street home here Wednesday by Lt. James E. Van and Detective Thomas J. See.

He said Finnegan is a crane operator, making from $120 to $130 a week, but has not contributed to the support of his family since June of 1954.

Finnegan came here to work on the flood control contract, the magistrate said, and left his family when he took off. He has been working in Chicago Ridge, Ill., the court was told.

County Farmers File Compliance Reports

A few Allegany County farmers have been coming to the office of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee each day this week to file compliance reports which show they have carried out certain agriculture conservation practices and are entitled to cash payments.

Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, ASC office manager, said that only about 65 of the 150 farmers whose practices have been approved have filed the required reports. The deadline originally was set for December 31 but because the office will be closed that day the deadline has been moved to next Tuesday.

Any farmer who fails to submit his compliance report will be unable to get a cash payment from the ASC.

Airplane Crashes Near Connellsville

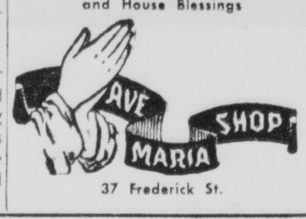

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 29 (AP)—State Police reported a twin-engine airplane exploded and crashed tonight about 15 miles east of here.

Officers said the pilot, believed to have been the lone occupant, was burned beyond recognition.

According to the control tower at Friendship Airport in Baltimore said the flight plan for the airplane listed the pilot's name as R. A. Long. The control tower said he was believed to be of Pittsburgh. Owner of the plane was listed as Salem Brosius Inc. of Pittsburgh.

Reds Don't Answer Gaitskell's Question

Hugh Gaitskell, new leader of the British Labor party—who seems to be less enamored of Russia than his predecessor was—has made a modest proposal to Russia. Great Britain, he notes, has given 500 million people in Southeast Asia their freedom in the last decade.

The list includes India, Pakistan, Ceylon, and Burma. Britain has withdrawn her troops from Suez, given up some of her authority in the Sudan, abandoned her control of Palestine, pulled her troops out of Greece. She has been working toward greater native autonomy in other areas.

So Gaitskell's proposal boils down to this: Why do not Russia's leaders simply follow Britain's example? "Let them give freedom in their turn turn to the people of Central and Eastern Europe whom they dominate by the power of their arms and the dictatorship of the Communist party."

Russia is talking a rabble-rousing anti-colonialism, but she is acting out a neocolonialism—absorbing new territory, bringing new people under her rule, exploiting other nations that want to be independent. She cares so little of freeing people she gets her clutches on that she still holds some prisoners captured in World War II.

Once again the words seem to have changed their meanings. The powers which have set hundreds of millions free and are preparing many more for self-government are violently attacked for "colonialism." The Netherlands, having freed close to 100 million people in Indonesia, is also denounced. So is the United States, which has freed the Philippines, granted Puerto Rico the right to elect independence, and practices no oppression in Hawaii.

But Russia, constantly practicing and seeking colonial expansion, sending agents who seek the overthrow of the very countries left independent by, Britain, heads the anti-colonial parade!

Russia isn't the only one. There are non-Communist nations seeking territorial expansion in the name of anti-colonialism. Indonesia wants to colonize the West New Guinea. India wants Goa and Kashmir. Egypt wants the Sudan and seems to have ideas of expanding westward. Russia eggs them on, hoping to pick up the pieces later.

Any nation which attacks others as colonialistic ought to be asked Hugh Gaitskell's question, "What peoples have you freed lately?"

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

We are an optimistic people and always hope for the best. Each year, on New Year's Eve, we expect everything to be perfect next year, although nothing has ever been perfect before. Although we had both peace and prosperity during 1955, we can only look forward to an election year in 1956, which means that we shall have an increasing excitement between now and November. It used to be that most Americans enjoyed the stimulation and excitement of an election year, but latterly they have not been so interesting, because Franklin D. Roosevelt was the last really exciting personality in the White House and while he lived he had no equal adversaries.

Since Roosevelt died, the personalities that have emeged in both parties for the presidency have been, on the whole, what might be called good men but not the kind of personalities who make history. The country has survived them. As a matter of fact, the Truman administration, say what you will, paved the way for peace and prosperity which neither the Republicans nor Democrats will like me to say because each party will be playing different tunes in 1956.

Peace and prosperity will probably exist in 1956 because no great power wants war, particularly because radio-active strontium is such a very bad chemical. It is this substance rather than the immediate explosive powers of the various bombs that has the statesmen of the world scared into wanting peace. And no matter how much they scream and make faces at each other, they will always think of radio-active strontium and forget about war. Maybe, at long last, the human race has discovered the weapon that makes war impossible.

If peace is prolonged, there is bound to be prosperity because the most costly and devastating expenditures are war and the preparation for war. It it possible that we may become accustomed to the kind of peace called the cold war or, in its modified form, competitive co-existence. Should this state of affairs go on for decades, each side will have to find a way to reduce armaments, most of which become obsolescent if not used. Already, there is much concern over the enormous stockpiles of fissionable materials and fissionable wastes. The alchemists have performed wonders but the human race is weary of wonders; it has become accustomed to something new and startling every day and now is so blase that everything seems to be ordinary.

When we begin to commute to the moon, we shall probably complain that the portable radio suffers from excessive static. The gourmet will complain that he cannot get caviar on the moon, and that strawberries do not grow there in December. We have at last reached that stage in civilization when there is really nothing new under the sun. The symbol for our age is Q. E. D. which the little boy discovered when he moved up a class in mathematics.

The Q. E. D. era may prove that we have been wrong about many things during the past 20 or 30 years when we have been beset by a madness of propaganda on all sides. Does it really matter as long as we can manage our own lives and can find happiness within the margins of family life? What more does one really ask of life?

The year 1955 provided this advantage: we more or less came out of our fright. We are not as scared of the Big Bear as we had been since the end of World War II. Somehow Khrushchev's speeches are not as devastating as Stalin's silence was. We can take Khrushchev's measure; we never really understood Stalin and as he recedes further into history we understand him less. He was a tremendous historic figure; Khrushchev looks and acts like a ward heeler.

And so we approach the new year with a bit more cheerfulness than other recent years. We shall have problems but probably, most likely, no war—and that is good enough. We shall elect a president and whoever he is we shall be told to believe that he is the greatest president since George Washington. And many will be happy to believe that, as they always do believe that someone or other is the greatest man that ever lived.

So here's to good cheer and gaiety and forgetfulness and all the virtues.

Will Congress Borrow Money To Reduce Taxes?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Will Congress vote to borrow money to pay for a reduction in taxes?

This is the biggest question that the 1956 session may have to answer unless there's a windfall in tax receipts and a sudden lessening of international tension so as to permit a curtailment of arms spending.

Politically, it isn't in the cards for members of Congress in prosperous times to vote for a tax reduction in disregard of the fact that there isn't enough revenue being taken in to offset it. The demand for tax reduction is strongest when there's a depression or recession, and the reason given is that it assists in creating purchasing power. This was the point made by Democratic leaders early in 1954, when attention was being called to a rise in unemployment figures, which has since subsided.

Both Parties Will Divide

Throughout the Truman administration, the favorite argument against tax reduction was that in good times the budget must be balanced. Hence, it is certain that the Democratic party in Congress is going to divide on the issue, as will the Republicans. A majority in both houses against tax reduction would, therefore, be the result of a coalition of responsible members voting against an irresponsible group.

Some idea of the dangers involved in careless handling of the tax-reduction question can be gained by noting that, to increase the individual personal exemption from $600 to $700, would cost the treasury about $2,400,000,000 a year in revenue. Yet the increase in exemption would result in a net benefit to each family in actual tax savings of only about $40 or $50. While there are many needy families to which such a saving might appeal, there are many millions of voters who could be injured by the unbalancing of the federal budget by $2,400,000,000.

For such a deficit would be taken as a signal that inflation has come back to plague the entire economy. Prices would begin to rise, and far more than $50 per taxpayer would have to be paid out to meet the higher costs of things bought in the marketplace.

Inflation Threatens Economy

Inflation is the disease which today threatens the economy of the whole world. European nations are struggling against it, particularly Great Britain, and some progress is being made in the battle. But if America turns to inflation, serious consequences will ensue in the trade between nations. The cost of things bought by Europeans from America would naturally rise. Eventually purchases by foreign nations would be curtailed, and unemployment might begin to show itself in various industries in this country.

It is scarcely conceivable that that Democratic leadership will wish to take the responsibility for starting another wave of inflation. What is more likely is that there will be pressure for various tax-reduction bills to be passed, with the hope that a presidential veto will kill the idea itself and place on the Republicans the blame for refusing tax reduction. This type of "pop gun" measure is a device frequently used in congressional politics. But it is doubtful whether, with the widespread understanding of the dangers of an unbalanced budget and the consequences of inflation, the voters will be inclined to penalize the party in power for exhibiting courage and common sense in rejecting irresponsible legislation.

The Eisenhower administration is not expected to reveal its hand on taxes in the "State of the Union" message next month, preferring to wait till April 15, when tax receipts from the exceedingly prosperous year 1955 will in large part have been collected.

The most important reason for not cutting taxes which the administration can give, if the tax receipts are not adequate, is that arms spending and foreign aid must be stepped up to insure a continuance of peace.It now is rather generally understood by the American people that the threat by Communist imperialism has not been lessened despite the heroic effort at conciliation made last summer at Geneva by President Eisenhower.

Less Danger Politically

There is less danger politically in opposing tax reduction than there would be normally. Since, therefore, there are sound financial, economic, international and military reasons for withholding a tax reduction the face of an unbalanced budget, the chances of enactng any tax legislation affecting taxpayers generally are rather remote.

What is more important to the voter is the prospect of increased income in 1956 due to increased compensation either through the usual improvements of the wage scale or through overtime work. The total take home pay in 1956 is expected to increase materially despite any omission of tax reduction.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Lot of water has gone over the dam this year. But it turned a lot of turbines.

We've had more ups and downs than a fool on hoss-back.

There was bitter with the sweet and the good with the bad. Taking it all in all we took it.

Worst that happened in 1955 is we broke even. And added another rubber stamp to the battle trophies of the republic.

Virus Causing Shingles Invades Sensory Nerves

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Herpes zoster (shingles) has a feature in common with polio: Both are due to a virus that invades the nervous system. The herpes organism prefers the sensory nerves, in contrast to the causative agent of polio which strikes the motor nerves of the spinal cord and brain. This is why shingles leads to pain and polio to paralysis.

A relationship also exists between herpes zoster and chickenpox. The skin lesions of both conditions resemble each other. In chickenpox, the watery blebs crop out all over the body whereas in shingles they appear on the skin over the affected nerve. The causative viruses are believed to be related. This is borne out by the fact that children have developed chickenpox after a parent or grandparent suffered an attack of shingles, and vice versa.

Symptoms of shingles are limited to the involved sensory nerve. It usually is a branch that emerges from one side or the other of the spinal cord, between neck and hips. It starts as a burning, prickling, or stabbing sensation along the distribution of the nerve fiber. In a few days tiny blisters arise over the same area.

The eruption may last one to two weeks but pain sometimes persists for months or years thereafter, particularly in older persons. Postherpetic neuralgia is most resistant to treatment.

The usual attack of shingles is not serious unless the eye is involved. This causes excruciating pain and when the blisters are located over the clear cornea, there is danger that vision will be affected by residual scarring.

The current treatment of herpes zoster centers about steroid hormones like ACTH and cortisone. Most reports have been encouraging; dramatic improvement takes place within 24 to 48 hours. Herpes zoster ophthalmicus (eye involvement) also responds to the injection of these hormones.

A 70-year-old woman, for example, was admitted to a Brooklyn hospital because of uncontrollable pain over one eye. She had received the usual remedies without relief. Finally, ACTH was administered hypodermically and pain began to subside within 24 hours. No residual scarring of the cornea remained to impair vision.

An ointment containing hydrocortisone has been of value not only in relieving pain but in preventing the formation of additional blisters. Sleepless nights disappear and some victims have been able to return to work within 24 to 96 hours. The ointment is simple to use and the amount needed is so small, side reactions do not ensue.

Try And Stop Me!

Some of those busy Madison Avenue executives you read about have found a new way to keep their brains from going rusty: trying to list 12 cities outside the United States, all beginning with the letter "M," and all having a population of over half a million. Can you name all 12?

Here they are: Madrid, Marseilles, Moscow, Manchester, Munich, Milan, Montreal, Mexico City, Montevideo, Madras, Mukden, and Melbourne. (It's "Mukden' that stumps most contestants.)

Kermit Schafer reports the sad plight of a disc jockey who made three successive attempts, all of which failed, to say correctly "tickled pink." First it came out "tickled pick," then "pickled tick," and finally "pickled tink."

"Sympathy," observes Mary McBride, "is what one gal is willing to give in exchange for all the gory details."

Brownell Prepares Late 'Christmas Greeting' To Strike At Democrats

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Attorney General Brownell has been readying a belated Christmas present for the Democrats in general and Adlai Stevenson in particular. It won't be exactly in the spirit of the Christmas season, however.

He is getting ready to throw the works at Stevenson's campaign manager, James Finnegan of Philadelphia, for allegedly using veterans to buy war surplus goods.

He is also preparing several more indictments of high officials of the Truman administration in connection with tax fixing. In this connection he has also yanked Truman's Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder out to federal grand juries in St. Louis and Omaha so many times that Snyder might just as well buy a commuter's ticket.

Bird-dog Brownell was the only personal caller on President Eisenhower one day before the Christmas holiday and it is reported he discussed this entire Christmas package for the Democrats at that time.

Brownell's case against Stevenson's campaign manager, Finnegan, dates back to the postwar period when Finnegan formed a corporation including veterans to buy surplus property by using veterans' preference. Brownell has investigated this backward and forward and at one time considered bringing an indictment. He finally concluded that Finnegan was within the law and could not be prosecuted, since the veterans were members of his corporation and shared in the profits.

Therefore he plans to blast Finnegan, not prosecute.

NOTE—This writer was a frequent critic of Secretary Snyder when he was in office on the grounds of efficiency. Snyder was dilatory but not dishonest.

President's Health

Heart specialists who have followed the public statements of Dr. Paul Dudley White on the President's health are a little puzzled at his latest.

After his last examination of Mr. Eisenhower, Dr. White was asked by a newsman:

"Doctor, is a person who has had one coronary thrombosis more likely than other people to have a second?"

"Probably a little," Dr. White replied, "but the majority of our patients, as I have said before—and I have looked some of them up, but I haven't had time to go through the whole list—the majority do not have second heart attacks."

Heart specialists who are familiar with Dr. White's research find that this does not jibe with his own earlier statements. On previous occasions he has found that 69 per cent who have had heart attacks have them a second time with fatal results.

Volume 117 of the Journal of the American Medical Association Page 1171, 1941, publishes a study on heart attacks by Bland and White (Drs. Edward F. Bland and Paul D. White). In order to ascertain what happens to those who have heart attacks, Dr. White and Bland studied 162 patients.

"Of these," they reported, "112 (69 per cent) died during the decade following their acute thrombosis and 50 (31 per cent) survived this period."

Of the 162 who survived their initial attacks, Drs. White and Bland found that 30 died within one year, 74 died within four years and, including these, 112 died within 10 years. Of 55 patients who completely recovered from their initial attacks, 24 died within a decade, 18 from coronary insufficiency. Thirty-one lived more than 10 years.

Doctors point out that this study was completed in 1941 and dealt with cases that were more serious than the average or they probably would not have come to Dr. White's attention. So life expectancy of the average case today should be longer.

However, the apparent contradiction between Dr. White's statement in his press conference and his own writing in the American Medical Association Journal has led to some speculation as to whether he was being entirely frank with the public.

NOTE—Dr. White, in testifying before the Senate last year, said that little progress had been made in finding the cause and cure of heart disease; therefore he asked for increased research funds. These were not granted. This year, Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare Folsom had asked for more money.

"Penbassador" Truman

Secretary of State Dulles has been considering the idea of sending ex-President Harry Truman abroad as a special, high-level envoy to undo some of the Soviet gains scored by the touring Moscow team of Bulganin and Khrushchev.

Dulles, however, is in something of a dilemma. His ambassadors from all over Southeast Asia have been cabling reports on the powerful impact of the two Soviet leaders and urging that a top-level American with prestige visit the same areas. Yet Dulles is also being advised that a presidential year is the wrong time to give any Republican recognition to Mr. Truman.

This writer recently proposed that both Mr. Truman and former President Herbert Hoover be drafted to travel as good-will envoys abroad. To this might also be added the name of Gen. George Marshall, chief of staff during the war, former secretary of state and former secretary of defense.

Marshall, who celebrates his 75th birthday tomorrow, has been abused and derided by Senators McCarthy and Jenner. But in foreign countries he has more prestige than almost any other living American except for our ex-presidents.

NOTE — For those who want to send General Marshall a birthday greeting, his address is Leesburg.

Casualty Rockefeller

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

Nelson A. Rockefeller was the most important casualty to date of the peculiar policy-making process of the Eisenhower administration.

Of course they played "Hearts and Flowers" quite beautifully at the funeral. One of the great conveniences of governmental obsequies is that the casualties are not quite in the dear departed category, but are only the dear departing. They can join in their own last rites, which Rocekefeller loyally did.

He wrote the President that family business imperatively required him to leave the government. The President replied affectionately, with many an expression of deep regret. Every convention was observed. But the fact remains that Rockefeller would never have left his key post as a presidential adviser, if the advice he gave in the recent struggle over next year's budget had not proved unpalatably insistent and forthright.

Cloaked In Mystery

Just how the end came is still cloaked in considerable mystery. Certainly Rockefeller gave sharp offense to Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey and the administration's other budget-firsters. Certainly Rockefeller's intervention was also far from well received by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who guards his prerogatives with some care. Certainly Rockefeller's position as a presidential adviser—or in plainer language, an official fifth wheel—was always an inherently difficult position.

But it does not matter very greatly whether or not it was Rockefeller himself who decided that he had worn out his usefulness as seems most likely. In any case, he is really leaving the executive offices because his usefulness there was finally worn out—although no doubt there is no shortage of Rockefeller family business for him to take care of now that he is free to do so.

Furthermore, what wore out Rockefeller's usefulness was his powerful insistence on a wholly new order of national policy priorities. Balancing the budget and even cutting taxes must now yield pride of place, he declared. And he pleaded for giving an overriding first priority to meeting the double challenge of the enormous progress of the Kremlin's arms program and the wide extension of the Kremlin's political offensive in the Middle and Far East.

Fateful Decision

The decision to neglect this double challenge is a fateful decision. The new theme song seems to be a revised version of the old hymn "Look Only to Lady Luck, She Will Carry Us Through." Maybe Lady Luck really will carry us through, as every sensible person must pray. But if Rockefeller's factually justified forebodings prove correct, as is also possible, his departure from the government will later be remembered in the way men now remember the departures of British officials in the '30s, who got into hot water by insisting that it was dangerous to neglect the challenge of Adolf Hitler.

To be sure, Rockefeller and his senior partner in the struggle, Vice President Richard Nixon, who showed quite exceptional courage, have some results to show after their fight for different policy priorities. The budget-firsters did not get all they wanted. A great increase of Soviet power and an intensification of Soviet effort were not answered by a considerable reduction of American power and effort. The American policy decision was to carry on as before.

Yet the departure of Rockefeller leaves almost no one but the vice president who is likely to speak up for a change in policy priorities, if and when just carrying on as before begins to prove acutely dangerous.

Dulles Over-Burdened

At the State Department, Secretary Dulles is heavily overburdened with the endless intricacy and constant movement of day-to-day diplomacy. Questions of American power and American effort, which have mainly to do with the defense and foreign aid program, Dulles tends to leave to his two subordinates, Under Secretary Herbert Hoover Jr. and Foreign Aid Administrator John Hollister. Both Hollister and Hoover strongly incline to the budget-firster side.

At the Defense Department, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson is no longer willing to reduce our defense effort—which is a form of courage in present circumstances. But Wilson sees no reason to increase the defense effort, either, in order to balance the increase of Soviet strength. As for the views of Treasury Secretary Humphrey and Budget Director Rowland Hughes, they might almost be described as notorious.

Thus there is no one besides Nixon to signal a change of course, except the President himself. If Eisenhower ever decides a change of course is needed, he will have to over-rule most of those who hold the key positions on his team. All hope is now on him.

Perhaps 40 million Frenchmen can't be wrong but it looks as though 4,500 of 'em are sure to be.

Reds Don't Answer Gaitskell's Question

Hugh Gaitskell, new leader of the British Labor party—who seems to be less enamored of Russia than his predecessor was—has made a modest proposal to Russia. Great Britain, he notes, has given 500 million people in Southeast Asia their freedom in the last decade.

The list includes India, Pakistan, Ceylon, and Burma. Britain has withdrawn her troops from Suez, given up some of her authority in the Sudan, abandoned her control of Palestine, pulled her troops out of Greece. She has been working toward greater native autonomy in other areas.

So Gaitskell's proposal boils down to this: Why do not Russia's leaders simply follow Britain's example? "Let them give freedom in their turn turn to the people of Central and Eastern Europe whom they dominate by the power of their arms and the dictatorship of the Communist party."

Russia is talking a rabble-rousing anti-colonialism, but she is acting out a neocolonialism—absorbing new territory, bringing new people under her rule, exploiting other nations that want to be independent. She cares so little of freeing people she gets her clutches on that she still holds some prisoners captured in World War II.

Once again the words seem to have changed their meanings. The powers which have set hundreds of millions free and are preparing many more for self-government are violently attacked for "colonialism." The Netherlands, having freed close to 100 million people in Indonesia, is also denounced. So is the United States, which has freed the Philippines, granted Puerto Rico the right to elect independence, and practices no oppression in Hawaii.

But Russia, constantly practicing and seeking colonial expansion, sending agents who seek the overthrow of the very countries left independent by Britain, heads the anti-colonial parade!

Russia isn't the only one. There are non-Communist nations seeking territorial expansion in the name of anti-colonialism. Indonesia wants to colonize the West New Guinea. India wants Goa and Kashmir. Egypt wants the Sudan and seems to have ideas of expanding westward. Russia eggs them on, hoping to pick up the pieces later.

Any nation which attacks others as colonialistic ought to be asked Hugh Gaitskell's question, "What peoples have you freed lately?"

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

1956

We are an optimistic people and always hope for the best. Each year, on New Year's Eve, we expect everything to be perfect next year, although nothing has ever been perfect before. Although we had both peace and prosperity during 1955, we can only look forward to an election year in 1956, which means that we shall have an increasing excitement between now and November. It used to be that most Americans enjoyed the stimulation and excitement of an election year, but latterly they have not been so interesting, because Franklin D. Roosevelt was the last really exciting personality in the White House and while he lived he had no equal adversaries.

Since Roosevelt died, the personalities that have emeged in both parties for the presidency have been, on the whole, what might be called good men but not the kind of personalities who make history. The country has survived them. As a matter of fact, the Truman administration, say what you will, paved the way for peace and prosperity which neither the Republicans nor Democrats will like me to say because each party will be playing different tunes in 1956.

Peace and prosperity will probably exist in 1956 because no great power wants war, particularly because radio-active strontium is such a very bad chemical. It is this substance rather than the immediate explosive powers of the various bombs that has the statesmen of the world scared into wanting peace. And no matter how much they scream and make faces at each other, they will always think of radio-active strontium and forget about war. Maybe, at long last, the human race has discovered the weapon that makes war impossible.

If peace is prolonged, there is bound to be prosperity because the most costly and devastating expenditures are war and the preparation for war. It it possible that we may become accustomed to the kind of peace called the cold war or, in its modified form, competitive co-existence. Should this state of affairs go on for decades, each side will have to find a way to reduce armaments, most of which become obsolescent if not used. Already, there is much concern over the enormous stockpiles of fissionable materials and fissionable wastes. The alchemists have performed wonders but the human race is weary of wonders; it has become accustomed to something new and startling every day and now is so blase that everything seems to be ordinary.

When we begin to commute to the moon, we shall probably complain that the portable radio suffers from excessive static. The gourmet will complain that he cannot get caviar on the moon, and that strawberries do not grow there in December. We have at last reached that stage in civilization when there is really nothing new under the sun. The symbol for our age is Q. E. D. which the little boy discovered when he moved up a class in mathematics.

The Q. E. D. era may prove that we have been wrong about many things during the past 20 or 30 years when we have been beset by a madness of propaganda on all sides. Does it really matter as long as we can manage our own lives and can find happiness within the margins of family life? What more does one really ask of life?

The year 1955 provided this advantage: we more or less came out of our fright. We are not as scared of the Big Bear as we had been since the end of World War II. Somehow Khrushchev's speeches are not as devastating as Stalin's silence was. We can take Khrushchev's measure; we never really understood Stalin and as he recedes further into history we understand him less. He was a tremendous historic figure; Khrushchev looks and acts like a ward heeler.

And so we approach the new year with a bit more cheerfulness than other recent years. We shall have problems but probably, most likely, no war—and that is good enough. We shall elect a president and whoever he is we shall be told to believe that he is the greatest president since George Washington. And many will be happy to believe that, as they always do believe that someone or other is the greatest man that ever lived.

So here's to good cheer and gaiety and forgetfulness and all the virtues.

Will Congress Borrow Money To Reduce Taxes?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Will Congress vote to borrow money to pay for a reduction in taxes?

This is the biggest question that the 1956 session may have to answer unless there's a windfall in tax receipts and a sudden lessening of international tension so as to permit a curtailment of arms spending.

Politically, it isn't in the cards for members of Congress in prosperous times to vote for a tax reduction in disregard of the fact that there isn't enough revenue being taken in to offset it. The demand for tax reduction is strongest when there's a depression or recession, and the reason given is that it assists in creating purchasing power. This was the point made by Democratic leaders early in 1954, when attention was being called to a rise in unemployment figures, which has since subsided.

Both Parties Will Divide

Throughout the Truman administration, the favorite argument against tax reduction was that in good times the budget must be balanced. Hence, it is certain that the Democratic party in Congress is going to divide on the issue, as will the Republicans. A majority in both houses against tax reduction would, therefore, be the result of a coalition of responsible members voting against an irresponsible group.

Some idea of the dangers involved in careless handling of the tax-reduction question can be gained by noting that, to increase the individual personal exemption from $600 to $700, would cost the treasury about $2,400,000,000 a year in revenue. Yet the increase in exemption would result in a net benefit to each family in actual tax savings of only about $40 or $50. While there are many needy families to which such a saving might appeal, there are many millions of voters who could be injured by the unbalancing of the federal budget by $2,400,000,000.

For such a deficit would be taken as a signal that inflation has come back to plague the entire economy. Prices would begin to rise, and far more than $50 per taxpayer would have to be paid out to meet the higher costs of things bought in the marketplace.

Inflation Threatens Economy

Inflation is the disease which today threatens the economy of the whole world. European nations are struggling against it, particularly Great Britain, and some progress is being made in the battle. But if America turns to inflation, serious consequences will ensue in the trade between nations. The cost of things bought by Europeans from America would naturally rise. Eventually purchases by foreign nations would be curtailed, and unemployment might begin to show itself in various industries in this country.

It is scarcely conceivable that that Democratic leadership will wish to take the responsibility for starting another wave of inflation. What is more likely is that there will be pressure for various tax-reduction bills to be passed, with the hope that a presidential veto will kill the idea itself and place on the Republicans the blame for refusing tax reduction. This type of "pop gun" measure is a device frequently used in congressional politics. But it is doubtful whether, with the widespread understanding of the dangers of an unbalanced budget and the consequences of inflation, the voters will be inclined to penalize the party in power for exhibiting courage and common sense in rejecting irresponsible legislation.

The Eisenhower administration is not expected to reveal its hand on taxes in the "State of the Union" message next month, preferring to wait till April 15, when tax receipts from the exceedingly prosperous year 1955 will in large part have been collected.

The most important reason for not cutting taxes which the administration can give, if the tax receipts are not adequate, is that arms spending and foreign aid must be stepped up to insure a continuance of peace.It now is rather generally understood by the American people that the threat by Communist imperialism has not been lessened despite the heroic effort at conciliation made last summer at Geneva by President Eisenhower.

Less Danger Politically

There is less danger politically in opposing tax reduction than there would be normally. Since, therefore, there are sound financial, economic, international and military reasons for withholding a tax reduction the face of an unbalanced budget, the chances of enactng any tax legislation affecting taxpayers generally are rather remote.

What is more important to the voter is the prospect of increased income in 1956 due to increased compensation either through the usual improvements of the wage scale or through overtime work. The total take home pay in 1956 is expected to increase materially despite any omission of tax reduction.

Baering Down On The News

Lot of water has gone over the dam this year. But it turned a lot of turbines.

We've had more ups and downs than a fool on hoss-back.

There was bitter with the sweet and the good with the bad. Taking it all in all we took it.

Worst that happened in 1955 is we broke even. And added another rubber stamp to the battle trophies of the republic.

Virus Causing Shingles Invades Sensory Nerves

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Herpes zoster (shingles) has a feature in common with polio: Both are due to a virus that invades the nervous system. The herpes organism prefers the sensory nerves, in contrast to the causative agent of polio which strikes the motor nerves of the spinal cord and brain. This is why shingles leads to pain and polio to paralysis.

A relationship also exists between herpes zoster and chickenpox. The skin lesions of both conditions resemble each other. In chickenpox, the watery blebs crop out all over the body whereas in shingles they appear on the skin over the affected nerve. The causative viruses are believed to be related. This is borne out by the fact that children have developed chickenpox after a parent or grandparent suffered an attack of shingles, and vice versa.

Symptoms of shingles are limited to the involved sensory nerve. It usually is a branch that emerges from one side or the other of the spinal cord, between neck and hips. It starts as a burning, prickling, or stabbing sensation along the distribution of the nerve fiber. In a few days tiny blisters arise over the same area.

Volume 117 of the Journal of the American Medical Association Page 1171, 1941, publishes a study on heart attacks by Bland and White (Drs. Edward F. Bland and Paul D. White). In order to ascertain what happens to those who have heart attacks, Dr. White and Bland studied 162 patients.

"Of these," they reported, "112 (69 per cent) died during the decade following their acute thrombosis and 50 (31 per cent) survived this period."

Of the 162 who survived their initial attacks, Drs. White and Bland found that 30 died within one year, 74 died within four years and, including these, 112 died within 10 years. Of 55 patients who completely recovered from their initial attacks, 24 died within a decade, 18 from coronary insufficiency. Thirty-one lived more than 10 years.

Doctors point out that this study was completed in 1941 and dealt with cases that were more serious than the average or they probably would not have come to Dr. White's attention. So life expectancy of the average case today should be longer.

However, the apparent contradiction between Dr. White's statement in his press conference and his own writing in the American Medical Association Journal has led to some speculation as to whether he was being entirely frank with the public.

NOTE—Dr. White, in testifying before the Senate last year, said that little progress had been made in finding the cause and cure of heart disease; therefore he asked for increased research funds. These were not granted. This year, Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare Folsom had asked for more money.

"Penbassador" Truman

Secretary of State Dulles has been considering the idea of sending ex-President Harry Truman abroad as a special, high-level envoy to undo some of the Soviet gains scored by the touring Moscow team of Bulganin and Khrushchev.

Dulles, however, is in something of a dilemma. His ambassadors from all over Southeast Asia have been cabling reports on the powerful impact of the two Soviet leaders and urging that a top-level American with prestige visit the same areas. Yet Dulles is also being advised that a presidential year is the wrong time to give any Republican recognition to Mr. Truman.

This writer recently proposed that both Mr. Truman and former President Herbert Hoover be drafted to travel as good-will envoys abroad. To this might also be added the name of Gen. George Marshall, chief of staff during the war, former secretary of state and former secretary of defense.

Marshall, who celebrates his 75th birthday tomorrow, has been abused and derided by Senators McCarthy and Jenner. But in foreign countries he has more prestige than almost any other living American except for our ex-presidents.

NOTE — For those who want to send General Marshall a birthday greeting, his address is Leesburg,

Casualty Rockefeller

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

Nelson A. Rockefeller was the most important casualty to date of the peculiar policy-making process of the Eisenhower administration.

Of course they played "Hearts and Flowers" quite beautifully at the funeral. One of the great conveniences of governmental obsequies is that the casualties are not quite in the dear departed category, but are only the dear departing. They can join in their own last rites, which Rocekefeller loyally did.

He wrote the President that family business imperatively required him to leave the government. The President replied affectionately, with many an expression of deep regret. Every convention was observed. But the fact remains that Rockefeller would never have left his key post as a presidential adviser, if the advice he gave in the recent struggle over next year's budget had not proved unpalatably insistent and forthright.

Cloaked In Mystery

Just how the end came is still cloaked in considerable mystery. Certainly Rockefeller gave sharp offense to Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey and the administration's other budget-firsters. Certainly Rockefeller's intervention was also far from well received by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who guards his prerogatives with some care. Certainly Rockefeller's position as a presidential adviser—or in plainer language, an official fifth wheel—was always an inherently difficult position.

But it does not matter very greatly whether or not it was Rockefeller himself who decided that he had worn out his usefulness as seems most likely. In any case, he is really leaving the executive offices because his usefulness there was finally worn out—although no doubt there is no shortage of Rockefeller family business for him to take care of now that he is free to do so.

Furthermore, what wore out Rockefeller's usefulness was his powerful insistence on a wholly new order of national policy priorities. Balancing the budget and even cutting taxes must now yield pride of place, he declared. And he pleaded for giving an overriding first priority to meeting the double challenge of the enormous progress of the Kremlin's arms program and the wide extension of the Kremlin's political offensive in the Middle and Far East.

Fateful Decision

The decision to neglect this double challenge is a fateful decision. The new theme song seems to be a revised version of the old hymn "Look Only to Lady Luck, She Will Carry Us Through." Maybe Lady Luck really will carry us through, as every sensible person must pray. But if Rockefeller's factually justified forebodings prove correct, as is also possible, his departure from the government will later be remembered in the way men now remember the departures of British officials in the '30s, who got into hot water by insisting that it was dangerous to neglect the challenge of Adolf Hitler.

To be sure, Rockefeller and his senior partner in the struggle, Vice President Richard Nixon, who showed quite exceptional courage, have some results to show after their fight for different policy priorities. The budget-firsters did not get all they wanted. A great increase of Soviet power and an intensification of Soviet effort were not answered by a considerable reduction of American power and effort. The American policy decision was to carry on as before.

Yet the departure of Rockefeller leaves almost no one but the vice president who is likely to speak up for a change in policy priorities, if and when just carrying on as before begins to prove acutely dangerous.

Dulles Over-Burdened

At the State Department, Secretary Dulles is heavily overburdened with the endless intricacy and constant movement of day-to-day diplomacy. Questions of American power and American effort, which have mainly to do with the defense and foreign aid program, Dulles tends to leave to his two subordinates, Under Secretary Herbert Hoover Jr. and Foreign Aid Administrator John Hollister. Both Hollister and Hoover strongly incline to the budget-firster side.

At the Defense Department, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson is no longer willing to reduce our defense effort—which is a form of courage in present circumstances. But Wilson sees no reason to increase the defense effort, either, in order to balance the increase of Soviet strength. As for the views of Treasury Secretary Humphrey and Budget Director Rowland Hughes, they might almost be described as notorious.

Thus there is no one besides Nixon to signal a change of course, except the President himself. If Eisenhower ever decides a change of course is needed, he will have to over-rule most of those who hold the key positions on his team. All hope is now on him.

In France 3,000 or more candidates are expected to seek seats in the Chamber of Deputies in the January elections. Wonder how a citizen picks the man to vote for—by consulting the telephone book?

There are only some 500 seats in the French Chamber but what politician was ever afraid of one-to-10-odds?

Perhaps 40 million Frenchmen can't be wrong but it looks as though 4,500 of 'em are sure to be.

Mt. Savage To Play LaSalle, Moorefield At Keyser Tonight

Geatz Crew Hosts Indians In Return Go

Yellowjackets PVC Mark In Jeopardy, Alumni Tilts On Tap

The LaSalle Explorers will play host to the Mt. Savage Indians at SS. Peter and Paul gym and Moorefield High's Yellowjackets will invade Keyser for an important PVC engagement in scholastic basketball games on tap tonight.

Six other games carded in the light holiday weekend schedule find alumni aggregations meeting winless cagers journeying to Frostburg to meet the Beall High Jayvees, Sanders High of Moorefield hosts St. Patrick's High of Weston, W. Va., in the other tilt.

Lost To Explorers

Coach George Geatz' Explorers will put a three-game winning skein on the line in tonight's 8 o'clock battle with Mentor John Thomas' Mt. Savage scalpers. Both teams sport 4-1 records with the Indians' only defeat a 63-61 decision lost to LaSalle at Mt. Savage December 16.

In the Potomac Valley Conference battle at Keyser, Coach Jonathan Paugh's Moorefield Jackets will endeavor to protect an unblemished 4-0 conference mark against the Golden Tornado.

Moorefield sports an overall 4-2 mark with its last loss coming at the hands of an Alumni team Tuesday. Keyser, which turned back a strong Elk Garden quint 47-43 in an overtime fray for its only PVC win, also dropped its last outing against Allegany, 77-65 on December 23. The Tornado team, coached by John Shelton, has a 3-1 mark for the season.

Alumni teams, with members home for the holidays, make up the bulk of the remainder of the basketball slate tonight.

Grads will play at Ridgeley, Romney, Valley and at Beall. The Blackhawks of Coach Chet Payne have won their last two outings, including an overtime victory over Fort Hill, and have a 4-1 record for the year.

Win Three In Row

Romney has won three in a row since its only loss to Ridgeley, 67-32, was suffered on December 9. Coach Clyde Green's cagers will be striving for their fifth victory of the campaign against the Alumni.

Coach Johnny Meyers' Valley Black Knights hope to improve a 3-2 seasonal mark and extended a one-game winning streak begun with a 68-51 decision over Southern in its last start December 20.

At Frostburg the Beall Mountaineers will attempt to snap a three-game losing streak against an Alumni outfit. Coach Eddie Finzel's schoolboy five has won only its opener against Meyersdale.

Sanders Seeks Revenge

Sanders High of Moorefield, with a 4-3 mark for the season, seeks revenge against St. Patrick's High after losing at Weston in their opener, 89-55.

Coach Orville Jackson's Flintstone varsity, winless in four starts, meets Beall High's Jayvees at Frostburg in the preliminary to the Beall-Alumni contest.

Alumni Defeats Petersburg Five

Vikings Lose Third Game Of Year 47-44

PETERSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 29 —A determined band of Grads took a three-point lead in the first quarter and then hung on to defeat the Petersburg High Vikings here tonight, 47-44.

The Alumni led 11-8 at the quarter, 24-21 at intermission and 37-33 at the close of the third period.

In handing Coach Jesse Riggleman's varsity team its third loss of the campaign the Alumni was led by Landis and B. Smith with 11 points apiece. Dick Huffman scored 18 tallies for Petersburg. The lineups:

Clausen Is Named New Mexico Coach

ALBUQUERQUE, Dec. 29 (AP) — Dick Clausen, coach for seven years at Coe College in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and 1955 small college "coach of the year," today was named head football coach at the University of New Mexico.

Clausen, 42-year-old split-T formation advocate whose Coe teams have won three midwest conference championships in the past five years, replaces Bob Titchenal, who was fired after his 1955 New Mexico team won two, lost eight.

Both Coaches Would "Settle For Tie"

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 29 (AP)—The idea of a "sudden death" playoff in the event the Orange Bowl football struggle between Oklahoma and Maryland ends in a deadlock was brought up today—and immediately rejected by both coaches.

Some experts feel that a draw—although not necessarily a scoreless one—is a distinct possibility because of the rocky defenses of both these unbeaten giants.

The coaches, appearing on the stage at the annual Orange Bowl kickoff luncheon, were asked how they felt about a playoff.

"If we tie," said Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson, "I would be happy to stop right there."

"If we can score as much as Oklahoma, we'll be satisfied, echoed Maryland's Jim Tatum. "I'll gladly settle for a tie."

Two years ago, when the teams met in the Orange Bowl under similar circumstances, a slashing defensive duel developed, broken only by Larry Grigg's 26-yard touchdown run that gave Oklahoma a 7-0 decision.

Maryland then was the national champion and Oklahoma was ranked No. 3 in the Associated Press poll. This year, Oklahoma holds the national crown and Maryland is No. 3.

Tatum gambled on injuries by ordering a full-scale scrimmage today and in the early going fullback Fred Hamilton was knocked out.

"At first, we thought he just had the wind knocked out of him," trainer Duke Wyre said, "but he was slow coming around and it looks like he may have some bruised ribs."

Similar injuries caused Hamilton to miss some action during the regular season. He was converted from halfback at the start of the year when Tom Selep, a senior on which Tatum had counted for the fullback post, was eliminated by a knee injury on the first day of practice.

If Hamilton is unable to go against Oklahoma, another converted halfback, sophomore Phil Perlo, will move up.

Wilkinson, who has ordered no scrimmaging at all in Miami workouts, called for only light practice today. He said the drills had been satisfactory and all hands are in good shape.

East-West Game Kicks Off Week-End Bowl Contests

Cassady To Roam In Saturday Tilt

[By The Associated Press]

The brilliant Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, Ohio State's two-time all-America, cuts loose again Saturday to kick off a $3,000,000 weekend of bowl football sure to attract more than half a million fans.

Cassady, individual standout of the 1955 college campaign, will play with Coach Woody Hayes' East squad against West in the shrine game at San Francisco.

This is just one of four Saturday attractions, three of which will be televised, to whet the appetite of the gridiron gourmet for Monday's big bowl clashes from Pasadena to Miami.

Three Others Carded

Also on the new year's eve bill are the Gator Bowl battle at Jacksonville, Fla., between Vanderbilt and Auburn; the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala., and the Salad Bowl at Phoenix, Ariz., between all-star teams of the Skyline and Border Conferences.

Cassady's presence with the Eastern squad has made that group a one touchdown favorite over the West in a game which will be viewed by 61,000 in the flesh and untold numbers on television. NBC is carrying the game on its screens, starting at 5 p.m. (EST).

The Gator Bowl will be televised by CBS. Kickoff is 2 p.m. with Auburn, 16 pounds bigger to the man in the line, a six-point choice over a swift Vanderbilt team which finished the season strong.

The Blues—that is, the Northerners—have been established a one touchdown choice over the Grays at Montgomery where NBC also will televise, starting at 2:30 p.m. There is no national television or radio emanating from the Phoenix fixture.

Most Money At Orange Bowl

The four big bowl games Monday figure to bring in half a million dollars each, with the Rose Bowl at Pasadena drawing the largest flock, 100,000, but the Miami Orange Bowl netting the most money, $515,000.

The Orange Bowl, with an Atlantic Coast-Big Seven tieup, came up smelling sweet. The game pits Oklahoma, the national champion, against Maryland, No. 3 in the Associated Press Poll, with Oklahoma a seven-point favorite.

The Maryland Terrapins hope to avenge a 7-0 setback administered them by the Sooners two years ago in the same Orange Bowl. CBS is televising at 2 p.m.

Vengeance also is a compelling force for UCLA, a seven-point underdog against the Michigan State team which whipped the Bruins at Pasadena in 1954. NBC is televising the Rose Bowl game, jumping from the Cotton Bowl, where Texas Christian and Mississippi have a 2 p.m. date. The west coast game starts at 5 p.m. (EST).

Georgia Tech Is Favored

The Sugar Bowl came up with an intersectional show involving Georgia Tech, an old bowl standby, and Pittsburgh, a big, rugged team which upset both Duke and West Virginia during the season. Tech is rated a 13 point favorite. ABC is televising.

Hyndman Edges Alumni, 52-50

Bruce May Scores 30 Points For Grads

HYNDMAN, Pa., Dec. 29 — The Hyndman Hornets, rallying in the second period to take the lead, hung on grimly here tonight to edge an Alumni team, 52-50.

The victory evened the schoolboy basketball team's record at 4-4 for the season.

The Alumni trailed throughout most of the game despite a 30-point effort by former Hyndman star Bruce May. High scorer for the varsity was Ronie Stahlman with 17 markers.

Carl May of the Grads was the only player to foul out of the game, leaving in the fourth quarter.

Hyndman won the game at the foul line after being outscored from the field, 21-17. The Hornets converted 18 of 35 fouls to 8-14 for the Grads. The lineups:

Dutchmen Defeat St. Michael's Cagers, 42 To 19

SS. Peter and Paul's Flying Dutchmen scored their fourth straight CYO Basketball League triumph last night on the Cumberland floor by defeating St. Michael's of Frostburg, 42-19.

The loss was the first in two league starts for the Frostburg team. SS. Peter and Paul is unbeaten.

Mike Aaron paced the victors with 10 points. Jimmy Weddle and Jim Evans shared the losers' high total with six apiece.

Two other Catholic Youth League contests, St. Peter's of Oakland at St. Mary's of Cumberland, and St. Frances of Keyser at St. Peter's of Westernport were postponed because of bad highway conditions. The lineups:

Welsh Touchdown Club Award Winner

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — George Welsh of Coaldale, Pa., Navy's fine passing quarterback, today was announced the winner of the Washington Touchdown Club's annual award as this area's outstanding college football player for 1955.

Welsh will receive the Robert B. Smith Memorial Trophy at the club's 21st annual dinner Jan. 7. Ed Hickey, general chairman for the dinner, said the presentation will be made by Eddie Erdelatz, Navy's head coach.

WMI Basketball Loop Opens 36th Year Week From Tonight

Ritchie, Shaw New Coaches; Cavanaugh At Helm 28th Year

The Western Maryland Interscholastic Basketball League which had its inception in 1921 will launch its thirty-sixth annual campaign one week from tonight.

Allegany at Mt. Savage.
Beall at Bruce
Fort Hill at Valley.

The six schools that will play 10 games each are the same as last season but there are two new coaches in the circuit this year. Leonard Ritchie, formerly of Southern High, Oakland, succeeds Augie Eichhorn at Bruce High, Westernport, while Gene Shaw replaces Walter L. Bowers, who gave up the coaching reins at Allegany after 29 consecutive years of service during which period his teams won 19 league titles. Nine of his quints were undefeated in the county circuit.

With the retirement of Bowers, John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh becomes dean of mentors in the league. Coach of seven championship teams, two at Penn Avenue and five at Fort Hill, Major Cavanaugh will mark his 28th consecutive year at the helm of local quints. He made his debut at Penn Avenue in 1929 as successor to Carlos Paisley. In 1932, Cavanaugh introduced football at Penn Avenue, coached the first baseball team there in 1933 and also organized the first swimming team at the South End school.

The other holdover coaches are Edward "Ebbie" Finzel, who has been at Beall High since 1937; John Meyers, Valley High and John Thomas, Mt. Savage.

Beall High is the defending champion, having topped the circuit last season for the first time in 21 years.

Allegany has won 20 of the 35 championships, Fort Hill, five; Beall and Barton, three each; Penn Avenue, two, and Central and LaSalle one each.

Year	Winner	W.	L.
1921 —	Beall	10	2
1922 —	Allegany	9	3
1923 —	Barton	10	0

Good Hunting

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The State Conservation Department says Michigan hunters brought home 8 million dollars worth of meat in 1954. Deer provided most of the game meat—4,671,000 pounds valued at $3,503,325. The department estimated most camp meat at 75 cents a pound, placing the pheasant kill at $1,600,000 and rabbits at $1,400,000.

Mt. Savage To Play LaSalle, Moorefield At Keyser Tonight

Geatz Crew Hosts Indians In Return Go

Yellowjackets PVC Mark In Jeopardy, Alumni Tilts On Tap

The LaSalle Explorers will play host to the Mt. Savage Indians at SS. Peter and Paul gym and Moorefield High's Yellowjackets will invade Keyser for an important PVC engagement in scholastic basketball games on tap tonight.

Six other games carded in the light holiday weekend schedule find alumni aggregations meeting winless cagers journeying to Frostburg to meet the Beall High Jayvees, Sanders High of Moorefield hosts St. Patrick's High of Weston, W. Va., in the other tilt.

Lost To Explorers

Coach George Geatz' Explorers will put a three-game winning skein on the line in tonight's 8 o'clock battle with Mentor John Thomas' Mt. Savage scalpers. Both teams sport 4-1 records with the Indians' only defeat a 63-61 decision lost to LaSalle at Mt. Savage December 16.

In the Potomac Valley Conference battle at Keyser, Coach Jonathan Paugh's Moorefield Jackets will endeavor to protect an unblemished 4-0 conference mark against the Golden Tornado.

Moorefield sports an overall 4-2 mark with its last loss coming at the hands of an Alumni team Tuesday. Keyser, which turned back a strong Elk Garden quint 47-43 in an overtime fray for its only PVC win, also dropped its last outing against Allegany, 77-65 on December 23. The Tornado team, coached by John Shelton, has a 3-1 mark for the season.

Alumni teams, with members home for the holidays, make up the bulk of the remainder of the basketball slate tonight.

Grads will play at Ridgeley, Romney, Valley and at Beall. The Blackhawks of Coach Chet Payne have won their last two outings, including an overtime victory over Fort Hill, and have a 4-1 record for the year.

Win Three In Row

Romney has won three in a row since its only loss to Ridgeley, 67-32, was suffered on December 9. Coach Clyde Green's cagers will be striving for their fifth victory of the campaign against the Alumni.

Coach Johnny Meyers' Valley Black Knights hope to improve a 3-2 seasonal mark and extended a one-game winning streak begun with a 68-51 decision over Southern in its last start December 20.

At Frostburg the Beall Mountaineers will attempt to snap a three-game losing streak against an Alumni outfit. Coach Eddie Finzel's schoolboy five has won only its opener against Meyersdale.

Sanders Seeks Revenge

Sanders High of Moorefield, with a 4-3 mark for the season, seeks revenge against St. Patrick's High after losing at Weston in their opener, 89-55.

ALBUQUERQUE, Dec. 29 (AP) — Dick Clausen, coach for seven years at Coe College in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and 1955 small college "coach of the year," today was named head football coach at the University of New Mexico.

Clausen, 42-year-old split-T formation advocate whose Coe teams have won three midwest conference championships in the past five years, replaces Bob Titchenal, who was fired after his 1955 New Mexico team won two, lost eight.

"Sudden Death" Playoff Spurned In Orange Bowl

Both Coaches Would "Settle For Tie"

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 29 (AP)—The idea of a "sudden death" playoff in the event the Orange Bowl football struggle between Oklahoma and Maryland ends in a deadlock was brought up today—and immediately rejected by both coaches.

Some experts feel that a draw—although not necessarily a scoreless one—is a distinct possibility because of the rocky defenses of both these unbeaten giants.

The coaches, appearing on the stage at the annual Orange Bowl kickoff luncheon, were asked how they felt about a playoff.

"If we tie," said Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson, "I would be happy to stop right there."

"If we can score as much as Oklahoma, we'll be satisfied, echoed Maryland's Jim Tatum. "I'll gladly settle for a tie."

Two years ago, when the teams met in the Orange Bowl under similar circumstances, a slashing defensive duel developed, broken only by Larry Grigg's 26-yard touchdown run that gave Oklahoma a 7-0 decision.

Maryland then was the national champion and Oklahoma was ranked No. 3 in the Associated Press poll. This year, Oklahoma holds the national crown and Maryland is No. 3.

Tatum gambled on injuries by ordering a full-scale scrimmage today and in the early going fullback Fred Hamilton was knocked out.

"At first, we thought he just had the wind knocked out of him," trainer Duke Wyre said, "but he was slow coming around and it looks like he may have some bruised ribs."

Similar injuries caused Hamilton to miss some action during the regular season. He was converted from halfback at the start of the year when Tom Selep, a senior on which Tatum had counted for the fullback post, was eliminated by a knee injury on the first day of practice.

If Hamilton is unable to go against Oklahoma, another converted halfback, sophomore Phil Perlo, will move up.

Wilkinson, who has ordered no scrimmaging at all in Miami workouts, called for only light practice today. He said the drills had been satisfactory and all hands are in good shape.

East-West Game Kicks Off Week-End Bowl Contests

Cassady To Roam In Saturday Tilt

[By The Associated Press]

The brilliant Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, Ohio State's two-time all-America, cuts loose again Saturday to kick off a $3,000,000 weekend of bowl football sure to attract more than half a million fans.

Cassady, individual standout of the 1955 college campaign, will play with Coach Woody Hayes' East squad against West in the shrine game at San Francisco.

This is just one of four Saturday attractions, three of which will be televised, to whet the appetite of the gridiron gourmet for Monday's big bowl clashes from Pasadena to Miami.

Three Others Carded

Also on the new year's eve bill are the Gator Bowl battle at Jacksonville, Fla., between Vanderbilt and Auburn; the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala., and the Salad Bowl at Phoenix, Ariz., between all-star teams of the Skyline and Border Conferences.

Cassady's presence with the Eastern squad has made that group a one touchdown favorite over the West in a game which will be viewed by 61,000 in the flesh and untold numbers on television. NBC is carrying the game on its screens, starting at 5 p.m. (EST).

The Gator Bowl will be televised by CBS. Kickoff is 2 p.m. with Auburn, 16 pounds bigger to the man in the line, a six-point choice over a swift Vanderbilt team which finished the season strong.

The Blues—that is, the Northerners—have been established a one touchdown choice over the Grays at Montgomery where NBC also will televise, starting at 2:30 p.m. There is no national television or radio emanating from the Phoenix fixture.

Most Money At Orange Bowl

The four big bowl games Monday figure to bring in half a million dollars each, with the Rose Bowl at Pasadena drawing the largest flock, 100,000, but the Miami Orange Bowl netting the most money, $515,000.

The Orange Bowl, with an Atlantic Coast-Big Seven tieup, came up smelling sweet. The game pits Oklahoma, the national champion, against Maryland, No. 3 in the Associated Press Poll, with Oklahoma a seven-point favorite.

The Maryland Terrapins hope to avenge a 7-0 setback administered them by the Sooners two years ago in the same Orange Bowl. CBS is televising at 2 p.m.

Vengeance also is a compelling force for UCLA, a seven-point underdog against the Michigan State team which whipped the Bruins at Pasadena in 1954. NBC is televising the Rose Bowl game, jumping from the Cotton Bowl, where Texas Christian and Mississippi have a 2 p.m. date. The west coast game starts at 5 p.m. (EST).

Georgia Tech Is Favored

Texas Christian, with great striking power in All America Jim Swink, rates a seven-point favorite over Mississippi, the Southeastern Conference which hopes to redeem its poor showing against Navy in the Sugar Bowl last January.

The Sugar Bowl came up with an intersectional show involving Georgia Tech, an old bowl standby, and Pittsburgh, a big, rugged team which upset both Duke and West Virginia during the season. Tech is rated a 13 point favorite. ABC is televising.

The post-season program tapers off with three other bowl games Monday—the Sun at El Paso, Tangerine at Orlando and the Prairie View at Houston—, the Senior Bowl at Mobile Jan. 7 and the Pro Bowl at Los Angeles Jan. 15.

Hyndman Edges Alumni, 52-50

Bruce May Scores 30 Points For Grads

HYNDMAN, Pa., Dec. 29 — The Hyndman Hornets, rallying in the second period to take the lead, hung on grimly here tonight to edge an Alumni team, 52-50.

The victory evened the schoolboy basketball team's record at 4-4 for the season.

The Alumni trailed throughout most of the game despite a 30-point effort by former Hyndman star Bruce May. High scorer for the varsity was Ronie Stahlman with 17 markers.

Carl May of the Grads was the only player to foul out of the game, leaving in the fourth quarter.

Hyndman won the game at the foul line after being outscored from the field, 21-17. The Hornets converted 18 of 35 fouls to 8-14 for the Grads. The lineups:

Dutchmen Defeat St. Michael's Cagers, 42 To 19

SS. Peter and Paul's Flying Dutchmen scored their fourth straight CYO Basketball League triumph last night on the Cumberland floor by defeating St. Michael's of Frostburg, 42-19.

The loss was the first in two league starts for the Frostburg team. SS. Peter and Paul is unbeaten.

Mike Aaron paced the victors with 10 points. Jimmy Weddle and Jim Evans shared the losers' high total with six apiece.

Two other Catholic Youth League contests, St. Peter's of Oakland at St. Mary's of Cumberland, and St. Frances of Keyser at St. Peter's of Westernport were postponed because of bad highway conditions. The lineups:

Welsh Touchdown Club Award Winner

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — George Welsh of Coaldale, Pa., Navy's fine passing quarterback, today was announced the winner of the Washington Touchdown Club's annual award as this area's outstanding college football player for 1955.

Welsh will receive the Robert B. Smith Memorial Trophy at the club's 21st annual dinner Jan. 7. Ed Hickey, general chairman for the dinner, said the presentation will be made by Eddie Erdelatz, Navy's head coach.

WMI Basketball Loop Opens 36th Year Week From Tonight

Ritchie, Shaw New Coaches; Cavanaugh At Helm 28th Year

The Western Maryland Interscholastic Basketball League which had its inception in 1921 will launch its thirty - sixth annual campaign one week from tonight.

Opening games are as follows:
Allegany at Mt. Savage.
Beall at Bruce
Fort Hill at Valley.

The six schools that will play 10 games each are the same as last season but there are two new coaches in the circuit this year. Leonard Ritchie, formerly of Southern High, Oakland, succeeds Augie Eichhorn at Bruce High, Westernport, while Gene Shaw replaces Walter L. Bowers, who gave up the coaching reins at Allegany after 29 consecutive years of service during which period his teams won 19 league titles. Nine of his quints were undefeated in the county circuit.

With the retirement of Bowers, John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh becomes dean of mentors in the league. Coach of seven championship teams, two at Penn Avenue and five at Fort Hill, Major Cavanaugh will mark his 28th consecutive year at the helm of local quints. He made his debut at Penn Avenue in 1929 as successor to Carlos Paisley. In 1932, Cavanaugh introduced football at Penn Avenue, coached the first baseball team there in 1933 and also organized the first swimming team at the South End school.

The other holdover coaches are Edward "Ebbie" Finzel, who has been at Beall High since 1937; John Meyers, Valley High and John Thomas, Mt. Savage.

Beall High is the defending champion, having topped the circuit last season for the first time in 21 years.

Allegany has won 20 of the 35 championships, Fort Hill, five; Beall and Barton, three each; Penn Avenue, two, and Central and LaSalle one each.

Here's a list of the past winners and their coaches:

COACH NAMED—Dick Clausen coach for seven years at Coe College at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and 1955 small college "coach of the year" yesterday was named head football coach at the University of New Mexico. Clausen, 43, is a State University of Iowa graduate. He signed a four-year contract for $11,000 annually and will assume his new duties February 1. (AP Photofax).

Good Hunting

LANSING, Mich. (AP — The State Conservation Department says Michigan hunters brought home 8 million dollars worth of meat in 1954. Deer provided most of the game meat—4,671,000 pounds valued at $3,503,325. The department estimated most camp meat at 75 cents a pound, placing the pheasant kill at $1,600,000 and rabbits at $1,400,000.

Hartack Boots Four Winners Home At Miami

Ties Ussery With 29 For Tropical Honors

MIAMI, FLA., Dec. 29 (AP) — Willie Hartack, the nation's leading jockey of 1955, went on another winning binge at Tropical Park today when the sensational 23-year-old lad got his fourth straight success on Bronze Warrior in the featured seventh event.

The four-ply tally gave him 416 for the year and 29 for the current meeting. It also moved him into a tie for the Tropical riding honors with the New England ace, Bobby Ussery, who earlier had kicked home 2 winners, on Get For Home (13.80) in the first, and Nizami Blue, ($7.70) in the third. Ussery is the third leading rider of 1955, behind Hartack and Willie Shoemaker.

Hartack's other winners through the feature, also heavily backed, were Haviland ($3.60) in the fourth; Bold Man ($3.50), in the fifth and Bob Austin, ($6.00) in the sixth. This marked the fourth time here this winter Hartack has ridden four winners in a day, having previously achieved the distinction on Nov. 28, Dec. 5 and Dec. 21.

Bronze Warrior, owned by Sol Rotenberg, of Toronto, Canada, was saddled by Frank H. Merrill, Jr., the nation's top trainer of the year. Merrill and Hartack were the honored guests at a dinner tendered by Gulfstream Park at a Hallandale restaurant last night.

Bronze Warrior was also favored, paying $3.70, $2.80 and $2.30, after winning by 2 lengths from Brachs Admiral. He was claimed out of his last race by Rotenberg from Eugene Mori's East Acre farm for $12,500, highest claim of the current meeting.

Aided by a brisk tailwind through the stretch, Bronze Warrior covered the 5½ furlongs in 1:03 2/5, only one-fifth of a second off the world mark set by Nance's Ace at Tropical Park in 1944. Bold Man also had run it today in the same time.

The duel between Hartack and Ussery has captivated the Gables patrons, and it promises to wax hot and merry through the remainder of the meeting, Jan. 16. Hartack has actually ridden only through less than half the meeting, considering that he served a 10-day suspension earlier and also took off about 6 or 7 days to enjoy some water-skiing at Cypress Gardens.

Trimble To Coach Hamilton Team

HAMILTON, Ont., Dec 29 (AP) — Jim Trimble, fired two weeks ago as coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, has crossed the border to take over as coach of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

The Tiger-Cats are one of the big four of Canadian football and one of the teams which have been battling the professional National Football League for American talent.

Signed last night in New York by Jake Gaudaur, newly-appointed general manager of the Hamilton Club, Trimble is reported receiving between $15,000 and $20,000 on a one-year contract.

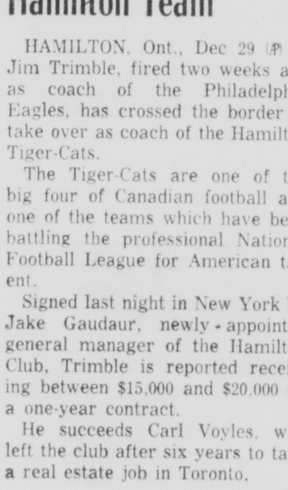

He succeeds Carl Voyles, who left the club after six years to take a real estate job in Toronto.

Chuck Stobbs Signs

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — Chuck Stobbs, 26-year-old left handed pitcher, today became the second Washington Senators ballplayer to sign his contract for 1956.

Stobbs, a native of Norfolk, Va., won four and lost 14 games last season. Two of his victories were over the champion Yankees and another over the runnerup Cleveland Indians.

ROSE BOWL FACTS—Michigan State, playing in its third Bowl game, is favored over U.C.L.A. by seven points. Last meeting was in Rose Bowl in 1953 when Spartans won, 28 to 20. U.C.L.A. is making its fourth Rose Bowl appearance and still hasn't won a post-season game. U.C.L.A. finished the regular season with a 9-1 mark; Michigan State wound up with 8-1. Only common opponent was Stanford. U.C.L.A. won over Stanford by a 21-13 score; the Spartans beat Stanford by a 38-14 margin. (International)

Freeman Paces College Scorers

Robin Has Average 34.4 Points A Game

[By The Associated Press]

Robin Freeman, Ohio State's slight All-America marksman, heads major college basketball shooters for the third straight week but the competition is getting tougher.

The 5-11, 155 pound Buckeye has posted an average of 34.4 per game for seven contests for a three-point margin over Darrell Floyd, Furman's All-America and last season's scoring champion. Figures released by the NCAA's Statistics, Bureau Thursday are based on games played through Dec. 27.

Floyd, a 6-1, 170-pounder has a 31.4 mark. There are two others in the 30 plus bracket, Tom Heinsohn of Holy Cross (30.7) and Dan Swartz, Morehead State (30.6). Dom Flora of Washington and Lee is just under the 30 mark with a 29.3 average.

When it comes to field goal accuracy, the palm goes to Angelo Lombardo of Manhattan. The Jasper from the New York City school has connected at a .640 rate from the field. Right behind him are Joe Holup, George Washington (.620), and Joe Petcavich, George Washington (.600).

Morehead State of Kentucky still is the scoringest team with a formidable 99.1 average. Mississippi is second with 98.7.

Creighton leads the way in defense on its 49.0 average. Xavier of Ohio is second on 51.0 and San Francisco third with 51.9.

The individual scoring leaders:

1. Robin Freeman, Ohio State, 34.4 average; 2. Darrell Floyd, Furman 31.4; 3. Tom Heinsohn, Holy Cross 30.7; 4. Dan Swartz, Morehead State 30.6; 5. Dom Flora, Washington & Lee 29.3; 6. Joe Holup, George Washington 28.8; 7. Julius McCoy, Michigan State 28.0; 8. Rod Hundley, West Virginia 27.2; 9. Bill Ebben, Detroit 27.1; 10. Jack Adams, Eastern Kentucky State 27.0; and 11. Ray Downs, Texas 27.0.

Vinegar Bend Mizell Signed By Cardinals

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 29 (AP) — The signing of lefthander Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell was announced today by the St. Louis Cardinals, and General Manager Frank Lane put a half-million-dollar estimate on his value.

The fireball pitcher, in the Army for the past two years, was signed by Lane in Cuba where he is pitching for Havana in the Cuban Winter League.

Lane cabled the Cardinal office he feels the return of the 6-3 Mizell might be just what the shaky pitching staff needs.

Mizell ran his season strikeout total in Cuba to 136 last Sunday, setting a new record for the league. He averaged seven strikeouts per game for the Cardinals in 1952 and 53.

Basilio, Sugar Ray Bout Seen

September Garden Match Is Planned

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP) — Away off in the distant future, say September at Yankee Stadium, a Sugar Ray Robinson - Carmen Basilio match is hanging in the sky.

Many pieces of a complicated puzzle must fall into place before it comes to pass but there's a chance of a battle that would attract world-wide attention.

"We're looking toward a Basilio match outdoors," said Ernie Bracca, Robinson's co-manager, today as he discussed the future of the three-time middleweight champ.

"We're anxious to get the rematch with Bobo Olson over as soon as possible," he said. "It's good news to hear they (Olson and Manager Sid Flaherty) are going to take up the option. The date isn't definite but they tell us the tentative date is Feb. 24 at San Francisco."

Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, said any talk of such a match was "pretty far in the future." He said it had been discussed briefly, only because it had been mentioned but there was nothing concrete.

"Basilio has a pretty tough fight coming up when he defends his welterweight title against Johnny Saxton," he said. "That's no cinch for him. The Basilio-Saxton bout is tentatively set for Chicago, Feb. 22 or Feb. 29) and Robinson must show he can do it again against Olson."

Bracca said Robinson would go to training camp at Greenwood Lake, N.Y. Jan. 8 to get ready for the Olson match now that Flaherty has decided to send Bobo back after the title.

Babe Is Reported To Be "Doing Fine"

GALVESTON, Tex., Dec. 29 (AP) — America's most reknown woman athlete, Babe Zaharias, was reported "doing fine" today after being stricken with pneumonia.

The Babe said she probably became chilled while posing out of doors for television cameramen in Fort Worth Monday. She was in Fort Worth for a weekend visit from here, where she is undergoing x-ray treatment for pains in her leg and hip.

A John Sealy Hospital attendant said the Babe ate a hearty breakfast and was reportedly feeling much better than yesterday.

Karen Receives Her Gift Horse

8-Year-Old Chestnut Presented By Bank

GREENWICH, Conn., Dec. 29 (AP) —Karen Ann McGuire, 12, whose bid for Nashua fell $1,250,976.97 short of the price commanded by the star performer of the Belair stud, got a horse today, anyway.

Starry-eyed but mute in her happiness, the pretty girl from Valhalla, N.Y., was formally presented with an 8-year-old chestnut gelding at the Round Hill Club stables, and she didn't have to part with the $23.03 she was willing to pay for Nashua.

The horse, named by Karen Hanover's Wishing Star, was a gift of the Hanover Bank of New York which handled the auction sale of Nashua and other thoroughbreds in the estate of the late William Woodward Jr.

Nashua went to a syndicate which submitted the high bid of $1,251,000, but the bank was so impressed by Karen's offer—all the money she had—and the accompanying letter which expressed her lifelong love of horses that it decided to present her with one.

Douglas L. McGuire, assistant district attorney for Westchester County, N.Y., couldn't come to Greenwich to watch the presentation but Mrs. McGuire looked on proudly.

Hartack Boots Four Winners Home At Miami

Ties Ussery With 29 For Tropical Honors

MIAMI, FLA., Dec. 29 (AP) — Willie Hartack, the nation's leading jockey of 1955, went on another winning binge at Tropical Park today when the sensational 23-year-old lad got his fourth straight success on Bronze Warrior in the featured seventh event.

The four-ply tally gave him 416 for the year and 29 for the current meeting. It also moved him into a tie for the Tropical riding honors with the New England ace, Bobby Ussery, who earlier had kicked home 2 winners, on Get For Home (13.80) in the first, and Nizami Blue, ($7.70) in the third. Ussery is the third leading rider of 1955, behind Hartack and Willie Shoemaker.

Hartack's other winners through the feature, also heavily backed, were Haviland ($3.60) in the fourth; Bold Man ($3.50), in the fifth and Bob Austin, ($6.00) in the sixth. This marked the fourth time here this winter Hartack has ridden four winners in a day, having previously achieved the distinction on Nov. 28, Dec. 5 and Dec. 21.

Bronze Warrior, owned by Sol Rotenberg, of Toronto, Canada, was saddled by Frank H. Merrill, Jr., the nation's top trainer of the year. Merrill and Hartack were the honored guests at a dinner tendered by Gulfstream Park at a Hallandale restaurant last night.

Bronze Warrior was also favored, paying $3.70, $2.80 and $2.30, after winning by 2 lengths from Brachs Admiral. He was claimed out of his last race by Rotenberg from Eugene Mori's East Acre farm for $12,500, highest claim of the current meeting.

Aided by a brisk tailwind through the stretch, Bronze Warrior covered the 5½ furlongs in 1:03 2/5, only one-fifth of a second off the world mark set by Nance's Ace at Tropical Park in 1944. Bold Man also had run it today in the same time.

The duel between Hartack and Ussery has captivated the Gables patrons, and it promises to wax hot and merry through the remainder of the meeting, Jan. 16. Hartack has actually ridden only through less than half the meeting, considering that he served a 10-day suspension earlier and also took off about 6 or 7 days to enjoy some water-skiing at Cypress Gardens.

Trimble To Coach Hamilton Team

HAMILTON, Ont., Dec 29 (AP) — Jim Trimble, fired two weeks ago as coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, has crossed the border to take over as coach of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

The Tiger-Cats are one of the big four of Canadian football and one of the teams which have been battling the professional National Football League for American talent.

Signed last night in New York by Jake Gaudaur, newly-appointed general manager of the Hamilton Club, Trimble is reported receiving between $15,000 and $20,000 on a one-year contract.

He succeeds Carl Voyles, who left the club after six years to take a real estate job in Toronto.

Chuck Stobbs Signs

Stobbs, a native of Norfolk, Va., won four and lost 14 games last season. Two of his victories were over the champion Yankees and another over the runnerup Cleveland Indians.

ROSE BOWL FACTS—Michigan State, playing in its third Bowl game, is favored over U.C.L.A. by seven points. Last meeting was in Rose Bowl in 1953 when Spartans won, 28 to 20. U.C.L.A. is making its fourth Rose Bowl appearance and still hasn't won a post-season game. U.C.L.A. finished the regular season with a 9-1 mark; Michigan State wound up with 8-1. Only common opponent was Stanford. U.C.L.A. won over Stanford by a 21-13 score; the Spartans beat Stanford by a 38-14 margin. (International)

Freeman Paces College Scorers

Robin Has Average 34.4 Points A Game

[By The Associated Press]

Robin Freeman, Ohio State's slight All-America marksman, heads major college basketball shooters for the third straight week but the competition is getting tougher.

The 5-11, 155 pound Buckeye has posted an average of 34.4 per game for seven contests for a three-point margin over Darrell Floyd, Furman's All-America and last season's scoring champion. Figures released by the NCAA's Statistics, Bureau Thursday are based on games played through Dec. 27.

Floyd, a 6-1, 170-pounder has a 31.4 mark. There are two others in the 30 plus bracket, Tom Heinsohn of Holy Cross (30.7) and Dan Swartz, Morehead State (30.6) Dom Flora of Washington and Lee is just under the 30 mark with a 29.3 average.

When it comes to field goal accuracy, the palm goes to Angelo Lombardo of Manhattan. The Jasper from the New York City school has connected at a .640 rate from the field. Right behind him are Joe Holup, George Washington (.620), and Joe Petcavich, George Washington (.600).

Morehead State of Kentucky still is the scoringest team with a formidable 99.1 average. Mississippi is second with 98.7.

Creighton leads the way in defense on its 49.0 average. Xavier of Ohio is second on 51.0 and San Francisco third with 51.9.

The individual scoring leaders: 1. Robin Freeman, Ohio State, 34.4 average; 2. Darrell Floyd, Furman 31.4; 3. Tom Heinsohn, Holy Cross 30.7; 4. Dan Swartz, Morehead State 30.6; 5. Dom Flora, Washington & Lee 29.3; 6. Joe Holup, George Washington 28.8; 7. Julius McCoy, Michigan State 28.0; 8. Rod Hundley, West Virginia 27.2; 9. Bill Ebben, Detroit 27.1; 10. Jack Adams, Eastern Kentucky State 27.0; and 11. Ray Downs, Texas 27.0.

Vinegar Bend Mizell Signed By Cardinals

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 29 (AP) — The signing of letthander Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell was announced today by the St. Louis Cardinals, and General Manager Frank Lane put a half-million-dollar estimate on his value.

The fireball pitcher, in the Army for the past two years, was signed by Lane in Cuba where he is pitching for Havana in the Cuban Winter League.

Lane cabled the Cardinal office he feels the return of the 6-3 Mizell might be just what the shaky pitching staff needs.

Mizell ran his season strikeout total in Cuba to 136 last Sunday, setting a new record for the league. He averaged seven strikeouts per game for the Cardinals in 1952 and 53.

Basilio, Sugar Ray Bout Seen

September Garden Match Is Planned

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP) — Away off in the distant future, say September at Yankee Stadium, a Sugar Ray Robinson - Carmen Basilio match is hanging in the sky.

Many pieces of a complicated puzzle must fall into place before it comes to pass but there's a chance of a battle that would attract world-wide attention.

"We're looking toward a Basilio match outdoors," said Ernie Bracca, Robinson's co-manager, today as he discussed the future of the three-time middleweight champ.

"We're anxious to get the rematch with Bobo Olson over as soon as possible," he said. "It's good news to hear they (Olson and Manager Sid Flaherty) are going to take up the option. The date isn't definite but they tell us the tentative date is Feb. 24 at San Francisco."

Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, said any talk of such a match was "pretty far in the future." He said it had been discussed briefly, only because it had been mentioned but there was nothing concrete.

"Basilio has a pretty tough fight coming up when he defends his welterweight title against Johnny Saxton," he said. "That's no cinch for him. The Basilio-Saxton bout is tentatively set for Chicago, Feb. 22 or Feb. 29) and Robinson must show he can do it again against Olson."

Bracca said Robinson would go to training camp at Greenwood Lake, N.Y. Jan. 8 to get ready for the Olson match now that Flaherty has decided to send Bobo back after the title.

Babe Is Reported To Be "Doing Fine"

GALVESTON, Tex., Dec. 29 (AP) — America's most reknown woman athlete, Babe Zaharias, was reported "doing fine" today after being stricken with pneumonia.

The Babe said she probably became chilled while posing out of doors for television cameramen in Fort Worth Monday. She was in Fort Worth for a weekend visit from here, where she is undergoing x-ray treatment for pains in her leg and hip.

A John Sealy Hospital attendant said the Babe ate a hearty breakfast and was reportedly feeling much better than yesterday.

Karen Receives Her Gift Horse

8-Year-Old Chestnut Presented By Bank

GREENWICH, Conn., Dec. 29 (AP) —Karen Ann McGuire, 12, whose bid for Nashua fell $1,250,976.97 short of the price commanded by the star performer of the Belair stud, got a horse today, anyway.

Starry-eyed but mute in her happiness, the pretty girl from Valhalla, N.Y., was formally presented with an 8-year-old chestnut gelding at the Round Hill Club stables, and she didn't have to part with the $23.03 she was willing to pay for Nashua.

The horse, named by Karen Hanover's Wishing Star, was a gift of the Hanover Bank of New York which handled the auction sale of Nashua and other thoroughbreds in the estate of the late William Woodward Jr.

Nashua went to a syndicate which submitted the high bid of $1,251,000, but the bank was so impressed by Karen's offer—all the money she had—and the accompanying letter which expressed her lifelong love of horses that it decided to present her with one.

Douglas L. McGuire, assistant district attorney for Westchester County, N.Y., couldn't come to Greenwich to watch the presentation but Mrs. McGuire looked on proudly.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

I Resolve——

With the beginning of the New Year, a great many of us become somewhat conscious of our daily habits and behavior, and in penance resolve to mend our ways—to improve ourselves. Once a year we can sort of "clean house," as it were. The resolves, projected by an inner spring which wells up, should make us realize that we aren't making the most of ourselves or living according to our capacities.

Are you satisfied with yourself? Are you the woman you think you are . . . or, the woman others think you are? These are questions that a charmer should survey. For you may consider yourself a paragon of right doing, although your behavior may give an entirely false impression . . . and so lower your charm quotient in the eyes of others.

The graph below lists the golden keys to a beloved personality. Fill in the estimate of your own qualities . . . then mark yourself excellent, good, fair, or poor; and do it honestly. You can see where you are lacking . . . make up discrepancies and when you do say, "I resolve to do better" . . . then your beautiful and charming life really begins.

Prices In Stock Market Cut Back By Late Selling

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP) — Late selling cut prices down in the Stock Market today.

A high degree of irregularity marked the course of trading. There was a mixed start, a swing ahead of a minor nature, and then late selling that cut back many prices.

Railroads were in a weak position and major rubber shares were down, but the majority of the principal divisions were actually mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks today dropped back 30 cents at $179.10. The record high of $181.50 was set last Sept. 23. It was matched the early part of this month, but no new high has been set.

There were 1,170 individual issues traded of which 389 were up and 527 down. Twenty-three stocks hit new highs for the year and 11 were at new lows.

Volume picked up a little at 2,190,000 shares as compared with 1,990,000 shares traded yesterday.

General Motors was the most active stock in the list up ⅜ at 46 on 47,900 shares, and it was followed by Sperry Rand off 1 at 26¾. Electric & Musical Industries up ⅛ at 4½, Libby McNeill & Libby up ⅝ at 16¾, and Txl Oil up ⅞ at 32⅜.

Music Appreciation Society Planning More Concerts

The Music Appreciation Society of Cumberland, which held a Christmas concert Wednesday night at SS. Peter and Paul Hall, plans additional concerts January 26, February 9 and 23, March 8 and 22, and April 5.

Season tickets are available. The local church hall is the first hall in the United States wired and equipped for the new binaural-stereophonic sound system which gives a three dimensional effect in reproduction.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

I Resolve——

With the beginning of the New Year, a great many of us become somewhat conscious of our daily habits and behavior, and in penance resolve to mend our ways—to improve ourselves. Once a year we can sort of "clean house," as it were. The resolves, projected by an inner spring which wells up, should make us realize that we aren't making the most of ourselves or living according to our capacities.

Are you satisfied with yourself? Are you the woman you think you are . . . or, the woman others think you are? These are questions that a charmer should survey. For you may consider yourself a paragon of right doing, although your behavior may give an entirely false impression . . . and so lower your charm quotient in the eyes of others.

The graph below lists the golden keys to a beloved personality. Fill in the estimate of your own qualities . . . then mark yourself excellent, good, fair, or poor; and do it honestly. You can see where you are lacking . . . make up discrepancies and when you do say, "I resolve to do better" . . . then your beautiful and charming life really begins.

Your New Year's Personality Appraisal

What about my Self-control .....

Tomorrow—Your happiness in the year ahead.

TEN SECRETS OF CHARM

You are welcome, free of charge, to the reminder card, TEN SECRETS OF CHARM. It lists ten points to remember as milestones along the road to greater charm. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed return envelope.

Prices In Stock Market Cut Back By Late Selling

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP) — Late selling cut prices down in the Stock Market today.

A high degree of irregularity marked the course of trading. There was a mixed start, a swing ahead of a minor nature, and then late selling that cut back many prices.

Railroads were in a weak position and major rubber shares were down, but the majority of the principal divisions were actually mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks today dropped back 30 cents at $179.10. The record high of $181.50 was set last Sept. 23. It was matched the early part of this month, but no new high has been set.

There were 1,170 individual issues traded of which 389 were up and 527 down. Twenty-three stocks hit new highs for the year and 11 were at new lows.

Volume picked up a little at 2,190,000 shares as compared with 1,990,000 shares traded yesterday.

General Motors was the most active stock in the list up ⅝ at 46 on 47,900 shares, and it was followed by Sperry Rand off 1 at 26¾. Electric & Musical Industries up ⅛ at 4½. Libby McNeill & Libby up ⅝ at 16¾, and Txl Oil up ⅞ at 32⅜.

Music Appreciation Society Planning More Concerts

The Music Appreciation Society of Cumberland, which held a Christmas concert Wednesday night at SS. Peter and Paul Hall, plans additional concerts January 26, February 9 and 23, March 8 and 22, and April 5.

Season tickets are available. The local church hall is the first hall in the United States wired and equipped for the new binaural-stereophonic sound system which gives a three dimensional effect in reproduction.

N. Y. Eggs And Butter

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP)—(USDA)—Wholesale egg prices were steady to firm today. Receipts 19,725.

Nearby whites: Top quality (48-50 lbs) 63-65; mediums 60-62; smalls 49½-50.

Baked Cereal Yeast Bread Family Treat

Treat your family to fresh, baked cereal yeast bread. The tantalizing smell of spicy cinnamon and yeast during baking will bring your family on the run—begging a taste even before the bread has cooled. The satisfying taste of a slice of fresh baked bread and butter is hard to surpass.

Yeast breads are not hard to make. They take time but dovetail so easily with other household activities, especially ironing. Most homemakers are surprised when they find out how easy it is to make yeast breads. The directions below look complicated. In reality they are simple to follow—each step is explained in detail. However, to insure success, the directions must be followed accurately.

Breakfast cereals are excellent additions as an ingredient in muffins, breads, cookies, pie crusts, desserts, meat loaves or candy recipes. They are inexpensive, add variety, interest, flavor and texture. Cereals make important contributions of protein, the B-complex vitamins, minerals, and food energy.

Toasted Cinnamon Swirl Whole Wheat Bread makes an interesting variation for the bread serving in a basic breakfast of fruit cereal, milk, bread and butter. Doctors and dietitians recommend this kind of basic breakfast which provides one-fourth of the daily nutritional requirements.

Wintertime is yeast breadtime. Try Cinnamon Swirl Whole Wheat Bread the next time you want to perk up an inexpensive meal. Cereal breads add interest and variety when served at breakfast, lunch, dinner or as a snack.

Cinnamon Swirl Whole Wheat Bread

1 cup hot whole wheat cereal; uncooked; ⅓ cup brown sugar; ½ teaspoon salt; 2 tablespoons fat; 1 package active dry yeast*; ¼ cup lukewarm water; 5½ cups all-purpose flour; ¾ teaspoon cinnamon 1¼ cups seedless raisins.

Filling

6 tablespoons melted butter or margarine; ⅔ cup sugar; 2 teaspoons cinnamon.

*One cake compressed yeast may be substituted, if desired.

Cook cereal according to directions on package (should measure about 4 cups after cooking). While hot, add sugar, salt, and fat. Cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in water. Combine flour and cinnamon; sift. Combine cooled cereal, yeast, dry ingredients and raisins. Turn on floured pastry cloth. Knead 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl. Grease top of dough and cover. Place in warm, draftless spot to rise. Punch dough down when it has doubled in bulk. Cover and let double in bulk a second time. Cut dough in half. Place on floured pastry cloth. Roll each piece of dough into a rectangle 9 inches wide by 15 inches long. Spread each piece of dough with 3 tablespoons butter or margarine. Mix sugar and cinnamon together thoroughly. Sprinkle half of sugar mixture evenly over each piece of dough. Roll dough, jelly roll fashion, to form a loaf 9 inches long. Press loaf down firmly into a greased bread pan (9" x 5" x 2¾"). Cover. Let rise until double in bulk. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) until done about 60 minutes. Makes two loaves.

Barbecued Cereal Meat Loaves

Barbecued cereal meat loves will give a lift to the homemaker who is trying to balance the budget. Cold weather calls for hearty fare. Thrifty cereal meat loaves are both inexpensive and filling.

Busy homemakers like the speed and ease of preparing cereal meat loaves. Simply pour the cereal from the box. It's ready to use—no bread to cube or white sauce to prepare. Breakfast cereals add valuable nutrients to a meat loaf—protein, the B-complex vitamins, minerals, and food energy.

The barbecue flavor is so easy to add to the basic meat loaf recipe. Merely heat together the ingredients for the topping, pour over the loaves and bake. What could be an easier or quicker way to add a "new" taste to an old-time favorite?

Barbecued Cereal Meat Loaves

1 egg, beaten
½ cup farina, plain or malt flavored, uncooked*
1½ pounds ground beef
½ pound ground pork
¼ cup chopped onion
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1¼ cups water or milk

Topping

½ cup catsup
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
2 drops tabasco sauce
1 teaspoon chili sauce
¼ cup chopped onion

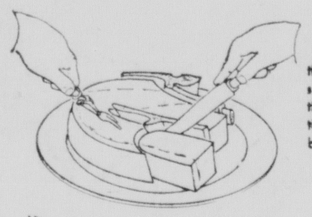

Mix together thoroughly all ingredients for the topping. Shape the mixture [illegible] loaves. Place the loaves a few inches apart in a shallow, greased baking pan. Heat together the ingredients for the topping. Pour over loaves and bake in moderate oven (350°-375°F.) for 1 hour. Yield: 8 servings.

* ½ cup hot whole wheat cereal, uncooked, may be used in place of the farina, plain or malt flavored.

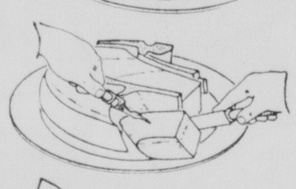

CARVING MEAT CUTS

Blade Pot-Roast

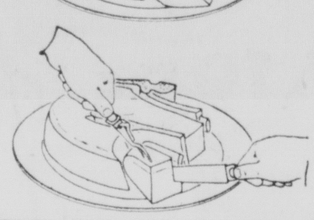

The blade pot-roast contains at least part of one rib and a portion of the blade bone. The long cooking process softens the tissues attached to the bones; therefore, the bone can be slipped out easily before the pot-roast is placed on the table.

Hold the pot-roast firmly with the fork inserted at the left and separate a section by running the knife between two muscles, then close to the bone, if the bone has not been removed.

Turn the section just separated so that the grain of the meat is parallel with the platter. This enables you to cut the slices across the grain of the meat.

Hold the piece with the fork, cut slices of one-fourth to three-eighths of an inch thick.

Separate the remaining sections of the pot-roast; note the direction of the meat fibers and carve across the grain.

Serve two to three slices to each person depending upon the size.

Skillet Toasted Almonds And Rice

Here's a mighty tasty dish to serve as a vegetable with any meat or fowl! It's easy to fix so be sure to keep the recipe handy for your next "hurry-up" meal.

Broiled Chicken

SKILLET TOASTED ALMONDS AND RICE

Buttered Corn
Buttered Broccoli
Tossed Vegetable Salad Dressing
Hot Rolls Butter
Mincemeat

INGREDIENTS:

¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup blanched almonds
1 cup uncooked white rice
½ cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped green pepper
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
2½ cups water

METHOD: Melt the butter or margarine in a skillet or large saucepan. Add almonds which have been blanched by putting them in hot water until the skins slip off. Add the rice and onion. Cook, stirring, until the rice is brown and the onions are tender and yellow. Keep the heat medium to low in order that the butter or margarine does not brown or burn. Add the green pepper, salt, black pepper and water. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid and leave over this low heat for 20 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave lid on until you are ready to serve.

This recipe makes 7 servings.

Chilled canned apple-berry sauce sprinkled with shredded coconut makes a delicious dessert and a no-trouble one.

Celebrations On New Year's Eve Planned

New Year's Eve in Cumberland this year will be merry and noisy with many fun-seekers winding up with empty wallets.

Local residents who "ring out the old and ring in the new" this Saturday night will find entertainment provided by most service and fraternal organizations, with prices ranging from "open house" to $12.10.

Some organizations and all bars will have a "no cover, no minimum" charge, while some of the clubs will tack on an admission fee for the added New Year's Eve festivities.

The most expensive will be at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club where the price will range from $9.90 for members to $12.10 for non-members. The admission tab does not include a floor show, but covers the cost of breakfast and includes the entertainment of the Felix Foote orchestra.

The Shrine Country Club, like all other organizations, will provide noise makers and hats to add to the gala affair. J. W. Rexrode, manager of the club, is in charge of arrangements.

The Cumberland Country Club, always a popular place on New Year's Eve, will feature a dance with music by Peck Mills' newly organized orchestra. No floor show will be presented, but the $9.50 admission will include a breakfast. The admission is the lowest in the past several years at the club.

Cumberland Aerie 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, has also made plans for a New Year's Eve dance. The admission price will run $3 per couple, with music by The Hi-Notes.

John W. Shober, chairman, said the usual novelties will be provided by the club, and admission will be on a "first come, first serve" basis. The affair is open to members and friends.

Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus, will celebrate the holiday in the council ball room with a dance. Ray Wempe, chairman, said admission will be $5 per couple for members and friends.

The local Knights are taking reservations, and music will be provided by the John Ritchey orchestra. Hats, horns, noise-makers and favors will be distributed, Wempe said.

The Cumberland Elks Lodge will hold a formal dance on New Year's Eve for members only.

Roy Knotts, chairman, said admission will be $6 per couple, and music will be provided by Roy Knotts and his orchestra. Noise-makers and hats will be distributed.

Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, has scheduled a party and dance for members and friends. William Claar, chairman, said the affair will be on a "first come, first serve" basis, and no admission will be charged. Members of the Legion will add to the celebration by putting on a floor show at intermission.

In Frostburg three clubs are planning dances, another has scheduled a party for members only, and still another is going to pass the holiday without any scheduled event.

Frostburg Council 1441, Knights of Columbus, will hold its annual New Year's Eve dance, at the Council Home. Music will be provided by the Joe Schupfer orchestra, and the admission price has been set at $3.50 per couple.

Farrady Post 24, American Legion, and the Frostburg Moose Lodge will hold their regular Saturday night dances, but have not scheduled any special affair for the last day of 1955. No admission will be charged at either lodge home.

The Frostburg Elks and Young Men's Republican Club won't hold dances Saturday, but the Elks have scheduled a party for members only. The party will feature a floor show.

The Republican Club will not have a special program.

The youth of Cumberland will not be denied a New Year's Eve dance, as "Teenland" in the recreation hall of Centre Street Methodist Church will have a informal dance at 8 p. m. for teenagers in the Ninth Grade or above.

Members of the church's recreation committee emphasized that it is not necessary to have dates to attend this dance.

Other churches have also scheduled dances for the youngsters, and the Cumberland Country Club got the jump on the others by holding its "Junior Dance" last night.

While many people will be fun-making and first footing a lot of the residents of Cumberland will close the year going to church services.

B'er Chayim Plans Homecoming Service

A homecoming service for college students here for the mid-winter vacation will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in B'er Chayim Synagogue.

The ritual for blessing the Sabbath candles will be conducted by Ferne Kaplon. Services will be conducted by Howard Mendelsohn, George Eskin and Arthur Lazarus.

The Kiddush, or blessing over wine, will be sung by Eskin. Bernard Beerman will give the sermon on the subject, "Judaism on the College Campus."

Strawberry Coffee Cake Ring Even In January

Thanks to fresh frozen foods like strawberries, you can have "June in January" and even at the holidays. Housewives are no longer tied to the season when it comes to meal planning.

An easy and different quick bread made with delicious fresh frozen strawberries is this new Strawberry Coffee Cake Ring. It's so colorful and looks very festive for any occasion. It's good for family brunch on the day that starts too late for breakfast and can't wait for dinner. It's equally as good when served as the center of attraction for guest-time in the evening.

For evenings when the younger crowd "invades" your home, please them with the Strawberry Ring and mugs full of eggnog, topped with whipped cream and decorated with peppermint candy.

Strawberry Coffee Cake Ring

1 pound package frozen sliced strawberries, thawed
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg
¾ cup milk
2 cups biscuit mix

Drain thawed starwberries. Boil juice and ½ cup sugar together about 15 minutes or until syrupy. Poul syrup into well greased 9" ring mold. Mix sugar, egg and milk until well blended. Add biscuit mix and stir just until moistened (batter will be lumpy). Fold drained strawberries carefully into batter. Spoon batter into ring mold. Bake at 400° F. for 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 16 slices.

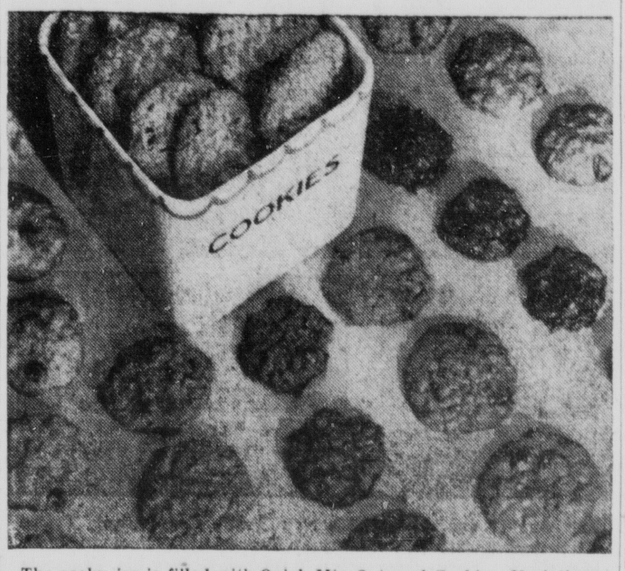

Scrambled Eggs Confetti

4 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup milk
1 tablespoon diced green pepper
1 tablespoon diced pimento
2 tablespoons butter
½cup cottage cheese

Beat eggs until blended. Stir in salt, pepper, milk, green pepper and pimiento. Melt butter in a fry pan over low heat, pour in egg mixture. When mixture begins to set on bottom and sides, lift cooked eggs with a spoon and turn over. Continue lifting and turning until eggs are cooked evenly. Stir in cottage cheese and serve at once. Makes 3 servings.

John C. Fremont, the explorer, gave the name Golden Gate to the San Francisco bay.

Oatmeal Cooky Recipe Six Tempting Variations

Oatmeal cookies rate high priority on homemaker's lists of cooky favorites. Old and young alike enjoy the crisp, crunchy texture and full-flavored taste of oatmeal cookies.

This basic Quick Mix Oatmeal Cooky recipe is inexpensive to make. Oatmeal cookies are so useful—ideal for lunch boxes, simple-desserts, after school or bedtime snacks. There are few desserts which satisfy the desire for something sweet with taste appeal and at the same time add so many wholesome nutrients to the diet. Oatmeal cookies add protein, the B-complex vitamins, minerals and food energy. One 2½ inch cooky contains only 66 caloris.

Mincemeat cookies offer an ideal way to use packaged mincemeat. Applesauce added to the basic oatmeal recipe gives a new flavor with a softer texture. Young children especially will be pleased with the varicolored gumdrop cooky. Chocolate and orange team together in the Orange Polka Dot variation. Orange and raisin make another good combination. Chocolate and nuts are always popular. Either quick or regular rolled oats can be used in these recipes.

QUICK MIX OATMEAL
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup fat (at room temperature)
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup granulated sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons milk
1½ cups quick or regular rolled oats, uncooked

Sift together flour, soda and salt into bowl. Add fat, sugars, egg, vanilla, and milk. Beat until smooth, about 2 minutes. Fold in rolled oats. Drop from a teaspoon onto greased baking sheet and bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: 3½ dozen cookies.

VARIATIONS:

1. Orange Polka Dot Oatmeal Cookies

Follow recipe for Quick Mix Oatmeal Cookies and increase vanilla to 1 teaspoon; substitute ⅓ cup orange juice for 2 tablespoons milk, and add 1 tablespoon grated orange rind and ½ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) until done, 8 to 10 minutes.

2. Gumdrop Oatmeal Cookies

Follow recipe for Quick Mix Oatmeal Cookies. Increase vanilla to 1 teaspoon and add ¾ cup finely cut mixed spiced gumdrops. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) until done, 12 to 15 minutes.

3. Mincement Oatmeal Cookies

Follow recipe for Quick Mix Oatmeal Cookies. Omit granulated sugar, vanilla, and milk. Add 1 cup prepared mincemeat. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) until done, 8 to 10 minutes.

4. Applesauce Oatmeal Cookies

Follow recipe for Quick Mix Oatmeal Cookies. Increase sifted all-purpose flour to 1½ cups. Add 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, and ½ teaspoon cloves to dry ingredients. Sift once. Omit milk and add 1 cup sweetened applesauce and 1 cup seedless raisins. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) until done, 12 to 15 minutes.

5. Choco-Nut Oatmeal Cookies

Follow recipe for Quick Mix Oatmeal Cookies and add 2 squares melted chocolate to fat, sugar, and egg mixture. Beat well. Increase vanilla to 1 teaspoon and milk to 3 tablespoons, and add 1 cup coconut. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) until done, 8 to 10 minutes.

6. Orange Raisin Oatmeal Cookies

Follow recipe for Quick Mix Oatmeal Cookies. Substitute 3 tablespoons orange juice for 2 tablespoons milk. Add 2 tablespoons grated orange rind and 1 cup seedless raisins. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) until done, 12 to 15 minutes.

Holiday Sauce

Fluffy, cloud-light, creamy-smooth Eggnog Sauce Supreme makes heavenly eating for holiday desserts. Here's one sauce that's so quick to make, so richly flavored, it tastes like those fancy French cookery sauces. Spoon it generously over your favorite steaming - hot canned plum or fig pudding. Add a sprinkling of candied fruits for that extra festive air. This brand new, short-cut recipe will be a welcome addition to your party menus all through this holiday season.

Ask your dairy or grocer for commercially prepared eggnog. Keep it in your refrigerator—ready for all holiday entertaining.

EGGNOG SAUCE SUPREME
2 cups commercially prepared eggnog
1 tablespoon cornstarch
½ teaspoon vanilla or rum or brandy extract.

Slowly stir eggnog into cornstarch; blend well. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and boils 1 minute; stir in flavoring. Serve spooned over hot steamed pudding, or chill well and serve as a sauce for fruits or cake squares.

Makes 2 cups sauce.

Strawberry Coffee Cake Ring Even In January

Thanks to fresh frozen foods like strawberries, you can have "June in January" and even at the holidays. Housewives are no longer tied to the season when it comes to meal planning.

An easy and different quick bread made with delicious fresh frozen strawberries is this new Strawberry Coffee Cake Ring. It's so colorful and looks very festive for any occasion. It's good for family brunch on the day that starts too late for breakfast and can't wait for dinner. It's equally as good when served as the center of attraction for guest-time in the evening.

For evenings when the younger crowd "invades" your home, please them with the Strawberry Ring and mugs full of eggnog, topped with whipped cream and decorated with peppermint candy.

Strawberry Coffee Cake Ring

1 pound package frozen sliced strawberries, thawed
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg
¾ cup milk
2 cups biscuit mix

Drain thawed starwberries. Boil juice and ½ cup sugar together about 15 minutes or until syrupy. Poul syrup into well greased 9" ring mold. Mix sugar, egg and milk until well blended. Add biscuit mix and stir just until moistened (batter will be lumpy). Fold drained strawberries carefully into batter. Spoon batter into ring mold. Bake at 400° F. for 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 16 slices.

Scrambled Eggs Confetti

4 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup milk
1 tablespoon diced green pepper
1 tablespoon diced pimento
2 tablespoons butter
½cup cottage cheese

Beat eggs until blended. Stir in salt, pepper, milk, green pepper and pimiento. Melt butter in a fry pan over low heat, pour in egg mixture. When mixture begins to set on bottom and sides, lift cooked eggs with a spoon and turn over. Continue lifting and turning until eggs are cooked evenly. Stir in cottage cheese and serve at once. Makes 3 servings.

John C. Fremont, the explorer, gave the name Golden Gate to the San Francisco bay.

Oatmeal Cooky Recipe Six Tempting Variations

Oatmeal cookies rate high priority on homemaker's lists of cooky favorites. Old and young alike enjoy the crisp, crunchy texture and full-flavored taste of oatmeal cookies.

This basic Quick Mix Oatmeal Cooky recipe is inexpensive to make. Oatmeal cookies are so useful—ideal for lunch boxes, simple-desserts, after school or bedtime snacks. There are few desserts which satisfy the desire for something sweet with taste appeal and at the same time add so many wholesome nutrients to the diet. Oatmeal cookies add protein, the B-complex vitamins, minerals and food energy. One 2½ inch cooky contains only 66 caloris.

Mincemeat cookies offer an ideal way to use packaged mincemeat. Applesauce added to the basic oatmeal recipe gives a new flavor with a softer texture. Young children especially will be pleased with the varicolored gumdrop cooky. Chocolate and orange team together in the Orange Polka Dot variation. Orange and raisin make another good combination. Chocolate and nuts are always popular. Either quick or regular rolled oats can be used in these recipes.

QUICK MIX OATMEAL

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup fat (at room temperature)
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup granulated sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons milk
1½ cups quick or regular rolled oats, uncooked

Sift together flour, soda and salt into bowl. Add fat, sugars, egg, vanilla, and milk. Beat until smooth, about 2 minutes. Fold in rolled oats. Drop from a teaspoon onto greased baking sheet and bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: 3½ dozen cookies.

VARIATIONS:

1. Orange Polka Dot Oatmeal Cookies

Follow recipe for Quick Mix Oatmeal Cookies and increase vanilla to 1 teaspoon; substitute ⅓ cup orange juice for 2 tablespoons milk, and add 1 tablespoon grated orange rind and ½ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) until done, 8 to 10 minutes.

2. Gumdrop Oatmeal Cookies

Follow recipe for Quick Mix Oatmeal Cookies. Increase vanilla to 1 teaspoon and add ¾ cup finely cut mixed spiced gumdrops. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) until done, 12 to 15 minutes.

3. Mincement Oatmeal Cookies

Follow recipe for Quick Mix Oatmeal Cookies. Omit granulated sugar, vanilla, and milk. Add 1 cup prepared mincemeat. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) until done, 8 to 10 minutes.

4. Applesauce Oatmeal Cookies

Follow recipe for Quick Mix Oatmeal Cookies. Increase sifted all-purpose flour to 1½ cups. Add 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, and ½ teaspoon cloves to dry ingredients. Sift once. Omit milk and add 1 cup sweetened applesauce and 1 cup seedless raisins. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) until done, 12 to 15 minutes.

5. Choco-Nut Oatmeal Cookies

Follow recipe for Quick Mix Oatmeal Cookies and add 2 squares melted chocolate to fat, sugar, and egg mixture. Beat well. Increase vanilla to 1 teaspoon and milk to 3 tablespoons, and add 1 cup coconut. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) until done, 8 to 10 minutes.

6. Orange Raisin Oatmeal Cookies

Follow recipe for Quick Mix Oatmeal Cookies. Substitute 3 tablespoons orange juice for 2 tablespoons milk. Add 2 tablespoons grated orange rind and 1 cup seedless raisins. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) until done, 8 to 10 minutes.

Holiday Sauce

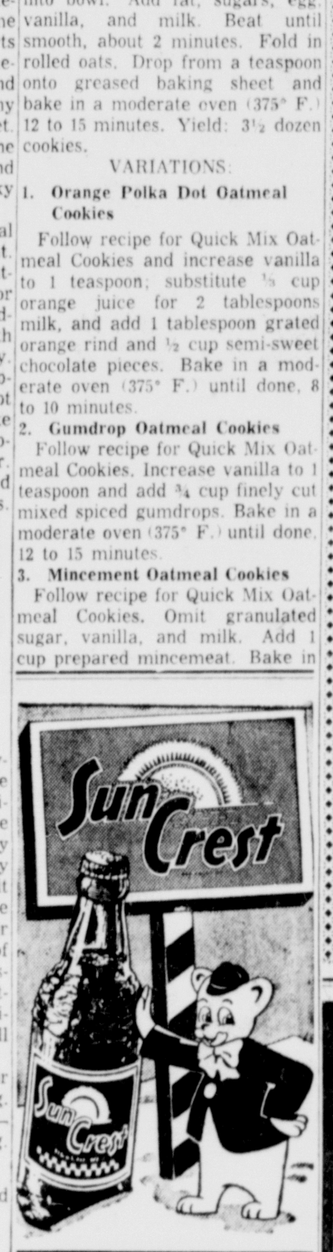

Fluffy, cloud-light, creamy-smooth Eggnog Sauce Supreme makes heavenly eating for holiday desserts. Here's one sauce that's so quick to make, so richly flavored, it tastes like those fancy French cookery sauces. Spoon it generously over your favorite steaming - hot canned plum or fig pudding. Add a sprinkling of candied fruits for that extra festive air. This brand new, short-cut recipe will be a welcome addition to your party menus all through this holiday season.

Ask your dairy or grocer for commercially prepared eggnog. Keep it in your refrigerator—ready for all holiday entertaining.

EGGNOG SAUCE SUPREME

2 cups commercially prepared eggnog
1 tablespoon cornstarch
½ teaspoon vanilla or rum or brandy extract.

Slowly stir eggnog into cornstarch; blend well. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and boils 1 minute; stir in flavoring. Serve spooned over hot steamed pudding, or chill well and serve as a sauce for fruits or cake squares. Makes 2 cups sauce.

GRIN AND BEAR IT By Lichty

"There's been so many cases taken out of our files by television writers that there's not much left except the chief's lunch! . . ."

Surprise Bran Muffins Give Lift To Breakfast

Yes, it takes a little longer to prepare muffins for breakfast, but Surprise Bran Muffins are worth the effort. To save morning time, measure the dry ingredients the night before. Set out the utensils ready for use. The "surprise" is built into the muffins—the center is filled with preserves or marmalade.

Muffins add variety to bread which is part of a basic breakfast pattern of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter recommended by leading doctors and dietitians as an adequate breakfast for good nutrition. This type of breakfast provides one-fourth of the day's nutritional requirements.

There is no need to limit Surprise Bran Muffins to breakfast. They will add color and variety to lunch or dinner. In addition to variety, breakfast cereals when used as an ingredient make a special contribution of protein, the B-complex vitamins, minerals and food energy.

Start the day right tomorrow by serving your family a basic breakfast. Not only will they feel better but they will work better, especially in the late morning hours.

A BASIC BREAKFAST

Orange Juice or Tomato Juice
Ready-to-eat Cereal or Hot Cereal With Milk
Surprise Bran Muffins Butter, Milk, Cocoa or Coffee

SURPRISE BRAN MUFFINS

- 2½ cups whole bran cereal
- ½ cup molasses
- 1½ cups milk
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1⅓ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1½ teaspoon soda
- ⅔ cup apricot preserves or orange marmalade

Soften whole bran cereal in molasses and milk (about 5 minutes). Add egg. Sift together flour, salt, soda. Combine with bran mixture. Stir until dry ingredients are completely moistened. Fill greased muffin plans ⅓ full. Center a rounded teaspoonful of preserves or marmalade on batter. Cover with muffin mixture to the ⅔ level. Bake in a hot oven (400°F.) about 20 minutes. Yield: 15 medium-sized muffins.

Fete Youngsters New Year's

"Consolation Cappers" are a solution for entertaining the youngsters' brigade left at home on New Year's eve. It's only fair that Mom and Dad have a night out to wish the New Year in. . . and naturally they want Sammy and Sue to have a fine time too!

Why not borrow a trick from the child psychologists and plan a small party that the youngsters can "do" themselves. Then with a promise "you can have the house all to yourselves". Mom and Dad can bow out to a party of their own.

The younger set will love being given a chance to prepare their own food. They can do so easily if you stock the freezer with frozen ready-prepared beef dinners. These dinners are ready and waiting in the grocery store freezer. Children enjoy putting foil-covered frozen dinners in the oven "to cook." They thaw and come out bubbling hot after 25 minutes at 450°F.

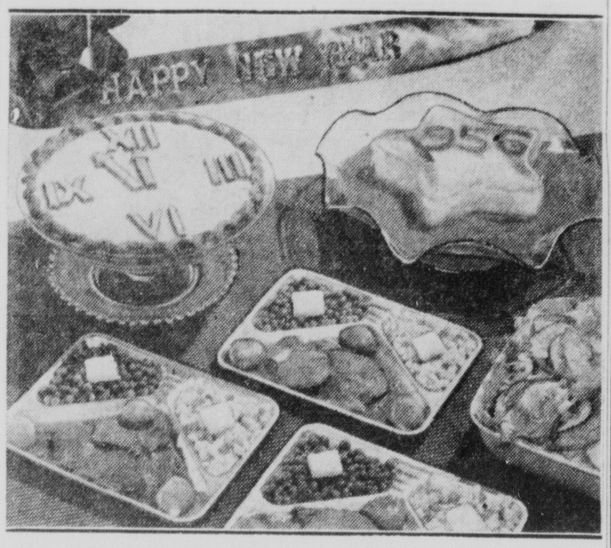

Let the menu be an easy one with "make-ahead" accompaniments for the frozen dinners.

NEW YEAR BUFFET

Juice Punch
Beef Pot Roast Dinners
Holiday Vegetable Salad
Whole Wheat Bread Butter
12 O'Clock Eggnog Pie
Milk

Make Ahead Hints:

Juice Punch: Place cans of juice in refrigerator the day before. Fill star-shaped salad mold with water.

Any number can play at this New Year's Celebration! You're all prepared when you stock your freezer with frozen prepared beef dinners. Serve them with a 12 O'Clock Eggnog Pie, Vegetable Juices in a punch bowl sporting a "1956" ice float, and a crisp Vegetable Salad.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Pork Tenderloin.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It is a long tapering round muscle from the loin section of the hog.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. It may be cooked whole by roasting in a 350° F. oven or by braising, allowing approximately 1 hour for cooking, or it may be cut into individual servings and cooked slowly by braising 30 to 45 minutes.

When ice crystals form almost to top, arrange bright numerals of clear colored paper to form 1956. Continue to freeze. Just before serving, children can pour hot water over mold to release ice star. Float the star in punch bowl of juice.

Holiday Salad: Slice crisp cucumbers, green pepper rings and celery ribs. Tear lettuce to bite-size pieces. Toss together and chill in refrigerator without dressing. Youngsters can drench crisp greens in dressing just before eating.

12 O'Clock Eggnog Pie: Choose your favorite chiffon pie recipe. Instead of vanilla or other flavoring, substitute brandy or rum extract to taste. Add 2 teaspoons nutmeg. Or . . . for a really fast pie filling, pour 4 cups cold milk into mixing bowl. Add 2 packages (3¼-ounce size) no-cooking vanilla pudding mix. Beat with egg beater one minute. Stir in extract and nutmeg. Pour at once into a baked 8-inch pie shell. Let stand 15 minutes before serving. Serve with sweetened whipped cream.

Pie Crust: Mix the dry ingredients of your favorite one-crust recipe. Add 1½ tablespoons sugar and 1½ tablespoons soluable instant coffee. Mix well before adding liquid. Decorate pie with clock numerals and hands cut and baked from crust trimmings.

Apple Sauce a la Mode

Quick, easy and party-like.

- ⅓ cup brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 pt. vanilla ice cream
- ¼ cup coarsely chopped walnuts
- 2½ cups canned apple sauce

Combine sugar, nutmeg, walnuts and apple sauce. Chill. Place an equal amount in four individual serving dishes; top each with vanilla ice cream. Yields 4 servings.

Apple Crisp

Preparation time for this popular dessert cut to less than 10 min.

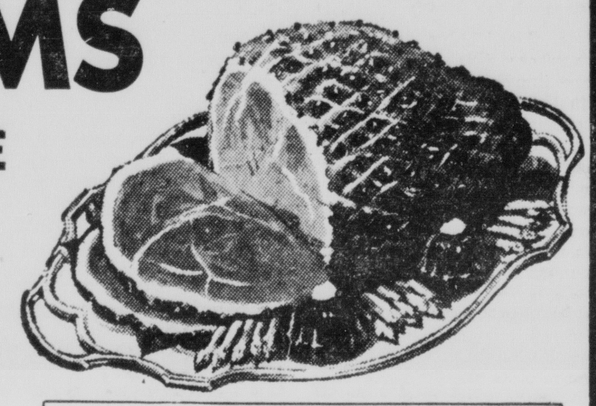

- 2½ cups (1 can) sliced apples
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ¾ cup all-purpose flour
- 6 tablespoons butter
- ¾ cup brown sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¾ teaspoon cinnamon

Place apples in 9" x 9" x 2" pan, reserving several for garnish; sprinkle with lemon juice. Combine flour, brown sugar, salt and cinnamon. Cut in butter with two knives or pastry blender. Sprinkle on apples. Garnish with remaining apple slices and maraschino cherry. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375°F., 30 minutes, or until crumbs are light brown. Serve hot or cold with or without cream. Yields 6 servings.

The average factory production worker in the United States has gross earnings of about $20 a week.

GRIN AND BEAR IT By Lichty

Surprise Bran Muffins Give Lift To Breakfast

Yes, it takes a little longer to prepare muffins for breakfast, but Surprise Bran Muffins are worth the effort. To save morning time, measure the dry ingredients the night before. Set out the utensils ready for use. The "surprise" is built into the muffins—the center is filled with preserves or marmalade.

Muffins add variety to bread which is part of a basic breakfast pattern of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter recommended by leading doctors and dietitians as an adequate breakfast for good nutrition. This type of breakfast provides one-fourth of the day's nutritional requirements.

There is no need to limit Surprise Bran Muffins to breakfast. They will add color and variety to lunch or dinner. In addition to variety, breakfast cereals when used as an ingredient make a special contribution of protein, the B-complex vitamins, minerals and food energy.

Start the day right tomorrow by serving your family a basic breakfast. Not only will they feel better but they will work better, especially in the late morning hours.

A BASIC BREAKFAST

Orange Juice or Tomato Juice
Ready-to-eat Cereal or Hot Cereal With Milk
Surprise Bran Muffins Butter, Milk, Cocoa or Coffee

SURPRISE BRAN MUFFINS

- 2½ cups whole bran cereal
- ½ cup molasses
- 1½ cups milk
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1⅓ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1½ teaspoon soda
- ⅔ cup apricot preserves or orange marmalade

Soften whole bran cereal in molasses and milk (about 5 minutes). Add egg. Sift together flour, salt, soda. Combine with bran mixture. Stir until dry ingredients are completely moistened. Fill greased muffin plans ⅓ full. Center a rounded teaspoonful of preserves or marmalade on batter. Cover with muffin mixture to the ⅔ level. Bake in a hot oven (400°F.) about 20 minutes. Yield: 15 medium-sized muffins.

Fete Youngsters New Year's

"Consolation Cappers" are a solution for entertaining the youngsters' brigade left at home on New Year's eve. It's only fair that Mom and Dad have a night out to wish the New Year in. . . and naturally they want Sammy and Sue to have a fine time too!

Why not borrow a trick from the child psychologists and plan a small party that the youngsters can "do" themselves. Then with a promise "you can have the house all to yourselves". Mom and Dad can bow out to a party of their own.

The younger set will love being given a chance to prepare their own food. They can do so easily if you stock the freezer with frozen ready-prepared beef dinners. These dinners are ready and waiting in the grocery store freezer. Children enjoy putting foil-covered frozen dinners in the oven "to cook." They thaw and come out bubbling hot after 25 minutes at 450°F.

Let the menu be an easy one with "make-ahead" accompaniments for the frozen dinners.

Juice Punch
Beef Pot Roast Dinners
Holiday Vegetable Salad
Whole Wheat Bread Butter
12 O'Clock Eggnog Pie
Milk

Make Ahead Hints:

Juice Punch: Place cans of juice in refrigerator the day before. Fill star-shaped salad mold with water.

Any number can play at this New Year's Celebration! You're all prepared when you stock your freezer with frozen prepared beef dinners. Serve them with a 12 O'Clock Eggnog Pie, Vegetable Juices in a punch bowl sporting a "1956" ice float, and a crisp Vegetable Salad.

When ice crystals form almost to top, arrange bright numerals of clear colored paper to form 1956. Continue to freeze. Just before serving, children can pour hot water over mold to release ice star. Float the star in punch bowl of juice.

Holiday Salad: Slice crisp cucumbers, green pepper rings and celery ribs. Tear lettuce to bite-size pieces. Toss together and chill in refrigerator without dressing. Youngsters can drench crisp greens in dressing just before eating.

12 O'Clock Eggnog Pie: Choose your favorite chiffon pie recipe. Instead of vanilla or other flavoring, substitute brandy or rum extract to taste. Add 2 teaspoons nutmeg. Or . . . for a really fast pie filling, pour 4 cups cold milk into mixing bowl. Add 2 packages (3¼-ounce size) no-cooking vanilla pudding mix. Beat with egg beater one minute. Stir in extract and nutmeg. Pour at once into a baked 8-inch pie shell. Let stand 15 minutes before serving. Serve with sweetened whipped cream.

Pie Crust: Mix the dry ingredients of your favorite one-crust recipe. Add 1½ tablespoons sugar and 1½ tablespoons soluable instant coffee. Mix well before adding liquid. Decorate pie with clock numerals and hands cut and baked from crust trimmings.

Apple Sauce a la Mode

Quick, easy and party-like.

- ⅓ cup brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 pt. vanilla ice cream
- ¼ cup coarsely chopped walnuts
- 2½ cups canned apple sauce

Combine sugar, nutmeg, walnuts and apple sauce. Chill. Place an equal amount in four individual serving dishes; top each with vanilla ice cream. Yields 4 servings.

Apple Crisp

Preparation time for this popular dessert cut to less than 10 min.

- 2½ cups (1 can) sliced apples
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ¾ cup all-purpose flour
- 6 tablespoons butter
- ¾ cup brown sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¾ teaspoon cinnamon

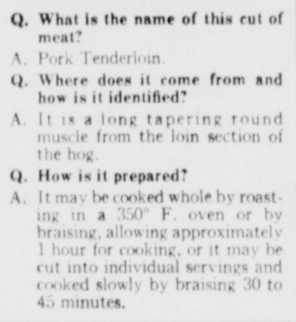

Place apples in 9" x 9" x 2" pan, reserving several for garnish; sprinkle with lemon juice. Combine flour, brown sugar, salt and cinnamon. Cut in butter with two knives or pastry blender. Sprinkle on apples. Garnish with remaining apple slices and maraschino cherry. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375°F., 30 minutes, or until crumbs are light brown. Serve hot or cold with or without cream. Yields 6 servings.

The average factory production worker in the United States has gross earnings of about $20 a week.

MEAT COOKERY Quiz

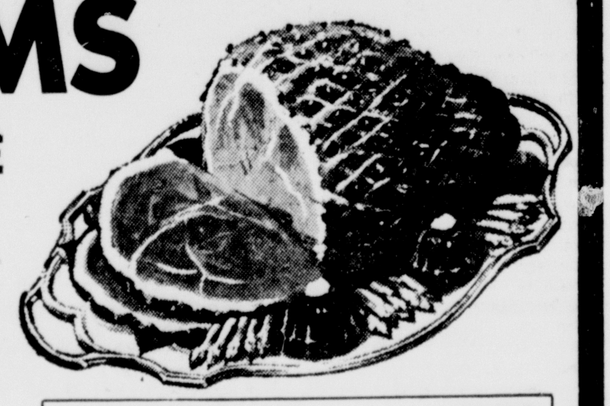

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Pork Tenderloin.
Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
A. It is a long tapering round muscle from the loin section of the hog.
Q. How is it prepared?
A. It may be cooked whole by roasting in a 350° F. oven or by braising, allowing approximately 1 hour for cooking, or it may be cut into individual servings and cooked slowly by braising 30 to 45 minutes.

Television And Radio

by John Crosby

Year In Review

It's been quite a year, all right. Nineteen fifty-five was television's first billion-dollar year. It was the first year many of the top attractions were in color, though the public remained unmoved or at least were not moved to buy a set. It was the year Como overtook Gleason and Phil Silvers overtook Milton Berle.

This was the year everyone left town. The "Home" show originated in Atlanta, Fort Worth, Catalina Island, Kutztown, Pa., Miami Beach, Boston, Chicago, Milwaukee, Philadelphia and San Francisco. "Tonight" came out of Miami, Dayton, Baltimore, Cleveland and Hollywood. Bob Hope sprang up everywhere from Goose Bay to France. To cap it all NBC tried out "Wide Wide World," jumped around the continent from Havana to Canada, from one ocean to the other, showing what the ordinary folk were up to on an ordinary Sunday. It was all live and much of it was extraordinarily good. It was a great year for travel and there's no sign that it's ending.

CBS woke up to the threat of the big NBC shows and came up with some of its own. First of these was Judy Garland's TV debut. Wobbly from sedatives, she was not at her greatest but she was still a good enough showman to pack an awful wallop and she'll be back. The second of the big CBS shows was a two-person show in which two polished performers—Noel Coward and Mary Martin — held the stage for an hour and a half. It was a great hit of showmanship and it pointed the way to other intimate shows, notably that of Victor Borge, who will do a one-man show.

Meanwhile, NBC was forging ahead with its lavish plans and scintillating budgets. In March it presented "Peter Pan" with Mary Martin and Cyril Ritchard straight from a Broadway run. This may easily have been one of the most finished and delightful TV presentations of all time and it was repeated. NBC claims that it may have had the biggest single audience of all time. Another and even riskier venture was Tschaikowsky's "Sleeping Beauty" ballet with the famed Sadler's Wells ballet company, starring Margot Fonteyn. This was so esoteric a venture that even the boys at NBC had their fingers crossed. However, it gathered an estimated audience of 30,000,000 people for its beautifully directed color shots, indicating that culture is not necessarily poison at the box office.

In the field of drama, it was a fine year. There were two new weekly dramatic series — Playrights '56 and Pond's, both of which did some notable things. The first original TV drama to cause a stir was Rod Sterling's "Patterns" on Kraft, a study of the rat race in the upper echelons of big business. It was good enough to be repeated and was then sold to the movies.

Among the other originals that caused a buzz of excitement were Paddy Chayavsky's "Catered Affair," Gore Vidal's "Visit to a Small Planet" with a splendid performance by Cyril Ritchard, and Wendell Mayes' "No Riders." But the big news was not the originals but the adaptations. "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial," with almost the same cast that did it on Broadway, notably Lloyd Nolan as Captain Quegg and Barry Sullivan as defense attorney was just great in every department. Maurice Evans and Dennis King later rollicked through Bernard Shaw's half-century-old play, "The Devil's Disciple," with great wit and style.

Two of Thornton Wilder's plays were adapted for TV. "The Skin of Our Teeth" produced some great performances by Helen Hayes, Mary Martin and George Abbott but may just have puzzled as many people as the play did. In "Wonderful Town," Frank Sinatra, who barely bothered to rehearse very much, was a thoroughly disappointing—as well as spectacularly miscast—narrator which took much of the zing out of that one.

In the documentary field Edward R. Murrow contributed three fine ones, his interview with J. Robert Oppenheimer and his researches into the vice presidency and the state of education; and NBC came up with their fine "Assignment—India" in color. In a smaller way Leonard Bernstein's essay on how to conduct a symphony orchestra, on "Omnibus," was as fine a piece of education as I've ever seen.

There were some fine performances—Robert Morley in "Edward, My Son," Eileen Heckart in "My Lost Saints," Robert Montgomery in "The Lost Weekend"—to mention only a few. There was also "The $64,000 Question"—but it may blow over eventually.

CLEVER DEFENSE

ALL PLAYERS of experience are so accustomed to having a high-low signal indicate a doubleton holding that some clever ruses can be based on the deliberate misuse of this signal. Take the following case for example. Some readers may scoff that "declarer was an easy mark to fall for East's phony signal," but the truth is that the most expert declarer would be put to quite a guess.

South dealer.

	♠ K 9 8 ♥ 8 7 ♦ Q 10 6 3 ♣ Q 9 8 5
♠ 6 ♥ K J 10 5 ♦ A K 7 ♣ K J 10 4 2	N W E S	♠ 7 5 2 ♥ 9 6 4 3 2 ♦ J 9 2 ♣ 7 3
	♠ A Q J 10 4 3 ♥ A Q ♦ 8 5 4 ♣ A 6

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Dble.	Pass	2 ♥
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

West, who was innocent from start to finish, opened the king of diamonds simply because that looked like the right lead, and if he had had the usual sort of partner, the defense would have collapsed then and there. Almost every East would play the diamond deuce at Trick 1, and that would be that. If West shifted, declarer would be in full control, and if West led the ace and another diamond, declarer would put up dummy's queen and win the trick.

The actual East, however, did not follow suit to the first trick with the deuce of diamonds. He played the nine, and when West obediently continued with the ace, East completed the echo with the deuce. That convinced two players, West and South, that East was now out of diamonds and could ruff—so when West led the diamond seven, South confidently played dummy's ten. He was shocked when East took this trick with the jack—and he was also beaten, because now he had to lose either a club trick or a heart.

It should be observed that East's echo in diamonds was well calculated in any case, even if it did not succeed in luring declarer into the play of the diamond ten on the third round. Certainly, East could not support a shift to any of the other suits, and it might well cost his partner a trick to make an effort in any other direction.

Television And Radio

Year In Review

It's been quite a year, all right. Nineteen fifty-five was television's first billion-dollar year. It was the first year many of the top attractions were in color, though the public remained unmoved or at least were not moved to buy a set. It was the year Como overtook Gleason and Phil Silvers overtook Milton Berle.

This was the year everyone left town. The "Home" show originated in Atlanta, Fort Worth, Catalina Island, Kutztown, Pa., Miami Beach, Boston, Chicago, Milwaukee, Philadelphia and San Francisco. "Tonight" came out of Miami, Dayton, Baltimore, Cleveland and Hollywood. Bob Hope sprang up everywhere from Goose Bay to France. To cap it all NBC tried out "Wide Wide World," jumped around the continent from Havana to Canada, from one ocean to the other, showing what the ordinary folk were up to on an ordinary Sunday. It was all live and much of it was extraordinarily good. It was a great year for travel and there's no sign that it's ending.

CBS woke up to the threat of the big NBC shows and came up with some of its own. First of these was Judy Garland's TV debut. Wobbly from sedatives, she was not at her greatest but she was still a good enough showman to pack an awful wallop and she'll be back. The second of the big CBS shows was a two-person show in which two polished performers—Noel Coward and Mary Martin—held the stage for an hour and a half. It was a great hit of showmanship and it pointed the way to other intimate shows, notably that of Victor Borge, who will do a one-man show.

Meanwhile, NBC was forging ahead with its lavish plans and scintillating budgets. In March it presented "Peter Pan" with Mary Martin and Cyril Ritchard straight from a Broadway run. This may easily have been one of the most finished and delightful TV presentations of all time and it was repeated. NBC claims that it may have had the biggest single audience of all time. Another and even riskier venture was Tschaikowsky's "Sleeping Beauty" ballet with the famed Sadler's Wells ballet company, starring Margot Fonteyn. This was so esoteric a venture that even the boys at NBC had their fingers crossed. However, it gathered an estimated audience of 30,000,000 people for its beautifully directed color shots, indicating that culture is not necessarily poison at the box office.

In the field of drama, it was a fine year. There were two new weekly dramatic series — Playrights '56 and Pond's, both of which did some notable things. The first original TV drama to cause a stir was Rod Sterling's "Patterns" on Kraft, a study of the rat race in the upper echelons of big business. It was good enough to be repeated and was then sold to the movies.

Among the other originals that caused a buzz of excitement were Paddy Chayavsky's "Catered Affair," Gore Vidal's "Visit to a Small Planet" with a splendid performance by Cyril Ritchard, and Wendell Mayes' "No Riders." But the big news was not the originals but the adaptations. "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial," with almost the same cast that did it on Broadway, notably Lloyd Nolan as Captain Quegg and Barry Sullivcn as defense attorney was just great in every department. Maurice Evans and Dennis King later rollicked through Bernard Shaw's half-century-old play, "The Devil's Disciple," with great wit and style.

Two of Thornton Wilder's plays were adapted for TV. "The Skin of Our Teeth" produced some great performances by Helen Hayes, Mary Martin and George Abbott but may just have puzzled as many people as the play did. In "Wonderful Town," Frank Sinatra, who barely bothered to rehearse very much, was a thoroughly disappointing—as well as spectacularly miscast—narrator which took much of the zing out of that one.

In the documentary field Edward R. Murrow contributed three fine ones, his interview with J. Robert Oppenheimer and his researches into the vice presidency and the state of education; and NBC came up with their fine "Assignment—India" in color. In a smaller way Leonard Bernstein's essay on how to conduct a symphony orchestra, on "Omnibus," was as fine a piece of education as I've ever seen.

There were some fine performances—Robert Morley in "Edward, My Son," Eileen Heckart in "My Lost Saints," Robert Montgomery in "The Lost Weekend"—to mention only a few. There was also "The $64,000 Question"—but it may blow over eventually.

C. Ray Brock, president of the foundation, says "fluid milk consumption, up four per cent in 1955 in the United States" will increase further next year.

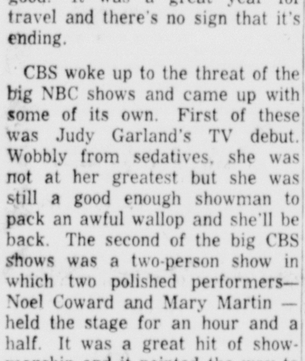

WIFE PRESERVERS

Check the clothes closets now and then and blow fresh air into them periodically. Occasionally spray or blow a good insecticide into all nooks and corners. Garments not in constant use should be kept in dust-proof bags.

CLEVER DEFENSE

ALL PLAYERS of experience are so accustomed to having a high-low signal indicate a doubleton holding that some clever ruses can be based on the deliberate misuse of this signal. Take the following case for example. Some readers may scoff that "declarer was an easy mark to fall for East's phony signal," but the truth is that the most expert declarer would be put to quite a guess.

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	♠ K 9 8 ♥ 8 7 ♦ Q 10 6 3 ♣ Q 9 5
♠ 6 ♥ K J 10 5 ♦ A K 7 ♣ K J 10 4 2	N W E S	♠ 7 5 2 ♥ 9 6 4 3 2 ♦ J 9 2 ♣ 7 3
	♠ A Q J 10 4 3 ♥ A Q ♦ 8 5 4 ♣ A 6

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Dble.	Pass	2 ♥
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

West, who was innocent from start to finish, opened the king of diamonds simply because that looked like the right lead, and if he had had the usual sort of partner, the defense would have collapsed then and there. Almost every East would play the diamond deuce at Trick 1, and that would be that. If West shifted, declarer would be in full control, and if West led the ace and another diamond, declarer would put up dummy's queen and win the trick.

The actual East, however, did not follow suit to the first trick with the deuce of diamonds. He played the nine, and when West obediently continued with the ace, East completed the echo with the deuce. That convinced two players, West and South, that East was now out of diamonds and could ruff—so when West led the diamond seven, South confidently played dummy's ten. He was shocked when East took this trick with the jack—and he was also beaten, because now he had to lose either a club trick or a heart.

It should be observed that East's echo in diamonds was well calculated in any case, even if it did not succeed in luring declarer into the play of the diamond ten on the third round. Certainly, East could not support a shift to any of the other suits, and it might well cost his partner a trick to make an effort in any other direction.

OES Degrees To Be Conferred Tonight

Degrees of the order will be conferred on a class of candidates at the meeting of McKinley Chapter 12, OES, tonight at 8 o'clock in the temple.

A farewell program, "Fidelity to a Sacred Trust," honoring Miss Virginia Koegel, worthy matron; and Thomas W. Williams, worthy patron, will be presented. Taking part are Mrs. Dorothy Ringler, associate matron; Charles McElfish, associate patron and the other officers. The retiring matron's report is to be given January 6.

A social hour will follow with Mrs. Agnes Baker and Mrs. Regina Koegel in charge.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE

THIS IS TO GIVE NOTICE, That the subscribers have obtained from the Orphan's Court of Allegany County, Maryland, letters Testamentary on the estate of Edgar D. Coach Henry (Red) Sanders will be making his second Rose Bowl appearance in three games. His Bruins bowed to Michigan State in 1954.

Sanders has a record of 87 victories, 35 losses and 3 ties in his 13 years as a head football coach. A native of Nashville and a graduate of Vanderbilt he coached his alma mater between 1940-48, with three years off for service in the Navy. He has been UCLA mentor since 1949.

UCLA's only defeat during 1955 was a 7-0 setback to Maryland in the second game of the campaign. The touchdown was the first of eight the Bruins allowed all season.

On Jan. 2 Hugh (Duffy) Daugherty, coach of Michigan State, will be making his first bowl trip as top mentor, mainly because he has been head coach only two seasons. His record is 11-7.

Daugherty coached the Spartan line seven years under Biggie Munn. He first teamed up with Munn in 1946 at Syracuse, from where he was graduated in 1940. He went to Pasadena, as a line coach two years ago when Michigan State humbled UCLA, 28-20.

Michigan State's lone defeat during 1955 was a 14-7 setback to Michigan in the season's second game. Since then the Spartans have permitted only six touchdowns in seven games.

Youthful looking Charles (Bud) Wilkinson will take an Oklahoma team to a major bowl for the fifth time in his nine years as Sooner coach. Two years ago when Oklahoma and Maryland met in the same Orange Bowl, Oklahoma won by 7-0.

Oklahoma has won three of its previous bowl games under Wilkinson who in his playing days quarterbacked Bernie Bierman's 1936 Minnesota team to a national championship. Wilkinson succeeded Jim Tatum, his rival coach, as Oklahoma's head mentor in 1947.

Since coaching the Sooners, Wilkinson has a record of 83-8-3. Wilkinson was an assistant five years at Syracuse and one year at Minnesota.

Jim Tatum of Maryland is the daddy of coaches taking teams to the major bowl games on Monday, Jan. 2. The Orange Bowl marks his sixth bowl.

In 1947 his Oklahoma team of 1946 trounced North Carolina State, 34-13 in the Gator Bowl. His Maryland teams have been to the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville twice, the Orange Bowl and Sugar Bowl.

Tatum has a record of 86-19-6 for his 10 years as a head coach. His 1953 Terrapins were national champions. Tatum, Maryland coach since 1947, is a former North Carolina tackle. He coached the Tar Heels in 1942 and also assisted at Cornell.

For Othol (Abe) Martin the Cotton Bowl marks his first as coach of Texas Christian. A TCU graduate of 1932, Martin was chief assistant to Coach Dutch Meyer for six years and took over the head coaching job in 1953.

Martin earned three football letters at TCU. In ten years of high school coaching his teams won seven Texas district championships and tied for two. The only game his 1955 team lost was to Texas A & M. However, TCU gained the Southwest Conference crown.

John Vaught will have to beat his alma mater if he is to win his first bowl game after coaching nine years at Mississippi. His Rebels bowed to Georgia Tech, 24-7, in the Sugar Bowl in 1953 and last New Year's Day lost in the same New Orleans stadium to Navy, 21-0.

Vaught was a 1933 TCU graduate and one of the school's standout guards.

Vaught, in nine years as Mississippi's football boss, has a 65-22-5 record. His team's only loss this year was to Kentucky by 21-14 in the second game of the season.

Seldom does a freshman in the college coaching ranks go to a major bowl with his first team. But that's what Johnny Michelosen will be doing on Jan. 2 when his Pitt Panthers tackle Georgia Tech in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans.

Pitt did well this year in Michelosen's debut, the three defeats being at the hands of powerful Oklahoma, Navy and Miami of Florida.

John starred for Pitt teams under Jock Sutherland, remained to assist Jock and when the Scot moved into the pro ranks with Brooklyn, Michelosen went with him. When Jock died in 1948, Johnny became coach of the Pitt pro Steelers.

At 47 Bobby Dodd is the senior of major bowl coaches. The coming Georgia Tech-Pitt clash marks his sixth trip to a big bowl. His teams have won twice in the Orange, twice in the Sugar and once in the Cotton Bowl.

The native of Galax, Va., who starred for Tennessee, has a Tech coaching record of 90-27-3 for his 11 years as head coach.

The 1930 All-America has been at Tech since 1931 a backfield coach and 1945 as top mentor. His 1955 Yellow Jackets bowed only to Auburn, 14-12. In their other nine games they allowed a total of only four touchdowns. They have yielded 12 points in the last five games.

Highway Travel Slowed Down By Glaze Of Sleet

Two Persons Hospitalized

At least two persons were hospitalized yesterday as a result of slippery highway conditions caused by a a coating of sleet which plagued sections of the district.

The forecast for today is snow flurries in 'llegany, Garrett and Washington counties, the portion of the state hit hardest by the sleet.

Bus service was hampered and a number of automobiles were reported sliding from the highways. Many were waiting along the roads for the arrival of cindering crews before proceeding to their desinations.

Thomas DeLauder, 74, of Church Street, Westernport, a pedestrian, was hospitalized after a car hit him on Route 135 in that community.

He was struck struck by an auto driven by Charles E. Ross, 73, of 324 Maryland Avenue, Westernport, who was traveling west. DeLauder, a patient in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, is suffering injuries of his back, head, right leg and right arm.

The driver was charged with speed too great for road conditions by Trooper Milton Hart of the Maryland State Police at LaVale Barracks.

Sailor Injured

A 25-year-old mid-shipman from the Naval Academy was admitted to Memorial Hospital here yesterday with injuries sustained in an auto accident near Short Gap.

Hospital attaches said Emil Block Jr., of Ohio, suffered a laceration of the forehead and was admitted for observation. Block was traveling toward Cumberland when he struck an icy spot on the highway, lost control of the car and ran off the road.

State Police of West Virginia and Pennsylvania reported that a number of 'fender-bender" accidents occurred as motorists slid around the icy roads.

U. S. Route 50 was reported hazardous in various sections, especially in the mountain areas. The Pennsylvania Turnpike also was hazardous last night, according to police.

The weather played its greatest havoc with traffic east, west and north of Cumberland shortly after sundown, according to bus drivers, motorists and police officials.

Buses Are Delayed

The Greyhound bus due here at 6:30 p. m. from Hagerstown did not arrive until 8:45 p. m. The driver reported the mountains were a glare of ice. To proceed at all in many places, he drove his bus along the shoulder of the road where his tires could get traction.

The driver reported a two-car wreck near Licking Creek, which tied up traffic for a long period. Motorists along Route 40 between Cumberland and Hancock waited for cinder trucks to appear before they attempted to drive over the glare of sleet nd ice.

Bus drivers traveling from the west reported the highway in "fair" shape between Cumberland and Frostburg, but from Frostburg westward, as well as down through the Georges Creek region and toward Mt. Savage, driving was hazardous.

One driver said he counted 14 cars "ditched" in the Luke-Bloomington area.

Cinder Trucks Out

Temperatures were 28 above zero in most outlying area sections around 6 p. m., but toward 9 p. m. had risen to 36 above zero. This change stopped the accumulation of ice on roadways, but was not quite warm enough to cause a quick thraw, drivers reported. Cinder and salt trucks were dispatched by state and county highway departments, as State Police reported treacherous spots in all areas.

In Cumberland yesterd, pedestrians had trouble walking along the city streets as the rains froze and caused hazardous travel.

Ralph R. Weber, official weather observer of Oakland, said last night it was raining lightly in that community with temperatures hovering around 33 degrees.

He said that a "nasty smear of sleet" covered the streets of Oakland and outlying highways and that the icy glaze made travel hazardous after 8 a. m. yesterday.

Deaths

Crane, Mrs. Fred, 44, Capon Bridge.

Dean, Deborah Sue, infant, LaVale.

Duckworth, Mrs. Lulu F., 65, Westernport.

Grimble, James E., Connellsville, formerly of Lonaconing.

Lyons, Mrs. Mary E., 96, of near Petersburg.

Pennington, Harley D., 883, 119 Frederick Street.

Sterling, Harry C., 67, Morgantown, native of Keyser.

Williams, Tucker L., 64, Martinsburg.

Returns Home

A local 16-year-old youth, Leon Richard Trail, 322 Pennsylvania Avenue, who was reported missing on Wednesday, returned home yesterday, according to police.

The boy was questioned by authorities and he was reported to have been in Pittsburgh.

BRIG. EARL LORD

S. A. Crusade To Be Launched Here Tomorrow

Soldiers' Supper, Watch Night Planned

Members of Cumberland's two Salvation Army corps will join forces for a series of meetings tomorrow night to see out the old year and usher in a 1956 spiritual crusade.

Principal speaker for the meetings will be Brigadier Earl Lord, Baltimore, divisional secretary for the Maryland and Northern West Virginia area, according to Capt. Daniel Biggs, commander of the Citadel.

The meetings will get under way at the Citadel at 6 p.m. with the annual United Soldiers' Supper, a covered dish event in which members of the North and South Cumberland units will participate.

Brig. and Mrs. Lord will be the honored guests.

An accomplished singer and song leader, Brig. Lord will participate in the Youth For Christ Rally at 8 p.m. at the Citadel.

The annual Watch Night service begins at 11 p.m. and will include a special address by Brig. Lord.

He will launch this area's part in the worldwide spiritual crusade of the Salvation Army for 1956, with the theme, "For Christ and the People.".

Grand Jury To Convene On Tuesday

The January term of Allegany County Circuit Court will begin at 10 a. m. next Tuesday when the 20 men and three women serving on the grand jury receive their charge and begin their investigation into county crime.

Dr. Charles L. Kopp, this city, retired superintendent of Allegany County public schools, was named foreman of the grand jury when the panel was drawn earlier this month.

The petit jurors will not report for duty until Monday, January 16, at 9:15 a. m. when the criminal trials will get under way.

Other members of the grand jury include Frank Powers and William Horton, both Frostburg; C. Ed Nield, George B. Kight, Frank W. Raley, Boyd H. Sulser, Vernon W. Groves, Carlton H. Lapp, Kenneth S. Hopwood, Spurgeon B. Washington, Ada Conley Long and Eleanor M. Couter, all this city; Thomas S. LeVelle, Vale Summit; A. W. Detterman, Adam F. Zais, William H. Peyton and Ethel Engle, all Westernport; George Eichhorn and Robert R. Love Jr., both Lonaconing; B. Harrison Carl and Richard B. Young, LaVale, and George Lauder, Barton.

Farmer To Discuss His Two Hobbies

Lawrence W. Mallery Sr., Allegany County farmer with two hobbies, will discuss them before an art class at Frostburg State Teachers College on Monday, January 9.

Mallery's two hobbies are wood carving and stone grinding. A newcomer to the county, he lives in the Lower Town Creek area about five miles from Oldtown. He recently discussed his hobbies at an Oldtown High School assembly and also explained them to a class there in more detail.

Occupations Of High School Graduates Vary

Allegany, Garrett Totals Compared

What happens to high school graduates in the year after their graduation?

An attempt to answer this question is made in a detailed table included in the 88th annual report of the State Board of Education for the year which ended June 30, 1954. That report was just released.

Neither Allegany nor Garrett County follows the state-wide pattern which shows that 29.2 per cent of the male graduates attended colleges and universities the first year out of high school. There were 1,632 college boys among the 5,452 white graduates of Maryland high schools for the year 1953.

Service Attractive

In Allegany County military or naval service attracted the largest group of boys, 92 or 23.7 per cent of the 388 male graduates. In Garrett County agriculture, fishing and lumbering got the largest group of 1953 boy high school graduates, 29, or 32.2 per cent of the 90 graduates.

Among the girls the chief occupation a year after high school graduation was clerical, sales and kindred work in both Allegany and Garrett counties but in both the percentage was smaller than the state average of 43 per cent, 2,611 out of 5,992 girl graduates.

In Allegany County 133 or 30.9 per cent of the 430 girl graduates of 1953 went into clerical or sales work and in Garrett County the percentage was 32.3 per cent, 32 out of 99 graduates.

The table also reveals that in both counties more girls got married or stayed or worked at home than the state average. Among the boys manufacturing and non-manufacturing workers and laborers were more numerous in the two Western Maryland counties than in the state as a whole and more boys worked or stayed at home.

The most inviting post-high school occupations for boys throughout the state next to colleges or universities were military and naval service, 738 or 13.2 per cent; clerical, sales and kindred work, 635 or 11.4 per cent; miscellaneous and unknown, 516 or 9.2 per cent, and operatives, 447 or 8 per cent.

College Draws

After clerical, sales and kindred work, the occupations that drew the largest percentage of girl graduates throughout the state was college or university, 970 or 16 per cent; marriage, 590 or 9.7 per cent; miscellaneous and unknown, 445 or 7.3 per cent; nursing and state teachers college or teacher training, 305 and 301, respectively, each 5 per cent.

For Allegany County manufacturing and non-manufacturing operatives and laborers among the boy graduates numbered 59 or 15.2 per cent, highest after service in the armed forces. Other listings in the top five were staying or working at home, 48 or 12.4 per cent; college or university, 39 or 10.1 per cent, and clerical, sales and kindred work, 38 or 9.8 per cent.

Marriage attracted 21.4 per cent or 92 of the Allegany County girls the first year after high school, second to the clerical classification. Other large groupings for the girls of this county included 49 or 11.4 per cent, staying or working at home; 43 or 10 per cent, nursing; 36 or 8.4 per cent, state teachers colleges or teacher training.

Next after agriculture and lumbering for Garrett County boys, the leading occupation a year after high school graduation was manufacturing and non-manufacturing operations and labor, 14 or 15.6 per cent. Following were military or naval service and craftsmen, each with nine or 10 per cent, and operatives and college or university, seven each, 7.7 per cent.

A year after high school, 22, or 22.2 per cent, of the Garrett County girls were married, ranking it as the second largest group after clerical work. Other principal activities of the Garrett County girls include 12 or 12.1 per cent staying or working at home; seven or 7.1 per cent each in vocational, commercial and evening schools, other service work and nursing.

Fire Hall To Be Razed

The Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company hall above will be removed to make way for a new northbound section of U.S. 220 between the Dingle and Amcelle. The state has bought the concrete block building and four lots for $20,000, and the firemen plan to start a new $35,000 two-story brick veneer building, 75 by 35 feet, at a site nearby in the spring. The building is expected to be completed in August. The present U.S. 220 will become one-way southbound to Amcelle.

Disputed Gas Bill Item Termed Error

Common Purchase Clause Copied From 1955 Plan, Driscoll Learns

Del. Fred B. Driscoll has been informed that an item relating to common purchasers of gas was erroneously included in a mimeographed copy of the proposal received recently, and does not appear in the printed copy of the bill which goes into the Legislative Council's report to the General Assembly.

Del. Driscoll immediately contacted the Department of Legislative Reference when a copy of the bill was forwarded to him last week, and has learned the paragraph was included by mistake.

Benson told Del. Driscoll that Section 648FF as drafted, relates to common purchasers of gas.

"This, you will note, is a verbatim copy of Section 45L taken from Senate Bill 470 of 1955," introduced by Senator Clifford Friend of Garrett County.

Copied By Mistake

"This section," Benson said, "was copied by mistake for Section 45L of Senate Bill 319 (Chapter 613 of 1953). The latter section relates to the power of the Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources to enforce by injunction any violations of proposed gas laws or any rules or regulations promulgated by the Department under these laws.

"The oil and gas bill has been printed to go into the Legislative Council's report to the General Assembly and Section 648FF there appears as the section relating to injunctive relief.

"At no time did the Oil and Gas Committee approve the insertion of any common purchaser provision . . . "

Many ESB Fraud Cases Too Trivial To Prosecute

Doub Says Records Often Inadequate

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29 (AP) — The U. S. Attorney's office said today there were two good reasons why it did not act in 69 of 77 alleged fraud cases involving unemployment compensation.

U. S. Atty. George Cochran Doub said the amounts were either too trivial or the cases could not be prosecuted because of "inadequate" records at the State Department of Employment Security.

Doub's office has responsibility for prosecuting jobless pay fraud cases involving former Federal employes and veterans claiming benefits following military service since they are paid with Federal funds.

Doub said "in many instances" the amount involved was less than $10, less than $20 in others and less than $50 in some.

James N. Phillips, head of the State agency's recoveries section, said, however, three of the cases which the U. S. attorney's office declined to prosecute were taken into State courts where convictions were obtained.

Doub said there were some cases in which the Department made improper payments "in violation of its own procedures." Doub also said restitution has been made in some of the cases mentioned.

Records of the Department of Employment Security showed that the agency had turned evidence of improper payments in 77 cases over to the U. S. attorney's office.

Robert B. Kimble, department head, said lack of prosectuion of Federal cases remains one of the few loopholes needing tightening in the Department's drive against fraud.

Local Marines Are Promoted

During the past month, three members of the Sixth Special Infantry Company, USMCR, have been promoted in rank, according to Major Patsy Algieri, commanding officer of the local unit.

Warrant Officer Everett F. Gibbs, USMCR, of 85 North Davis Street, Keyser, was advanced in rank to commissioned warrant officer.

A graduate of Fort Hill High School and the University of Maryland, he is teaching in the Bedford High School.

T Sgt. Albert J. Boudreau, USMCR, of LaVale, and a member of the Inspector-Instructor staff of the local company, has been promoted to master-sergeant. He is presently supply chief of the staff.

Yule Cheer Collections Total $5,049

Food Is Provided For 495 Families

A total of $5,049.87 was raised for the Salvation Army's Christmas Cheer program, according to Capt. Daniel Biggs, commander of the Salvation Army Citadel here.

A similar drive last year brought in $4,703.34, he said.

The fund includes $1,408 from kettle collections conducted by the Salvation Army, $198 from unsolicited donations and $387.50 from letter appeals to out-of-town firms and individuals.

The Kettle Drives held by area clubs and service organizations brought in $2,840.45, the wrapping booth in the Post Office, $104.42, and collection boxes placed in business houses, $111.50.

The funds were used to provide 239 food orders in the City of Cumberland and 241 to families living within a 50-mile radius of the city. Twelve food baskets distributed here and three outside the city brought the food order and basket distribution to the 405 mark.

This was 105 less than were needed in 1954.

Sunshine baskets were distributed to the city and county jails Sunday and a similar distribution will be made this Sunday to the county home and infirmary and Sylvan Retreat.

Tax Payments In County Show Mild Spurt

A mild spurt in the payment of county and state property taxes has been experienced this week at the office of Tax Collector J. Wallace Close at the Court House as taxpayers seek to avoid an added interest on their tax bills.

More than $15,000 has been collected in the three working days this week, topped by the $7,000 received Wednesday. Today is the last day the collector's office will be open this year as the long New Year's holiday weekend starts at 4 p. m. Mailed payments postmarked before midnight December 31 will be allowed the lower interest rate.

When the office reopens Tuesday morning the interest rate on 1955 county taxes will advance from two to two-and-one-half per cent and on state taxes from one-and-one-half to two per cent. Some 1954 taxes also are still outstanding, about $25,000 worth all told. On 1954 county taxes the interest rate goes up from eight to eight-and-one half per cent with the start of the new year.

Injured In Fall

Mrs. Janet Darrow, wife of William Darrow, 822 Columbia Avenue, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital late yesterday morning for treatment of a left wrist injury suffered when she fell on the ice while waiting for a bus.

Market Street Bridge Work To Begin Tuesday

Demolition Of 1915 Span Set January 3

Work on the Market Street Bridge across Wills Creek will begin Tuesday morning, according to Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz.

The $176,963 span is to be built by H. D. Case, Inc., of Mt. Airy.

It is the second span to be replaced by the City of Cumberland in connection with the swift channel plan for Wills Creek in connection with the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection program.

An official of the Case firm was here yesterday to complete plans for getting the bridge job under way. It must be completed in 180 working days or by September 1.

Company officials also conferred yesterday with utilties which have lines crossing the span, to try to work out plans for rerouting the service lines.

Officials said the water and gas lines on the span can be put out of service by rerouting but that special arrangements will have to be made for other utility lines.

The new Valley Street Bridge was placed into service this year and the Corps of Engineers are incorporating plans for the new Baltimore Street Bridge into plans for Section IV of the Wills Creek phase of the flood protection program.

Teamsters Will Elect Trustee In January

Harry May, this city, and Charles E. Little, Bedford, Pa., have been nominated for the post of three-year trustee of Local 453, Teamsters Union (AFL).

In Cumberland, polls will be open at the union office on January 3 from noon until 9 p. m. and January 5 from 8 to 10 p. m.

In Somerset, balloting will be in the Eagles building January 4 from 7 to 9 p. m. and January 5 from 1 to 6 p. m.

In Bedford, votes may be cast at the union office on North Juliana Street January 6 from 11 a. m. to 9 p. m. and January 7 from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

The election is being conducted by a committee including C. E. Stutzman, chairman, Joseph Freno, Harry McFarland, Patrick Fairall and Harry Fisher.

Speakers Named For Youth Rally

The Tri-State Youth For Christ will conduct its final rally for 1955 tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street.

Ray Hansel, student at Bob Jones University and member of First Baptist Church in Eckhart, will be the speaker.

Miss Miriam Culp, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Everett W. Culp, of First Methodist Church, and Miss Sumiko Iha, who is visiting with Miss Culp during the holidays, will sing a duet.

Miss Iha, from Koloa, Territory of Hawaii, is a convert to Christianity from Buddhism. She will tell the account of her conversion at the rally. Both girls are students at Taylor University, Upland, Ind.

Brig. Earl Lord, Baltimore, visiting officer of the Salvation Army, will be the vocal soloist.

New song books, "Singing Youth For Christ," which have been compiled for youth rallies by Youth For Christ International, have recently been purchased here and will be introduced for use tomorrow night, according to Dwight I. Evans, director.

Slaughter Of The Innocents

Holiday Carnage Makes Herod Look Like Piker

The National Safety Council reports that more than 600 Americans lost their lives in traffic accidents over the Christmas weekend. It estimates that some 420 more will die the same way during the New Year's weekend period. Here, a famed reporter and columnist asks all of us to take stock of the horrible carnage on America's highways—and to do something to prevent the National Safety Council prediction from coming true.

BY BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, Dec. 29—(INS)—"Then Herod, perceiving that he was deluded by the Wise Men, was exceedingly angry, and sending killed all the male children that were in Bethlehem and in all the borders thereof "Matth. 2. 13-18.

When it comes to the slaughter of the innocents, Herod was a crude amateur compared to the American motorist. Herod's men went by foot or springless chariot, needed many swings of their two-edged swords, probably had to take some punches from outraged relatives of the victims.

Not our slaughterer! He prowls about behind the protective armor of a heavy steel envelope powered by the equivalent of upwards of 150 horses. He doesn't need a second swing with his 20th Century version of a Herod sword. He can wipe out an entire family of Innocents while speeding at a rate which would cause Herod to faint from fright.

The grisly death rate of Innocents and Slaughterers exceeded 600 over the Christmas weekend. Death, whose shroud and cackle now are as much a part of the holiday season as Santa and his stomachy chuckle, asks you a question on the brink of the next scheduled Slaughter of the Innocents. With the knowing leer of a TV quiz-master, Death asks:

Well, do you? It's the easiest quiz on the air—or on the road. You can get the answer — the grave, disfigurement, lost time and money—by beating a traffic light, taking a long chance to save a short time, taking just one more "for the road," insisting you can drive with a snootful, venturing out on icy roads when you could stay put, driving though inattentive or exhausted, etc, etc, etc, etc.

Here's a far from complete list of experiences the dead of the New Year weekend will miss as victims of a national disease that surpasses in utter horror most of the great maladies:

Eisenhower's decision on whether or not he is going to run . . . The campaigns for the Presidency of the United States . . . The outcome of the great crusade for world peace . . . The 1956 Olympics . . . The baseball races and World Series . . . The true dawn of atomic energy and the advance of the commercial jets . . . The spread of color TV . . . The daily miracle of opening your newspaper and seeing the whole world and what its people are doing spread before you.

And love . . . children . . . church . . . friends . . . fun . . . fame . . . food . . . Jackie Gleason . . . a steak . . . a cold beer . . . a good night's sleep . . .

More Americans were killed for preposterously small reason last weekend than laid down their lives for the United States Navy in the Revolutionary War (342) or the War of 1812 (265) or the Mexican War (1).

Imagine! More people winding up bashed against trees, without cause, than died in the creation of much of our history. John Paul Jones lost fewer men commanding the Bonhomme Richard and beating Britain's Serapis off Flamborough Head, and putting into our heritage the likes of, "Surrender? I haven't even begun to fight!"

Benedict Arnold, of all people, won a navy staying action on Lake Champlain that saved Washington's army. DeGrasse, with Americans aboard, beat Admiral Howe and Graves. Cornwallis had to give up at Yorktown. Arnold and DeGrasse suffered fewer casualties than the New Jersey Turnpike.

In the War of 1812 the Constitution, then the United States, then the Constitution again whipped the Guerrier, Macedonia and Java in vital battles. Freeways cost us more in 24 hours. When Lawrence was wounded aboard the Chesapeake and was being taken to Halifax aboard the Shannon, in his delirium he repeated, "Don't give up the ship!" But modern Americans give up more than that.

Perry's victory on Lake Erie drove the British from the Detroit area, ended the chances of an Indian state under British patronage. MacDonough's triumphs over Sir George Prevost, achieved at a cost of perhaps an hour's U. S. auto travel New Year's Eve, more or less created the Canadian border as we know it today.

Organist! Play "Adeste Fidelis" for those now living who'll never know another Christmas.

Cinder and salt trucks were dispatched by state and county highway departments, as State Police reported treacherous spots in all areas.

In Cumberland yesterd, pedestrians had trouble walking along the city streets as the rains froze and caused hazardous travel.

Most of the streets here were dry last night although some slick spots remained, especially on the sleeper streets.

Ralph R. Weber, official weather observer of Oakland, said last night it was raining lightly in that community with temperatures hovering around 33 degrees.

He said that a "nasty smear of sleet" covered the streets of Oakland and outlying highways and that the icy glaze made travel hazardous after 8 a. m. yesterday.

BRIG. EARL LORD

S. A. Crusade To Be Launched Here Tomorrow

Soldiers' Supper, Watch Night Planned

Members of Cumberland's two Salvation Army corps will join forces for a series of meetings tomorrow night to see out the old year and usher in a 1956 spiritual crusade.

Principal speaker for the meetings will be Brigadier Earl Lord, Baltimore, divisional secretary for the Maryland and Northern West Virginia area, according to Capt. Daniel Biggs, commander of the Citadel.

The meetings will get under way at the Citadel at 6 p.m. with the annual United Soldiers' Supper, a covered dish event in which members of the North and South Cumberland units will participate.

Brig. and Mrs. Lord will be the honored guests.

An accomplished singer and song leader, Brig. Lord will participate in the Youth For Christ Rally at 8 p.m. at the Citadel.

The New Year's Eve services will continue at 10 p.m. with a praise and testimony meeting.

The annual Watch Night service begins at 11 p.m. and will include a special address by Brig. Lord.

He will launch this area's part in the worldwide spiritual crusade of the Salvation Army for 1956, with the theme, "For Christ and the People."

Grand Jury To Convene On Tuesday

The January term of Allegany County Circuit Court will begin at 10 a. m. next Tuesday when the 20 men and three women serving on the grand jury receive their charge and begin their investigation into county crime.

Dr. Charles L. Kopp, this city, retired superintendent of Allegany County public schools, was named foreman of the grand jury when the panel was drawn earlier this month.

The petit jurors will not report for duty until Monday, January 16, at 9:15 a. m. when the criminal trials will get under way.

Other members of the grand jury include Frank Powers and William Horton, both Frostburg; C. Ed Nield, George B. Kight, Frank W. Raley, Boyd H. Sulser, Vernon W. Groves, Carlton H. Lapp, Kenneth S. Hopwood, Spurgeon B. Washington, Ada Conley Long and Eleanor M. Couter, all this city; Thomas S. LeVelle, Vale Summit; A. W. Determan, Adam F. Zais, William H. Peyton and Ethel Engle, all Westernport; George Eichhorn and Robert R. Love Jr., both Lonaconing; B. Harrison Carl and Richard B. Young, LaVale, and George Lauder, Barton.

Farmer To Discuss His Two Hobbies

Lawrence W. Mallery Sr., Allegany County farmer with two hobbies, will discuss them before an art class at Frostburg State Teachers College on Monday, January 9.

Mallery's two hobbies are wood carving and stone grinding. A newcomer to the county, he lives in the Lower Town Creek area about five miles from Oldtown. He recently discussed his hobbies at an Oldtown High School assembly and also explained them to a class there in more detail.

Occupations Of High School Graduates Vary

Allegany, Garrett Totals Compared

What happens to high school graduates in the year after their graduation?

An attempt to answer this question is made in a detailed table included in the 88th annual report of the State Board of Education for the year which ended June 30, 1954. That report was just released.

Neither Allegany nor Garrett County follows the state-wide pattern which shows that 29.2 per cent of the male graduates attended colleges and universities the first year out of high school. There were 1,632 college boys among the 5,452 white graduates of Maryland high schools for the year 1953.

Service Attractive

In Allegany County military or naval service attracted the largest group of boys, 92 or 23.7 per cent of the 388 male graduates. In Garrett County agriculture, fishing and lumbering got the largest group of 1953 boy high school graduates, 29, or 32.2 per cent of the 90 graduates.

Among the girls the chief occupation a year after high school graduation was clerical, sales and kindred work in both Allegany and Garrett counties but in both the percentage was smaller than the state average of 43 per cent, 2,611 out of 5,992 girl graduates.

In Allegany County 133 or 30.9 per cent of the 430 girl graduates of 1953 went into clerical or sales work and in Garrett County the percentage was 32.3 per cent, 32 out of 99 graduates.

The table also reveals that in both counties more girls got married or stayed or worked at home than the state average. Among the boys manufacturing and non-manufacturing workers and laborers were more numerous in the two Western Maryland counties than in the state as a whole and more boys worked or stayed at home.

The most inviting post-high school occupations for boys throughout the state next to colleges or universities were military and naval service, 738 or 13.2 per cent; clerical, sales and kindred work, 635 or 11.4 per cent; miscellaneous and unknown, 516 or 9.2 per cent, and operatives, 447 or 8 per cent.

College Draws

After clerical, sales and kindred work, the occupations that drew the largest percentage of girl graduates throughout the state was college or university, 970 or 16 per cent; marriage, 590 or 9.7 per cent; miscellaneous and unknown, 445 or 7.3 per cent; nursing and state teachers college or teacher training, 305 and 301, respectively, each 5 per cent.

For Allegany County manufacturing and non-manufacturing operatives and laborers among the boy graduates numbered 59 or 15.2 per cent, highest after service in the armed forces. Other listings in the top five were staying or working at home, 48 or 12.4 per cent; college or university, 39 or 10.1 per cent, and clerical, sales and kindred work, 38 or 9.8 per cent.

Marriage attracted 21.4 per cent or 92 of the Allegany County girls the first year after high school, second to the clerical classification. Other large groupings for the girls of this county included 49 or 11.4 per cent, staying or working at home; 43 or 10 per cent, nursing; 36 or 8.4 per cent, state teachers colleges or teacher training.

Next after agriculture and lumbering for Garrett County boys, the leading occupation a year after high school graduation was manufacturing and non-manufacturing operations and labor, 14 or 15.6 per cent. Following were military or naval service and craftsmen, each with nine or 10 per cent, and operatives and college or university, seven each, 7.7 per cent.

A year after high school, 22, or 22.2 per cent, of the Garrett County girls were married, ranking it as the second largest group after clerical work. Other principal activities of the Garrett County girls include 12 or 12.1 per cent staying or working at home; seven or 7.1 per cent each in vocational, commercial and evening schools, other service work and nursing.

Fire Hall To Be Razed

The Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company hall above will be removed to make way for a new northbound section of U.S. 220 between the Dingle and Amcelle. The state has bought the concrete block building and four lots for $20,000, and the firemen plan to start a new $35,000 two-story brick veneer building, 75 by 35 feet, at a site nearby in the spring. The building is expected to be completed in August. The present U.S. 220 will become one-way southbound to Amcelle.

Disputed Gas Bill Item Termed Error

Common Purchase Clause Copied From 1955 Plan, Driscoll Learns

Del. Fred B. Driscoll has been informed that an item relating to common purchasers of gas was erroneously included in a mimeographed copy of the proposal received recently, and does not appear in the printed copy of the bill which goes into the Legislative Council's report to the General Assembly.

Del. Driscoll immediately contacted the Department of Legislative Reference when a copy of the bill was forwarded to him last week, and has learned the paragraph was included by mistake.

Further clarification was received yesterday in a letter from R. Lee Benson, assistant director of the department.

Benson told Del. Driscoll that Section 648FF as drafted, relates to common purchasers of gas.

Copied By Mistake

"This section," Benson said, "was copied by mistake for Section 45L of Senate Bill 319 (Chapter 613 of 1953). The latter section relates to the power of the Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources to enforce by injunction any violations of proposed gas laws or any rules or regulations promulgated by the Department under these laws.

"The oil and gas bill has been printed to go into the Legislative Council's report to the General Assembly and Section 648FF there appears as the section relating to injunctive relief.

"At no time did the Oil and Gas Committee approve the insertion of any common purchaser provision . . . "

Many ESB Fraud Cases Too Trivial To Prosecute

Doub Says Records Often Inadequate

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29 (AP) — The U. S. Attorney's office said today there were two good reasons why it did not act in 69 of 77 alleged fraud cases involving unemployment compensation.

U. S. Atty. George Cochran Doub said the amounts were either too trivial or the cases could not be prosecuted because of "inadequate" records at the State Department of Employment Security.

Doub's office has responsibility for prosecuting jobless pay fraud cases involving former Federal employes and veterans claiming benefits following military service since they are paid with Federal funds.

Doub said "in many instances" the amount involved was less than $10, less than $20 in others and less than $50 in some.

James N. Phillips, head of the State agency's recoveries section, said, however, three of the cases which the U. S. attorney's office declined to prosecute were taken into State courts where convictions were obtained.

Doub said there were some cases in which the Department made improper payments "in violation of its own procedures." Doub also said restitution has been made in some of the cases mentioned.

Records of the Department of Employment Security showed that the agency had turned evidence of improper payments in 77 cases over to the U. S. attorney's office.

Robert B. Kimble, department head, said lack of prosectuion of Federal cases remains one of the few loopholes needing tightening in the Department's drive against fraud.

Local Marines Are Promoted

During the past month, three members of the Sixth Special Infantry Company, USMCR, have been promoted in rank, according to Major Patsy Algieri, commanding officer of the local unit.

Warrant Officer Everett F. Gibbs, USMCR, of 85 North Davis Street, Keyser, was advanced in rank to commissioned warrant officer.

First Lieutenant John P. Light, now residing in Bedford, Pa., has been appointed from temporary to permanent rank of lieutenant.

A graduate of Fort Hill High School and the University of Maryland, he is teaching in the Bedford High School.

T Sgt. Albert J. Boudreau, USMCR, of LaVale, and a member of the Inspector-Instructor staff of the local company, has been promoted to master-sergeant. He is presently supply chief of the staff.

Yule Cheer Collections Total $5,049

Food Is Provided For 495 Families

A total of $5,049.87 was raised for the Salvation Army's Christmas Cheer program, according to Capt. Daniel Biggs, commander of the Salvation Army Citadel here.

A similar drive last year brought in $4,703.34, he said.

The fund includes $1,408 from kettle collections conducted by the Salvation Army, $198 from unsolicited donations and $387.50 from letter appeals to out-of-town firms and individuals.

The Kettle Drives held by area clubs and service organizations brought in $2,840.45, the wrapping booth in the Post Office, $104.42, and collection boxes placed in business houses, $111.50.

The funds were used to provide 239 food orders in the City of Cumberland and 241 to families living within a 50-mile radius of the city. Twelve food baskets distributed here and three outside the city brought the food order and basket distribution to the 495 mark.

This was 105 less than were needed in 1954.

Sunshine baskets were distributed to the city and county jails Sunday and a similar distribution will be made this Sunday to the county home and infirmary and Sylvan Retreat.

Tax Payments In County Show Mild Spurt

A mild spurt in the payment of county and state property taxes has been experienced this week at the office of Tax Collector J. Wallace Close at the Court House as taxpayers seek to avoid an added interest on their tax bills.

More than $15,000 has been collected in the three working days this week, topped by the $7,000 received Wednesday. Today is the last day the collector's office will be open this year as the long New Year's holiday weekend starts at 4 p. m. Mailed payments postmarked before midnight December 31 will be allowed the lower interest rate.

When the office reopens Tuesday morning the interest rate on 1955 county taxes will advance from two to two-and-one-half per cent and on state taxes from one-and-one-half to two per cent. Some 1954 taxes also are still outstanding, about $25,000 worth all told. On 1954 county taxes the interest rate goes up from eight to eight-and-one half per cent with the start of the new year.

Injured In Fall

Mrs. Janet Darrow, wife of William Darrow, 822 Columbia Avenue, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital late yesterday morning for treatment of a left wrist injury suffered when she fell on the ice while waiting for a bus.

Market Street Bridge Work To Begin Tuesday

Demolition Of 1915 Span Set January 3

Work on the Market Street Bridge across Wills Creek will begin Tuesday morning, according to Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz.

The $176,963 span is to be built by H. D. Case, Inc., of Mt. Airy.

It is the second span to be replaced by the City of Cumberland in connection with the swift channel plan for Wills Creek in connection with the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection program.

An official of the Case firm was here yesterday to complete plans for getting the bridge job under way. It must be completed in 180 working days or by September 1.

Crews will barricade the span Tuesday morning and begin to demolish the structure.

The concrete structure was built in 1915 by the Vang Construction Company and comprises two arches over Wills Creek.

Company officials also conferred yesterday with utilties which have lines crossing the span, to try to work out plans for rerouting the service lines.

Officials said the water and gas lines on the span can be put out of service by rerouting but that special arrangements will have to be made for other utility lines.

The new Valley Street Bridge was placed into service this year and the Corps of Engineers are incorporating plans for the new Baltimore Street Bridge into plans for Section IV of the Wills Creek phase of the flood protection program.

Teamsters Will Elect Trustee In January

Harry May, this city, and Charles E. Little, Bedford, Pa., have been nominated for the post of three-year trustee of Local 453, Teamsters Union (AFL).

The election will be held early in January with balloting at four points.

In Cumberland, polls will be open at the union office on January 3 from noon until 9 p. m. and January 5 from 8 to 10 p. m.

In Somerset, balloting will be in the Eagles building January 4 from 7 to 9 p. m. and January 5 from 1 to 6 p. m.

In Bedford, votes may be cast at the union office on North Juliana Street January 6 from 11 a. m. to 9 p. m. and January 7 from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Westernport area members may vote at the Redmen's hall January 9 from 7 to 9 p. m.

The election is being conducted by a committee including C. E. Stutzman, chairman, Joseph Freno, Harry McFarland, Patrick Fairall and Harry Fisher.

Speakers Named For Youth Rally

The Tri-State Youth For Christ will conduct its final rally for 1955 tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street.

Ray Hansel, student at Bob Jones University and member of First Baptist Church in Eckhart, will be the speaker.

Miss Miriam Culp, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Everett W. Culp, of First Methodist Church, and Miss Sumiko Iha, who is visiting with Miss Culp during the holidays, will sing a duet.

Miss Iha, from Koloa, Territory of Hawaii, is a convert to Christianity from Buddhism. She will tell the account of her conversion at the rally. Both girls are students at Taylor University, Upland, Ind.

Brig. Earl Lord, Baltimore, visiting officer of the Salvation Army, will be the vocal soloist.

New song books, "Singing Youth For Christ," which have been compiled for youth rallies by Youth For Christ International, have recently been purchased here and will be introduced for use tomorrow night, according to Dwight I. Evans, director.

Holiday Carnage Makes Herod Look Like Piker

The National Safety Council reports that more than 600 Americans lost their lives in traffic accidents over the Christmas weekend. It estimates that some 420 more will die the same way during the New Year's weekend period. Here, a famed reporter and columnist asks all of us to take stock of the horrible carnage on America's highways—and to do something to prevent the National Safety Council prediction from coming true.

BY BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 — (INS) — "Then Herod, perceiving that he was deluded by the Wise Men, was exceedingly angry, and sending killed all the male children that were in Bethlehem and in all the borders thereof "Matth. 2. 13-18.

When it comes to the slaughter of the innocents, Herod was a crude amateur compared to the American motorist. Herod's men went by foot or springless chariot, needed many swings of their two-edged swords, probably had to take some punches from outraged relatives of the victims.

Not our slaughterer! He prowls about behind the protective armor of a heavy steel envelope powered by the equivalent of upwards of 150 horses. He doesn't need a second swing with his 20th Century version of a Herod sword. He can wipe out an entire family of Innocents while speeding at a rate which would cause Herod to faint from fright.

The modern Slaughterer goes Herod's troops one better. He generally makes the slaughter complete by killing himself, too.

The grisly death rate of Innocents and Slaughterers exceeded 600 over the Christmas weekend. Death, whose shroud and cackle now are as much a part of the holiday season as Santa and his stomachy chuckle, asks you a question on the brink of the next scheduled Slaughter of the Innocents. With the knowing leer of a TV quiz-master, Death asks:

"Want to try for 700?"

Well, do you? It's the easiest quiz on the air—or on the road. You can get the answer — the grave, disfigurement, lost time and money—by beating a traffic light, taking a long chance to save a short time, taking just one more "for the road," insisting you can drive with a snootful, venturing out on icy roads when you could stay put, driving though inattentive or exhausted, etc, etc, etc, etc.

Here's a far from complete list of experiences the dead of the New Year weekend will miss as victims of a national disease that surpasses in utter horror most of the great maladies:

Eisenhower's decision on whether or not he is going to run . . . The campaigns for the Presidency of the United States . . . The outcome of the great crusade for world peace . . . The 1956 Olympics . . . The baseball races and World Series . . . The true dawn of atomic energy and the advance of the commercial jets . . . The spread of color TV . . . The daily miracle of opening your newspaper and seeing the whole world and what its people are doing spread before you.

And love . . . children . . . church . . . friends . . . fun . . . fame . . . food . . . Jackie Gleason . . . a steak . . . a cold beer . . . a good night's sleep . . .

More Americans were killed for preposterously small reason last weekend than laid down their lives for the United States Navy in the Revolutionary War (342) or the War of 1812 (265) or the Mexican War (1).

Imagine! More people winding up bashed against trees, without cause, than died in the creation of much of our history. John Paul Jones lost fewer men commanding the Bonhomme Richard and beating Britain's Serapis off Flamborough Head, and putting into our heritage the likes of, "Surrender? I haven't even begun to fight!"

Benedict Arnold, of all people, won a navy staying action on Lake Champlain that saved Washington's army. DeGrasse, with Americans aboard, beat Admiral Howe and Graves. Cornwallis had to give up at Yorktown. Arnold and DeGrasse suffered fewer casualties than the New Jersey Turnpike.

In the War of 1812 the Constitution, then the United States, then the Constitution again whipped the Guerrier, Macedonia and Java in vital battles. Freeways cost us more in 24 hours. When Lawrence was wounded aboard the Chesapeake and was being taken to Halifax aboard the Shannon, in his delirium he repeated, "Don't give up the ship!" But modern Americans give up more than that.

Perry's victory on Lake Erie drove the British from the Detroit area, ended the chances of an Indian state under British patronage. MacDonough's triumphs over Sir George Prevost, achieved at a cost of perhaps an hour's U. S. auto travel New Year's Eve, more or less created the Canadian border as we know it today.

Organist! Play "Adeste Fidelis" for those now living who'll never know another Christmas.
